WIRT CENTER OF NEW CONFLICTS IN BOTH HOUSES

McGugin Gagged in Defense Speech.

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.

Washington, D. C., April 12.—[Special.]—Dr. W. A. Wirt continued the center of undiminished conflict today as the debate on the Roosevelt brain trust raged on and on in both houses of congress.

In the house Representative Harold C. McGugin [Rep., Kas.] was refused the floor when he rose to defend the Indiana schoolmaster against a false charge that Dr. Wirt had been imprisoned for sedition during the world war.

Outwitting the Democrats who imposed the "gag" on him, Mr. McGugin wrote out a speech, took it to Senator Lester J. Dickinson [Rep., Ia.], who immediately inserted it in the Congressional Record, where all may read it tomorrow morning.

Reed Seeks Retraction.

Former Senator James A. Reed of Missouri, noted Democratic foe of the New Deal, who has seconded Dr. Wirt as his counsel, tried to serve a demand for a retraction of the pro-German charge from its author, Representative Alfred L. Bulwinkle [Dem., N. C.]. But Mr. Bulwinkle was back home fixing his political fences.

Meanwhile reprisals were taken by administration leaders against the leading opponents of the brain trust. Secretary Ickes accused Dr. Wirt of seeking to obtain some of the "revolutionary money" of the public works fund for a "Fairyland" project in the Indiana dunes by which Dr. Wirt was to sell 2,000 front feet of dune land along Lake Michigan at $50 a foot, a total sale price of $100,000.

The project was disapproved by the public works administration as "visionary and impractical," Mr. Ickes said.

Dr. Wirt late tonight issued a denial of Secretary Ickes' tale, explaining that he had no connection with the proposed project and that the company with which he was connected had held the land in question for 12 years to preserve it for park purposes. Those close to Dr. Wirt called Secretary Ickes' statement a mischievous misrepresentation.

New Attack on McGugin.

But a more serious dart was aimed, without effect, at Congressman McGugin. It was learned that the department of justice sought to revive a five year old matter in which McGugin appeared as a lawyer.

The interest of the justice department was stirred after the Kansas Republican had made several spirited speeches in the house attacking the schemes and ideas of Prof. Rexford Guy Tugwell, assistant secretary of agriculture and No. 1 man of the brain trust.

Mr. McGugin, it appears, was attorney for Anna Laura Barnett, wife of the fabulously wealthy but illiterate Indian, Jackson Barnett, a ward of the government. Mrs. Barnett, with McGugin as her attorney, in 1922, obtained the fingerprint of Barnett upon an application to the interior department by which she received $550,000 in government bonds and the American Baptist Home Mission society received an identical sum in bonds.

For his services as attorney McGugin obtained bonds in the sum of $150,000, of which he gave $15,000 to Marshall L. Mott.

Society Gives Bonds Back.

The government commenced civil recovery suits against Mrs. Barnett, McGugin, and the Mission society and the society has been compelled to return its bonds to the government. The other suits, including that against McGugin, are still untried.

After making a full investigation for the department of justice five years ago, Pierce Butler Jr., then special assistant to the attorney general, reported that "the facts submitted to me do not warrant any criminal prosecution."

Recently, however, and after the McGugin attacks on Prof. Tugwell, a review of the facts was ordered by Attorney General Cummings to determine whether the prosecution might not be revived. The report then was made that if there was any criminal liability it had been dissolved by the statute of limitations.

Reed Assails Bulwinkle.

The letter sent by former Senator Reed to Congressman Bulwinkle declared that the latter's charge of pro-Germanism against Dr. Wirt was "without the slightest foundation."

"This you could easily have learned," Senator Reed wrote, "by a simple inquiry from Dr. Wirt himself, or from

JOSHES POLICE; TO SAIL FROM SMYRNA TODAY

Dines with Former Chicago U. Girl.

PANDERMA, Turkey, April 13 (Friday).—(AP)—Samuel Insull arrived here at 3 a. m. today on the steamer Adana to board a train for Smyrna, where he will be formally extradited and placed aboard the steamer Exilona, which is scheduled to sail for the United States this evening.

At 6:30 a. m. he was placed aboard a train for his destination on the shore of the Ægean sea, where he will be turned over to Burton Y. Berry, third secretary of the United States embassy, aboard the Exilona.

In Excellent Spirits.

Insull was asleep in his cabin when the Adana reached here. His train was due to reach Smyrna at 8:30 o'clock tonight.

He was in excellent spirits on the voyage along the Asiatic coast and into the Sea of Marmora to Panderma, presiding at the dinner table and chatting three hours over his coffee with nine of the Adana's eleven other first class passengers.

Of these, young Miss Feriha, former Turkish student at the University of Chicago, sat on Insull's right. Others present were seven Turkish police agents and newspaper men.

Insull seemed glad to have company at his meal. He ate heartily.

"I'm Harmless," He Says.

"It is remarkable that I should need an escort of seven persons," he said, smiling at the Turkish police commissioner, Nail Bey. "I am perfectly harmless."

He refused to discuss his case, preferring the lighter topics over which the dinner table ranged.

When asked why he came to Istanbul, however, he said, smiling again: "I'm beginning to wonder myself."

BEGINS TRIP HOME

BY EUGENE SPECK.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ISTANBUL, April 12.—Samuel Insull, former Chicago utilities magnate, began his unwilling return trip to the United States tonight—a voyage which will bring the 74 year old fugitive to Chicago to stand trial on criminal charges.

For ten days Insull had been in "durance vile" in the Istanbul House of Detention pending enforcement of the extradition order issued Monday, April 2, by the Turkish government.

Early this evening the prisoner was taken from his barred room in the jail by Nail Bey, head of the Turkish secret police, and a group of police officers. Within an hour he was put aboard the steamer Adana.

Passes Trotzky's Exile Home.

With its No. 1 passenger aboard, the Adana began its trip to Panderma, a small port serving the province of Smyrna, at 7 p. m. An hour later the steamer passed the Prinkipo ilands, Leon Trotzky's exile home.

Then the vessel pushed into the Sea of Marmora. After stopping at Panderma early tomorrow Insull will take a train for Smyrna, where he will be placed aboard the American Export line steamer Exilona tomorrow evening.

The Exilona will not tie up at Smyrna. The ship will remain at anchor in the bay with steam up, prepared to depart as soon as Insull is aboard. The voyage to the United States is expected to last about three weeks.

Gets Better Accommodations.

The Exilona will have much better accommodations than Insull's former floating haven, the Greek tramp ship Maiotis, afforded him on his flight from Greece and his subsequent wanderings on the high seas.

Besides having room for 35 passengers, the vessel is equipped with an outdoor swimming pool and a sport deck. Capt. Wenzel Habel, a former lieutenant commander in the United States naval reserve, is in command of the ship.

Insull's last hope to avoid extradition was dashed early this afternoon by the Court of Cassation at Eski Sheri. His two Turkish lawyers, Alexander Mago and Essat Bey, had appealed against the decision of the Third Criminal court that he was extraditable on charges of fraud. It was on this decision the Turkish gov-

LINK DILLINGER TO NEW RAID ON POLICE STATION

Warsaw, Ind., April 13 (4 a. m.)—[Special.]—Two machine gunners, one believed to have been John Dillinger, nationally hunted desperado, raided the police station here at 1 o'clock this morning and escaped with two revolvers and four bullet proof vests.

Night Policeman Jud Pittenger, who was captured and beaten by the hoodlums, said he was positive that one of them was Dillinger.

Pittenger was patroling his beat in the uptown district when the gunmen pounced upon him. One slugged him on the head and disarmed him. Then they made Pittenger take them to the police station, which is on the second floor of the town hall above the fire station. There they compelled him to open the gun case, from which they took the revolver and the bullet proof vests. All this time Policeman Pittenger was able to look at the two men to see that one resembled Dillinger and that both carried machine guns.

As the hoodlums were examing the vests Pittenger broke away and ran through the council chambers and down the stairs. The hoodlums chased him, but after being distanced jumped into a big black sedan waiting outside and fled.

ACTRESS GETS $5,000 IN LOVE SUIT ON BROWN

Los Angeles, Cal., April 12.—[Special.]—A jury of 7 women and 5 men in Superior Judge Arthur Keech's court tonight returned a verdict granting Marjorie Gay [Marjorie Whitels] a $5,000 judgment against Harry Joe Brown, movie producer-director and husband of Sally Eilers.

Miss Gay, who is a brunette "bits" player in the movies, sued Brown for $150,000, asserting he jilted her to marry Sally.

The jury verdict in Miss Gay's favor was reached by a nine to three ballot, which is permissible in breach of promise cases under California law.

Miss Gay was in tears as she received the jury decision.

"I didn't want money," she said, "I wanted the vindication."

The jurors had stood at 7 to 5 for several hours, with sums ranging from $5,000 to $25,000 suggested during the deliberations.

Batavia, N. Y., April 12.—(AP)—Dr. Clarence True Wilson, executive secretary of the Methodist board of temperance, prohibition and public morals, was confined to his hotel room here today after a slight heart attack last night. He was stricken after making an address. He is not seriously ill.

Detroit Auto Parts Workers Vote to Strike

Detroit, Mich., April 12.—(AP)—A strike of tool and die workers in a majority of Detroit's 62 job plants, which had been threatened for several days, was called tonight by the Mechanics' Educational Society of America, the tool and die workers' organization. It became effective at midnight.

A general strike in the 62 job plants of Detroit was avoided through negotiation of separate agreements with 17 plants. These firms employ about 1,200 tool and die workers, and their continuance at their jobs reduces the number originally scheduled for a walkout by at least 3,800.

Extent of Strike Not Yet Known.

Ratification of the strike vote was made at a meeting of the tool and die workers held in Deutsche hall. The extent of the strike in the job shops that had not reached separate agreements with the tool and die men was not immediately announced.

Matthew J. Smith, general secretary of the organization, said earlier in the day that all the shops not making agreements would be subject to the strike.

The Automotive Tool and Die Manufacturers' association, an organization embracing all the 62 shops, had refused to enter into a general agreement that the tool and die workers be granted a 20 per cent wage increase and a 36 hour week.

Other Dissatisfaction Grows.

Under the surface in the negotiations that have been in progress since the creation of the automobile labor tribunal to avert strikes in the industry have been recurring rumors of labor dissatisfaction with the settlement plan thus effected. These rumors were climaxed today with the announcement that the Pontiac locals of the United Automobile Workers, A. F. of L. affiliate, had presented new demands.

At the same time it was stated a general meeting of union labor representatives from Detroit, Pontiac, Flint, Saginaw, Lansing, and Cleveland and possibly Toledo and Akron, O., would be held in Pontiac next Sunday. William Collins, chief A. F. of L. organizer in the automobile industry, minimized the importance of the Pontiac meeting, saying it was merely a "regular council" conference. He added that he knew nothing of any impending "strike action" at that meeting.

Rumors that the tense situation in the automotive industry again had been presented by letter to President Roosevelt were current today, but members of the labor tribunal would not discuss them.

The new demands formulated by the five Pontiac locals include a 30 hour 5 day week, with time and a half for overtime; no Saturday, Sunday, or holiday work excepting in emergencies; women and men workers to receive the same wage for similar work and a minimum of 60 cents an hour for unskilled labor. The automotive labor code fixed a minimum varying from 40 to 43 cents an hour.

St. Louis Auto Men Vote Strike.

St. Louis, Mo., April 12.—(AP)—Authority to call a strike at the St. Louis Chevrolet and Fisher Body plants was voted the executive committee of the Federated Automobile Workers of America at a meeting of workers tonight.

Estate Levy Approved by Senate Vote

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., April 12.—[Special.]—The senate took another resounding wallop at the plaintive taxpayer today when it passed the La Follette estate taxes amendment to the revenue bill which adds between 90 million dollars and 100 millions to the country's tax load.

Nearly a half billion dollars in addition to last year's tax bill has thus been written into the bill by the senate, which will probably end its lengthy bickering on the measure tomorrow. It then goes into conference between senate and house committees, where differences will be ironed out.

In a final plea for his amendment, Senator Robert M. La Follette [Rad., Wis.] warned that this additional revenue was needed to meet the extraordinary expenditures of the government and calmly predicted that such expenditures would increase in the future rather than diminish.

Starts at $40,000.

The amendment puts a tax of 1 per cent on estates of $40,000. This percentage is increased rapidly until 60 per cent is levied by the government upon estates of $10,000,000 and more. Under the present law estates up to $50,000 are exempted from the tax.

"Estate taxes in Great Britain are even greater than these proposed taxes," Senator La Follette said in defending charges that these taxes might be considered confiscatory.

"Won't this law practically exhaust an estate in those states which levy inheritance taxes in addition to the governmental tax?" inquired Senator James Hamilton Lewis [Dem., Ill].

The Wisconsin senator replied that he did "not think so." He asserted that inheritance taxes were low in most states.

Senator Pat Harrison [Dem., Mass.] then announced that he had no objection to the amendment and would vote for it. Following upon this assertion the senate speedily indicated its approval of the tax by a vote of 65 to 14. Senator Lewis of Illinois voted in the affirmative and announced that his colleague, Senator William H. Dieterich [Dem., Ill.], would also have voted for the tax if he had been present.

Another Victory Won.

Encouraged by this victory, the radical bloc in the senate, led by Senators La Follette, William E. Borah [Rad., Idaho], and George W. Norris [Rad., Neb.], launched an equally successful attack upon a clause in the revenue bill which allowed holding companies to file consolidated income tax returns instead of individual returns for each corporation.

It was estimated that elimination of this clause adds another $200,000,000 to the revenue bill by forcing every corporation in a holding company to file a separate return upon which it will be taxed 1 per cent.

Senator Harrison pleaded with the senate not to strike out this clause.

"We have gone farther than ever in dealing with holding companies," he pointed out. "In addition to the 13¾ per cent corporation tax we have raised from 1 to 2 per cent the penalty tax upon consolidated returns, thus making a total of 15¾ per cent tax upon such returns.

"In certain cases such returns are a necessity, as in the case of railroads which may be forced by state laws to incorporate in every state which they touch."

Couzens Joins in Attack.

Senator James Couzens [Rep., Mich.], still jubilant over his success of yesterday, when he led the fight to add a flat 10 per cent increase to all income taxes, joined with Senators Borah and Norris in the fight upon the clause, terming it "vicious."

There developed one of those rousing oratorical contests which the senate loves so dearly. Senator Norris spoke at length about Samuel Insull and Ivar Kreuger, "those parasites

ROOSEVELT GETS OUTLINE OF NEW RECOVERY DRIVE

Due Back in White House Today.

Band at Station

Every senator was invited by the Democrats yesterday to assemble at the railway station this morning for President Roosevelt's arrival back in Washington. Members of the lower house also planned to attend the "welcome home" ceremonies. A brass band was to take part in the parade.

(Picture on Back Page.)

On Board the Roosevelt Special, en Route to Washington, D. C., April 12.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt, deeply tanned and hardened by 15 days at sea, laid aside his fishing rods today to take up the cudgels for his recovery program.

After leaving his vacation yacht, the Nourmahal, and boarding his special train at Miami at 9:30 a. m., he paused only long enough to tell newspaper correspondents that he had had a "wonderful time." He then went to work, starting with a series of conferences on the recovery program with Gen. Johnson and Donald R. Richberg, general counsel for the NRA.

At the same time he laid plans for a drive to push through the remainder of the administration legislative program and obtain a reasonably quick adjournment of congress.

Changes in Plan Foreseen.

It was intimated in informed quarters that Gen. Johnson and Mr. Richberg had met the President at Miami for a much more important reason than to discuss conditions. The reason was said to be a report, prepared by Mr. Richberg, and with contents held highly confidential, dealing with basic changes in a proposed long range recovery program.

The report was believed to involve new definitions, within the present structure of the recovery act, of the responsibilities of industry and labor under the codes.

It is known to have the enthusiastic approval of Gen. Johnson. President Roosevelt withheld comment, even from his associates, pending a further study.

In talking with newspaper men the President appeared optimistic about the general legislative situation, remarking that about the only major legislation still to be initiated was the large appropriation measure necessary to finance the relief and recovery program in the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Set 2 Billions as Needed.

This is expected to carry about 2 billion dollars, including funds for direct relief, for the continuance of aid to states and cities in work relief programs for public buildings, and for possible additional advances to the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

The President was uncertain whether additional taxes would have to be levied to meet the cost of the veterans' benefits voted by congress over his veto.

He declined to discuss the Fletcher-Rayburn stock exchange control bill before reviewing changes made in the measure during his absence.

When asked about possible amendment of the securities act, Mr. Roosevelt said he still favored a suggestion made a month ago by the federal trade commission to amend it by limiting the liability of a house underwriting a securities issue to the proportion of the issue participated in by that firm.

Undecided on Licensing.

The President is reported to have told Gen. Johnson that his mind is still open on the question of asking congress to continue the licensing provisions of the recovery act, an unused authority, beyond the expiration date of June 16. Gen. Johnson considers an extension unnecessary.

President Roosevelt is said to have agreed with Gen. Johnson's approval of the general features of the Wagner bill to set up a permanent national labor board.

The President showed no concern at passing through Miami, where slightly more than a year ago an attempt was made on his life by Giuseppe Zangara. The assassin, since hanged, fired five bullets at him and fatally wounded Mayor Cermak of Chicago.

Mr. Roosevelt rode smilingly in an open car between lanes of cheering people. Mayor Sewell rode with the President, as did James Roosevelt, son of the executive.

The President showed a vigor and high spirits not seen since the early months of his administration.

The train stopped for twenty minutes at Jacksonville, where Gov. Sholtz came aboard to tell the President good-by, and remind Mr. Roosevelt again of Florida's desire to obtain federal aid in building a trans-Florida canal.

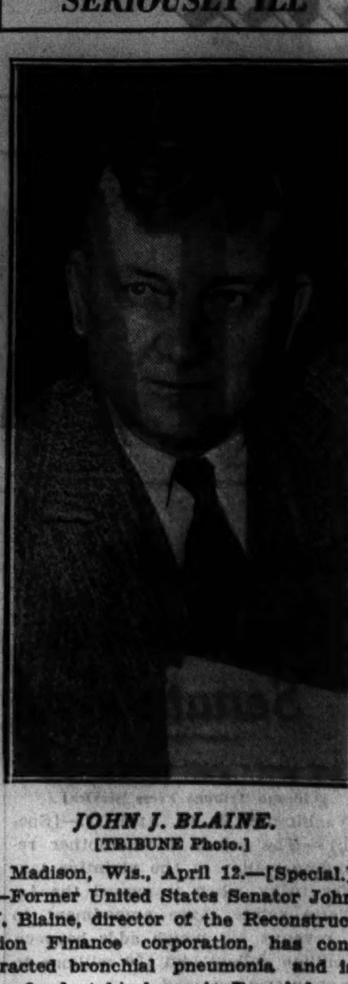
Lives of Aids Periled.

Members of a party of national figures escaped death by a narrow margin at Miami on their way to greet the President.

A combination automobile trailer carrying Gen. Johnson, Donald Richberg, Marvin McIntyre, secretary to the President, and several newspaper correspondents and their wives, missed by inches being run down by a train as the party was en route to the docks.

A police escort darted across the railroad track in a residential district and the driver of the automobile pulling the party followed, despite the shriek of the locomotive's whistle. The trailer just managed to clear the tracks in time.

SERIOUSLY ILL



JOHN J. BLAINE.
[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Madison, Wis., April 12.—[Special.]—Former United States Senator John J. Blaine, director of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, has contracted bronchial pneumonia and is confined at his home in Boscobel, according to word received here today. His condition was reported to be serious.

A Madison specialist has been called into consultation and oxygen tanks were sent to Boscobel from Madison to be used if necessary. According to latest reports, the patient's condition today showed some improvement.

Mr. Blaine arrived in Madison from Washington last Saturday with John McKee, chief examiner for the corporation, to confer with Wisconsin and Minnesota corporation and banking officials. He was suffering from a cold before he decided to visit his home in Boscobel.

Mr. Blaine was a member of the United States senate from 1927 to 1933, after he served three terms as governor of Wisconsin and one term as attorney general. Previously he served two terms in the state senate. He is 59 years old.

CONGRESSMEN TO PARADE

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., April 12.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt will return tomorrow from a holiday of more than two weeks to face a considerable altered posture of affairs, including a congress that shows signs of getting out of hand. The Democrats who have been kicking over the traces since the President departed and are planning further demonstrations of independence of the executive made elaborate preparations today to give Mr. Roosevelt an acclamatory and affectionate welcome home.

The program calls for the assembling of congress at the Union station at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning when the President's train steams in. All of the senators—96 of them—have been asked to be at the station.

Why No Republicans? Asks Borah.

The program grew as the day wore on. When the senate met, Senator Tom Connally [Dem., Tex.] announced that a committee consisting of himself, Majority Leader Joseph T. Robinson [Dem., Ark.], Senator Augustine Lonergan [Dem., Conn.], and Senator Louis Murphy [Dem., Ia.] had been appointed to welcome the President at the station on behalf of the senate.

Senator William E. Borah [Rad. Rep., Idaho] inquired with a facetiousness that was lost on the Democrats, why no Republican had been placed on the committee. Senator Pat Harrison [Dem., Miss.] assured Mr. Borah that no discourtesy was intended and Senator Connally said that if anybody's feeling had been hurt it was just too bad.

Senator Lewis Explains.

Senator James Hamilton Lewis [Dem., Ill.] explained that the committee had been appointed in order to make sure that some senators would be at the station. Then taking Mr. Borah at his word and going him one better the Democratic leaders had the sergeant-at-arms notify every senator, whether a Democrat or Republican, to be at the station at 10 a. m.

The house Democrats organized a parade and invited the senate to fall in. They are to march to the station behind either the marine band or the army band or both. Majority Whip Arthur H. Greenwood [Dem., Ind.] sent a letter to every member of the house inviting him to participate. He said that the parade would form at the house wing at 9:15 a. m. and that senators would fall in when the column passes the senate.

Veto Foes Active.

Particularly active in organizing the welcome to the President were many Democratic members who voted to override Mr. Roosevelt's veto of the restoration of veteran's compensation and government pay [including their own] and who otherwise have laid themselves open to the charge of disloyalty to the President.

The President will be welcomed home by an aggregation of Democrats who not only threw his veto into the ash can but have been busy ever since hacking at legislation he has sponsored or putting forward measures on which he frowns. He will find that the senate banking and currency committee has extracted some of the most prominent and dangerous of those teeth he insisted should be put into the bill to regulate stock exchanges. He will find that the brain trust has yielded to demands of mining companies that the securities act be modified to make less hazardous the issuance of mining stocks.

Strategy Saves President.

Mr. Roosevelt will find that only by the exercise of an unusual parliamentary maneuver were his leaders in the house able today to avoid being forced into consideration of a measure on which he is understood to look with disfavor. This was the so-called McLeod bill, authorizing the RFC to take over the assets of closed national banks and pay off depositors in full.

Sentiment in support of the measure has spread alarmingly among the house membership in the last two days and early today there were 141 of the required 145 signatures on a discharge petition to force the measure to a vote on the floor. With the necessary four additional signatures certain to be affixed to the document, the leadership directed the banking and currency committee to report the measure out—an action which forestalls the discharge petition by putting the bill on the regular calendar.

Report Out Wrong Bill.

Democratic leaders were literally frantic as member after member signed the discharge petition. On the floor of the house they debated a change in the discharge rule to require that 218 names instead of 145 would be needed to make a petition effective. So great was the commotion that the banking and currency committee made a mistake and first reported out the wrong McLeod bill. The error was caught in time and the right measure was reported out late this afternoon

To pay off the depositors in all defunct reserve system member banks to which the McLeod bill is confined, would cost the treasury upwards of one billion dollars. When the bill comes up amendments will be offered to extend its scope to all closed banks, which would bring the cost up to four billions.

Silver Issue to Fore.

The President also will find that the silver lobby has broken loose with an omnibus silver and inflation bill, which has been reported favorably and unanimously by the senate committee on agriculture, despite Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau's recent assertion that there is no need of further monetary legislation at this time and that "it is a good time to sit tight." It is going to be no easy matter for the President to avert passage of this bill, the essential provisions of which are the following:

1. Nationalization of all domestic silver at a price to be fixed by the secretary of the treasury on the day preceding the issue of a proclamation that the law is in effect.
2. Authorizes the secretary of the treasury to enter the world market after Jan. 1, 1935, and begin the purchase of bullion with silver certificates. His purchases are limited to not less than 50,000,000 ounces per month.
3. The domestic silver purchased shall be made the basis of silver certificates.

The purchase of silver is to cease:

1. When commodity prices reach the 1926 price levels, or
2. When silver has reached $1.29 an ounce, placing it on a parity with gold.

Purchase would be resumed if the general price falls later to 97 per cent of the 1926 level or if 371.25 grains of silver falls to 97 cents as measured in gold.

EX-SECRETARY TO ROOSEVELT OWES RACKETEER

Notes Are Discovered in Slain Man's Papers.

New York, April 12.—[Special.]—The name of Guernsey T. Cross, secretary to President Franklin D. Roosevelt while he was governor of New York state, figured tonight in the appraisal of the estate of Max Greenberg, slain racketeer, who was reputed to have been the "brains" behind the Waxey Gordon beer gang in New Jersey.

Among Greenberg's assets were twenty-five notes for $250 each, made on October 1, 1931, by Cross, and payable monthly. Greenberg was killed in the Carteret hotel at Elizabeth, N. J., on April 12, 1933.

Widow Offers No Explanation.

Mrs. Greenberg, the widow, could give no explanation of the Cross notes. She said in an affidavit that she had valued the notes at only $500, because she had received nothing in payment until last January, when a firm of Washington attorneys collected $200. She said it was "very conjectural" whether any more ever would be paid on the notes, but the appraisers valued them at face value.

Mr. Cross is now in Washington, a member of the legal staff of the Reconstruction Finance corporation. Before becoming secretary to Gov. Roosevelt in 1929, Mr. Cross had served several terms in the New York state legislature and was a prominent "dry Democrat."

Nothing was known of his dealings with Greenberg, a trafficker in illegal liquor, until the estate was appraised today.

"Purely Personal" Matter.

In Washington Mr. Cross explained that the notes composed a "purely personal business proposition" negotiated for him by a friend and he did not know Greenburg was furnishing the money until the arrangements had been completed. He said he never knew or saw Greenburg. He gave the details as follows:

When he left private law practice in Callicon, N. Y., to become Gov. Roosevelt's secretary most of his assets were in uncollected fees and collections were slow. He thought he would borrow the money to meet his bills and then repay it as his fee collections came in.

He put the problem up to a Dr. Meyer of Callicon, one of his friends, who referred him to Herman Paul of New York, a mutual acquaintance. Paul said he could get Cross the money and eventually brought it to him with the 25 notes made out to Greenburg. Cross said he thinks about a third of the notes are paid.

Norman Paul was not located tonight in New York, but newspaper clippings revealed that on Sept. 19, 1921, ten days before the loan of the $6,250 to Cross, that Norman Paul was arrested in New York on a Baltimore indictment. Paul was accused with others of conspiracy to use lacquer thinner as a base for an alcoholic beverage. At the time Paul was employed by the Glidden company of Cleveland, manufacturers of varnishes. He refused to waive extradition to Maryland and was held in $7,500 bail for a hearing on Oct. 16. Clippings do not reveal the ultimate outcome of the case.

Was Fully Pardoned.

Police records show that Max Greenberg was sentenced in St. Louis in 1915 to serve four years in Leavenworth prison for arson and larceny. He was "later fully pardoned by President Wilson and his record was removed from the St. Louis files."

Greenberg's estate amounted to $267,115, including two $100,000 and one $50,000 insurance policy. His slaying and the killing of Max Hassel a year ago was ascribed to rival beer gangs, but it later figured in the trial of Irving Wexler, known as Waxey Gordon, for income tax fraud. It then was intimated that Greenberg and Hassel had been "put away" to prevent them from testifying at Gordon's trial. Gordon, however, was convicted and is now in federal prison at Lewisburg, Pa.

Movie Director Swats Two Chorus Girls; They Get Candy

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Hollywood, Cal., April 12.—[Special.]—Mitchell Leisen, motion picture director of "Murder at the Vanities," struck two of the chorus girls, Jeanette Dixon and Katherine Hanton, at 4 a. m. yesterday. Today Leisen sent the girls boxes of candy and "sincere apologies," which the girls said were needless "because we weren't sore; we took the matter in fun until we saw that Mr. Leisen was serious."

The smacking took place immediately after the shooting of the closing scene in the movie when 65 chorus girls who had been used in closing dance scenes rushed Mr. Leisen and the dance director, Larry Ceballos.

Start Free-for-All.

The girls intended to take part in a good natured physical free-for-all, which has come to be something of a Hollywood custom at the end of the last scene in protracted chorus work. A similar free-for-all had taken place at 4 p. m. Wednesday when the girls, who had been rehersing their closing dance all Wednesday afternoon, were tendered a joint supper in the studio café and each of the 65 girls found a bouquet from the director at her plate.

When they rushed Ceballos, Leisen, and the assistant director at that time the girls pulled off the men's neckties and tried to print as much lipstick as possible over the men's faces and collars.

Worker Tells Story.

One of the studio workers who was at the second fracas, but who asked that his name not be used for fear he might be fired from his movie job, said:

"It looked as though some of the girls were trying to tear the shirts and trousers off the men when Leisen said 'That's all girls; you're all dismissed for good.'"

On conclusion of a previous picture at the studio chorus girls mobbed Jim Oviatt, assistant director, and partly unclothed him as a joke.

"I Was Tired," Says Leisen.

"I was tired from working all day on the picture and felt physically exhausted and didn't want to go through another big brawl," Leisen said today.

"I tried to push the girls away from me, but they kept crushing around me and I guess I pushed some of them harder than I realized when I smacked them. I'm sorry and I have apologized to the girls and they assured me they took no offense."

Council Favors Bill to Pay Banks' Depositors

The city council went on record yesterday as favoring the immediate passage by congress of the McLeod bill, which provides for the paying of depositors in closed banks with federal funds.

BAULER'S TRIAL AGAIN DELAYED; HUNT WITNESS

Courtney Blames Defense for His Absence.

The trial of Ald. Mathias [Paddy] Bauler of the 43d ward on charges of assault to kill was continued again yesterday by Judge Donald S. McKinlay in the Criminal court when the state's chief witness, Policeman John J. Ahearn, failed to appear. Ahearn was wounded by Ald. Bauler during a shooting affray in front of the latter's tavern at 343 West North avenue at Christmas time, and this is the major part of the indictment against Bauler.

Assistant State's Attorney Emmet Moynihan charged the defense with paying Ahearn's hospital bills and intimated that perhaps this was the reason for the policeman's failure to appear. Defense Attorney John K. Murphy hotly denied this and moved for a dismissal of the charges for want of prosecution.

Case Set for 2 p. m.

Earlier in the day both sides had declared they were prepared to proceed and the case was set for 2 p. m. Meanwhile Prosecutor Moynihan learned of Ahearn's absence and immediately went into conference with State's Attorney Courtney. The latter assigned Capt. Daniel Gilbert, his chief investigator, to the task of finding the witness, although Ahearn was reported to be in Hot Springs, Ark.

"We'll find him and he'll prosecute," Mr. Courtney declared, "or I'll know the reason why. We understand his hospital bills were paid by the defense."

At 2 o'clock Prosecutor Moynihan stepped to the bench and announced that, reluctantly, the state had to ask for a continuance because of Ahearn's failure to appear. He then made in open court the charge that the defense had borne the policeman's hospital expense.

"Perhaps they know where he is," he commented. "However, we will do our best to find him."

Defense Attorney Murphy objected to the continuance as unfair to his client. Several continuances have been obtained, he declared, and no preliminary hearing at which the defense might tell its side of the story has been held.

Judge Favors Investigation.

"If the state's statement concerning payment of the hospital bills is true," Judge McKinlay said, "it should be looked into. In some cases, such as automobile injuries, it is all right for the defendant to pay the hospital bills. However, if this is done with the intention of keeping a complaining witness away from court it is a serious matter and should be investigated. It might even be construed as contempt of court.

"The last continuance in this case was granted at the request of the defense. The defendant at that time was in the midst of a political campaign and a continuance was granted so that charges of 'politics' could not be made. I believe the state is entitled to a continuance."

Sets Case for April 30.

The case was first continued until April 23, but Attorney Murphy demanded a month's delay, saying his client desired to take a trip. The state insisted on a two weeks' continuance in which to find the missing policeman, so the judge finally compromised on April 30.

Ald. Bauler appeared in a jubilant mood. His pudgy form was clothed in a brilliant ensemble of gray and green. Various political cronies, including County Commissioner Charles H. Weber, accompanied him. On Tuesday Bauler was elected Democratic committeeman of the 43d ward on the basis of unofficial returns.

CITY AND STATE WILL CELEBRATE ARBOR DAY TODAY

In accordance with a proclamation by Gov. Horner, Arbor and Bird day will be observed today in the classrooms of the public schools, by women's clubs and other groups interested in preserving plant and bird life.

While not a legal holiday, the day is fixed each year by governor's proclamation. Gov. Horner's proclamation called upon the public to "take renewed interest in nature's gifts of plants, trees, and shrubs for the protection of native birds."

One of the events of this year's observance will be an open air arbor day program tonight on the grounds of Olivet institute, 1441 Cleveland avenue. More than 1,000 young trees will be given to families in the neighborhood of the settlement. There will also be a band concert and speeches. Various schools, garden clubs, and women's civic organizations are planning tree planting ceremonies.

SOPHIE TUCKER'S SECRET DIVORCE HERE REVEALED

Sophie Tucker, the comedienne and "blues singer," was granted a secret divorce in Chicago last September from her third husband, Abe Lackerman, New York dress merchant, it was revealed yesterday.

Sophie appeared before Judge Rudolph Desort Sept. 25, and testified that Lackerman had abused and struck her because she refused to give him money. She related the necessary two incidents of cruelty, said she didn't want any alimony, and got the decree.

Sophie was divorced from her first husband, Louis Tuck, in 1913, and from her second husband, Frank C. Westphal, in 1920.

ARCHER AVENUE LINE EXTENSION ORDERED BY I. C. C.

The Illinois commerce commission yesterday ordered the Chicago Surface lines to extend its service by means of trolley buses along Archer avenue from Cicero avenue to Harlem avenue, a distance of three miles. At the same time the commission directed the Chicago and Joliet Electric Railway company to discontinue its service on the same stretch by May 15.

The area involved lies within the city limits near the village of Summit. The feeder bus extension, however, will be dependent upon authorization of the necessary expenditure for the buses and trolley wires by Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson, in whose court the street car company is in receivership.

It was estimated that it will cost almost $60,000 to put the buses into service and $45,000 a year to operate them. The action before the commission had been pushed by Ald. John E. Egan of the Thirteenth ward.

HENRY FORD AND WIFE OBSERVE WEDDING DAY

Detroit, Mich., April 12.—(AP)—Henry Ford observed his 46th wedding anniversary today—a day late but not because he had "forgotten."

Instead he had made his plans for observing the occasion today by arising early to participate in the services at the chapel of his Greenfield village school, attended by 100 children.

"There wasn't any particular form about it," Ford said today in commenting on how he spent his anniversary. "I just got home early to dinner, that's all, and I generally do that, you know."

Clara Bryant Ford was born on a farm adjoining one owned by Henry Ford's father. One of seven children, she was 18 when she first met Henry Ford.

STRIKE PICKETS HALT DELIVERIES TO THREE HOTELS

Four Arrests Made After Walkout.

Six hundred residents of the Parkway, Webster, and Belden-Stratford hotels, situated respectively, at 2100, 2150 and 2300 Lincoln Park West, may be without heat, electric lights or restaurant service today because of a strike of employés of the hotels.

Bus boys, waiters and cooks, numbering 125 in all, walked out on Wednesday evening after charging that hotel managements were violating the terms of the National Recovery act and the hotel code. Engineers, firemen, window washers, and electricians are scheduled to strike today in sympathy with the other workers, union officials said last night.

All day yesterday pickets were active near the hotels and three of these were arrested by the police and charged with disorderly conduct when the hotel officials complained of their presence. R. P. Murray, an executive of the Parkway hotel, was arrested on charges by the strikers that he had struck a picket and was released on a $25 bond. All of those arrested will be araigned today in the East Chicago avenue police court.

Pickets Prevent Deliveries.

Max Caldwell, business agent of the Chicago Waiters' alliance, asserted last evening that his men had prevented all deliveries of food, laundry, coal, or milk to the hotels during the day. He said his pickets would continue the embargo for the duration of the strike.

J. C. Venable, manager of all three hotels, which have been in receivership since 1928, asserted that the strike had not interefered with the proper running of his establishments. Admitting that no deliveries of food had been made yesterday, he said the hotels' larders were supplied with food to last nearly a week. He said that the hotels all do their own laundry and had enough coal to last until summer.

"Our dining rooms are all open tonight," he said. "The food was cooked by temporary help hastily hired, and served by the other hotel employés who still are working."

NRA Board to Seek Peace.

Efforts to halt the strike by arbitration are to be made today by Chicago NRA arbiters. Both the hotel and the union authorities have appealed to the Chicago hotel code authority. The waiters and kitchen helpers charge that they are being paid only $45 a month, while the code fixes minimum wages at $60 a month. The hotel executives charge that the union employés have demanded the discharge of all nonunion workers and their replacement with union members. They deny that they have violated the code provisions concerning wages.

Sue U. S. Grant Jr.'s Estate for $3,823 Income Taxes

Los Angeles, Cal., April 12.—[Special.]—J. P. McEvoy, humorous writer of Chicago, New York and Hollywood, was singled out for adverse income tax lien imposed by the internal revenue collector today. McEvoy is charged with being $2,017 shy on his federal return for 1930. The estate of Ulysses S. Grant Jr., son of the general and President, was sued by the government for $3,823 asserted due since 1926. Herbert Brenon, film director, was "tagged" with a $712 tax lien and Sidney Fox, movie actress, with $256.

BRITAIN OBJECTS TO NAVAL OFFICER'S LOVE ROLE IN BATTLE FILM

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 12.—The troubles of film producers and exhibitors in Great Britain are increasing. A heavy libel verdict was recorded recently against the producers of the film "Rasputin and the Empress," and today it is learned the admiralty has intervened about the film "The Battle."

The film is scheduled to open next Monday night and the Japanese, American, French, and Russian ambassadors have accepted invitations to attend.

The admiralty's objection is to an incident in which a British naval officer on a Japanese ship, who is an observer during a battle, makes love to the Japanese captain's wife and when the captain is killed, takes command of the ship and fights successfully.

The admiralty's position is that a British officer wearing the king's uniform would not intervene in a foreign fight and moreover that a British officer would not make love to another officer's wife. There is no ban as yet, but the admiralty admitted today it is considering action.

HUSBAND SHOOTS WIFE, THEN TAKES HER TO HOSPITAL

James Lynch, 24 years old, 236 Russell street, Hammond, was held by police of that city last night on an open charge, after he shot his wife twice, drove her to a hospital, then surrendered to authorities.

The wife, Ruth, 23 years old, will recover, according to doctors at St. Margaret's hospital in Hammond. She was wounded in the arm and in the side.

Lynch told police that he was married several years ago. Four months ago he and his wife were divorced, and three weeks ago they were remarried.

According to police the two were driving on U. S. highway 41 near St. John's, Ind., yesterday when they quarreled over a man with whom Mrs. Lynch had kept company prior to the second marriage.

GIRL, 14, VICTIM OF RARE DISEASE IN CO. HOSPITAL

Genevieve Liss, 14 years old, 2129 Haddon avenue, is a patient in the Cook County Children's hospital, suffering from one of the rarest diseases known to medical science. The disease, attending physicians explained, takes its toll of the victim's vitality by depositing calcium beneath the skin. The medical term for the ailment is "scleroderma with calcinosis." The girl has been afflicted since she was one year old.

Despite her serious condition, hospital attachés said, the girl is cheerful. She is not confined to her bed and is up and around the hospital most of the day, a nurse declared. Recently, however, the increasing deposits made movements of her legs and arms difficult. She was taken to the hospital Jan. 30.

Woman Found Dead from Motor Fumes in Garage

Mrs. Myrtle Morean, 42 years old, was found dead yesterday afternoon in the garage in the rear of her home at 8419 Drexel avenue. The door of the garage was closed and it was apparent she had been overcome by carbon monoxide gas while she was wiping the dust from the family automobile. The engine of the car was running when her husband, Herbert, whom she usually met at a nearby Illinois Central railroad station, arrived at home.

TWO PHYSICIANS MAY FACE QUIZ IN DEATH CASE

Jury Finds 'Heart Victim' Crushed by Truck.

A coroner's jury investigating the death of Franklin H. Wolever, 61 years old, 3829 Bernard street, consulting engineer for the Curtiss Candy company, recommended yesterday the state department of registration and education inquire into the activities of two physicians and an undertaker who figured in the case.

The three named are Dr. G. N. Green, 108 North State street, physician for an insurance company; Dr. Abel P. M. Sandahl, 1005 Belmont avenue, Wolever family physician, and William E. Schmidt, 3834 Irving Park boulevard, undertaker who buried Wolever.

Heart Disease Given as Cause.

Wolever was crushed to death March 20, by a motor truck chartered by the candy company, but his death was officially certified as resulting from heart disease. When his son, Robert, learned of the accident, he started an inquiry. Wolever's body was exhumed. Medical examination disclosed injuries. The coroner's jury after hearing all the facts, not only urged an inquiry against the doctors and the undertaker, but found that Wolever's death resulted from the accident, and not from heart disease.

Dr. Sandahl testified at the inquest he signed the heart disease certificate after a brief examination which was made while Wolever's body was still clothed.

Witnesses Tell Accident.

Dr. Green testified he had made only an external examination and had found no outward signs of injury. The examination, he said, was made in the candy company infirmary. Dr. Green added that Miss Marie Gill, a nurse there, told him Wolever had beeen afflicted with heart disease.

Then Sergt. Francis Donohue of the coroner's office produced several witnesses, among them R. J. McCarthy, 3223 Fullerton avenue, driver of the truck, who told of the accident in which Wolever was crushed. McCarthy and other witnesses testified they had made statements to that effect to a woman whom they believed to be a secretary to a company official.

BUTTON TRAPS BANDIT AS HE COUNTS HIS LOOT

Through the aid of mechanical science, Wesley Cranston, 27 years old, a dilatory bandit, was captured last night as he was looting the cash register in the haberdashery of Louis Aarons at 32 South Clark street.

When Cranston, who admits he once served a term in Leavenworth prison, entered the store he forced Alfred Kohn, a clerk, into a rear office. There Miss Harriet Carpenter, cashier, pressed a concealed button that notified the Illinois District Telegraph service at 29 South La Salle street that something was wrong.

After pushing the clerk and cashier into a closet and locking the door Cranston proceeded to take $73 from the register. He was still counting his haul when Harry Paulson, a watchman for the service, entered with his pistol drawn and captured him. He was taken to the Central police station.

Alienist to Make Report to Court.

CRIMINAL COURT.

George Robinson, robbery, sentenced to one year to life in the penitentiary; George Katena, burglary, sentenced to one year to life in the penitentiary; Louis Bralich, burglary, sentenced to one year to life in the penitentiary by Judge Harry B. Miller.

Davis Sweatsman, murder, sentenced to life imprisonment in the penitentiary by Judge Daniel P. Trude.

Assistant state's attorneys yesterday debated whether George Rogalski, 13 year old moron who is in the Cook county jail charged with the murder of Dorette Zietlow, 2½ years old, 1942 North Central Park avenue, can be indicted for murder when the grand jury meets on April 23.

Some members of the staf were of the opinion that without evidence showing premeditated murder the grand jury could return only a manslaughter indictment. It was pointed out, however, that young Rogalski might be indicted for both manslaughter and kidnaping.

Assistant State's Attorney Richard Regan, assigned as prosecutor in the case, argued that there was sufficient evidence against the Rogalski boy to insure his conviction on a murder charge, in which case the state could ask the death penalty.

George was recommended held to the grand jury on a murder charge at a coroner's inquest Wednesday after he told how he enticed the little girl away from the front yard of her grandmother, with whom she lived, and held her prisoner in an abandoned stable at 1780 Milwaukee avenue.

There he left her without food or covering, and there she was found by neighboring children Tuesday night, two days after the abduction. She was naked and unconscious when found and she died a few hours later of hunger and exposure. The child's funeral will be held today.

Doctor Studying Boy.

Dr. Harry Hoffman, head of the behavior clinic of the Criminal court, who after a brief preliminary examination pronounced the boy a moral imbecile but legally sane, said his examination of the boy while he is in jail would require two or three additional days. Then he will submit his report to Chief Justice Philip J. Finnegan of the Criminal court.

Early in the afternoon Attorney Thaddeus C. Toudor appeared at the Criminal courts building and announced that he had been retained as defense counsel by George's mother, Mrs. Dorothy Rogalski of 1863 North Oakley avenue. Later he interviewed the boy at the jail.

Later in the afternoon, however, Mrs. Rogalski was approached by Attorneys Dudley R. Emerson and Robert Branand III in her home, and said she had employed no counsel. On the return of her husband, Michael, father of George, she urged him to accept their offer to petition Chief Justice Finnegan to appoint them as counsel in place of the public defender.

The father declared he had no money, would hire no lawyer, and thought his son should be electrocuted. He said later, however, that he had not meant this. Later he consented to let the attorneys act for him, he said, "providing it doesn't cost nothing."

Attorneys Emerson and Branand said that if appointed they would urge the psychology department of Northwestern university or another school to make thorough mental examinations of the boy, inasmuch as the family has not enough money to employ alienists.

Former Inmate of Institution.

Meanwhile it was learned that the mother of George formerly was an inmate of two institutions for the mentally diseased, one of which was the Chicago state hospital at Dunning, where Mrs. Gertrude Zietlow, 32 years old, mother of George's victim, has been confined ever since the birth of Dorette. The records show the same disease in the case of each woman: dementia praecox.

The records of Dr. Edward Dombrowski, managing director of the Dunning institution, reveal that George has been a ward of the Juvenile court since shortly after Jan. 6, 1922, when his mother was admitted to the institution. The hospital's records showed that the mother "had had a history of sexual delinquency since the birth of her last child, was nervous, run down, restless, and threatened to kill her husband."

Mrs. Rogalski was discharged Aug. 23, 1922, when her condition was improved. After that case workers of the institution could not find her, Dr. Dombrowski said. In 1912 she was in the Elgin State hospital, being discharged after seven weeks, and was readmitted on May 6, 1920, staying nine months.

Family Discusses Boy's Case.

The family of the boy kidnaper gathered in the linoleum carpeted living room of their home yesterday and discussed George's case with questioners.

"He's my boy, whatever he's done, and I can't stand to think of him getting—that," his mother, a stout, dark eyed woman of 42 years, said, wiping tears from her red cheeks.

"She means the chair," said George's older brother, Chester, 18 years old. "He might as well get it," he continued, his heavy shoulders slumped in a despondent attitude, as he stared out the window at the grimy, bare street below. "That or life. He's hopeless. If they sent him to Joliet and let him out, he'd do something worse. There's something wrong with him."

"Let them kill him, I'd like to see them," shouted the father, a small man wearing square toed shoes, who came home early from the bakery shop where he earns $18 a week. "I done all I could with him. I watched him, like the Juvenile court judge told me to do. I tell him all the time to be good. I beat him. I made him scrub floors to keep busy. We wouldn't let him out of the house more than half an hour at a time.

"Now, what happens? All these newspaper stories! And at the shop today, all of them look at me. Everywhere I go eyes follow me. O, yes, I'm to blame, because I'm the father! They all blame me. Let him die, let them kill him."

The father insisted that the offense involving another little girl which made George a prisoner at the juvenile detention home for five weeks last fall was not the first which had come to attention of the authorities, but the second.

Funeral of Boy Kidnaper's Victim Will Be Held Today

Funeral services for 2½ year old Dorette Zietlow, who died of hunger and exposure after she was kidnaped and abandoned in a stable by George Rogalski, 13 years old, will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the undertaking rooms at 3327 West North avenue.

Mrs. Gertrude Zietlow, 32 years old, the mother of the child, who is an inmate of the Chicago State hospital at Dunning, will attend the funeral and may go to the burial in Concordia cemetery. Mrs. Zietlow, who requested that she be allowed to attend the rites, will be accompanied by an attendant, according to Dr. Edward Dombrowski, manager director of the institution.

Neighbors of the child, whose father, David Zietlow, has been unemployed for two years, leaving Dorette and two older children in the care of his wife's mother, Mrs. Dora Witte, 1942 North Central Park avenue, have raised a fund to pay for expenses of the funeral. Shakespeare avenue police, who apparently were deeply affected by the case, contributed $100, collected by Acting Capt. Charles Essig. He will attend the funeral with Policeman Joseph Lally and John Walsh, who were assigned to the case.

Chester F. Mitchell, past commander of the J. F. Conley post of the American Legion, 3868 West Grand avenue, announced that more than 50 Legion members in uniform would attend the rites. The Legion will make up the necessary amount over $100 for the funeral expenses, he said. Boy Scouts of troop 51 will be pallbearers.

School children and neighbors also contributed to the fund. Dorette's older sister, Lois, 12 years old, is a pupil in the Funston school. The other Zietlow child is Kenneth, 5 years old.

More than 10,000 persons called at the undertaking rooms yesterday and last night to view the body of the little girl. They filed silently through, gazing at the small coffin, at the rate of thirty a minute.

ALLMAN SHIFTS POLICE IN AUTO THEFT CLEANUP

Calls All Captains for Meeting Today.

A shake-up in the stolen automobile details of the police department was announced by Commissioner James P. Allman last night, simultaneously with the calling of a special meeting of all police captains today to discuss methods of cutting down the auto theft rate.

In the transfer order twenty-eight men assigned to the stolen car detail at the detective bureau were sent back to their stations and an equal number were assigned to replace them.

Laxity Believed Cause.

The commissioner made no comment on reasons for the change, but the theory at the bureau was that the men being taken from the detail had failed to hold up their end of the work in the recent intensive drive against car thieves.

Today's meeting will be held at the office of State's Attorney Courtney and will be attended by all district captains, all supervising captains, the chief of detectives, and the police commissioner.

During the first three months of 1934 the drive against auto thieves has resulted in a forty-three per cent reduction of such thefts, and the police, as well as ordinary car owners, are anxious that the record be maintained so that lower insurance rates may be expected.

Expects Rate Decrease.

Joseph J. Cavanagh, general manager of the Chicago Motor club's inter-insurance exchange, has stated that the next ninety days will probably bring a substantial slash in rates, if the present drive is continued successfully.

During the past three years there have been 96,209 automobiles stolen in Chicago, of which 81,932 were recovered. Each year, however, there has been a substantial decrease in thefts under the preceding year.

REVEAL CRIMES OF YOUNG WARDS, COURT IS URGED

Secrecy in Case of Boy Kidnaper Attacked.

The necessity for coöperation of the Juvenile court with educational authorities to prevent the occurrence of crimes similar to the fatal kidnaping of Dorette Zietlow by George Rogalski, 13 year old schoolboy, was stressed yesterday by Henry Barrett Chamberlin, director of the Chicago crime commission, and Dr. Edward H. Ochsner, chairman of the commission's committee on causes of crime. They urged that the secrecy imposed by statute on the proceedings in the Juveline court be modified to furnish authorities with sufficient information on the tendencies of released offenders.

The death of the Zietlow baby brought the disclosure that Rogalski is a ward of the Juvenile court. For five weeks last fall he was kept in the juvenile detention home after he had been taken into custody for stripping the clothing from another little girl. He was released after a hearing before Judge Frank H. Bicek, presiding in the Juvenile court, after the Institute for Juvenile Research, a state organization headed by a group of alienists, had recommended that the boy be freed and kept under supervision.

Criticism of Court.

The failure of the Juvenile court workers to inform the principal and teachers of the Langland elementary school, where Rogalski was a pupil, of the nature of the court proceedings against him was criticized by Mr. Chamberlin and Dr. Ochsner.

"This is a case in point where the Juvenile court has gone too far with its policy of secrecy," Dr. Ochsner said, "for the school authorities should have been told of the tendency Rogalski previously exhibited. The teachers who came in contact with him daily should have known what to watch for, and certainly should not have been kept in the dark concerning this boy who came in contact with other pupils."

Mr. Chamberlin said that not only should the information gathered by the Juvenile court be available to school authorities where a boy or girl possessed criminal tendencies, but the courts where the offender was on trial for another crime should have this information. Judge Bicek said the records of his court could not be used by any other authorities, because of the statutory restrictions, and could not even be demanded by subpena.

Urges Release of Records.

"What is the use of our spending a mint of money on our Juvenile court if we cannot use the records?" Mr. Chamberlin said. "We should be able to get these records and produce them in a trial court. Even if they are not admitted in evidence, the judge should have the information for his guidance."

Dr. Ochsner, who, as head of the Illinois charities commission in 1915, was one of the foremost proponents of the act passed by the legislature that year providing for care and detention of feeble-minded persons in public institutions, said that this act should be invoked by the Juvenile court whenever necessary.

"In this case Rogalski is not feeble-minded," Dr. Ochsner stated, "but he was a juvenile delinquent and an investigation had shown that he had criminal tendencies. It is true that the Institute for Juvenile Research decided that he could safely be released and that his school work showed he had ability. But it is also true that Dr. Harry Hoffman [head of the behavior clinic of the Criminal court] reported the boy as a 'moral imbecile' after an examination Wednesday.

"Complete investigations must be made by the Juvenile court before turning loose cases like this. There must be no indiscriminate incarceration of boys and girls in the state institutions, but neither must there be laxity."

Dr. Ochsner asserted that there has been no abatement of misdirected sentiment toward criminals. The sentimentality is all for the criminal, not for the victim, he said, and because of this youthful delinquents brought before the Juvenile court are often shown too much leniency in the recommendations of social service workers to the court.

Judge Bicek denied the statement made by Assistant State's Attorney Richard Regan, who is directing the inquiry into the death of the Zietlow girl, that theorizing welfare workers influence him.

"We invite the coöperation of social service workers," Judge Bicek declared, "but if we think they are interfering with procedure, out they go. We took every precaution in the case of young Rogalski. However, we could not guarantee the boy's conduct after he was released. That cannot be done in any case, but we try to do our best with supervision."

PLAN NEW APPEAL TO SAVE KILLER SCHECK FROM CHAIR

Attorney Ross Lee Laird, representing John Scheck, police slayer who is scheduled to die April 20 in the electric chair, announced yesterday that he had served notice on the state's attorney's office of his intention to appeal to the state board of pardons and paroles for executive clemency for his client. Scheck was convicted of the murder of Policeman John Sevick, whom he shot down in a crowded courtroom in an effort to escape.

Attorney Laird said his petition would declare that Scheck did not have a fair trial because of the "public's inflamed mind" over the slaying. The petition will also assert, he declared, that Scheck, is "not wholly chargeable for the consequences of the act which necessarily resulted from an omission of duty on the part of some deputy sherif." Scheck, the petition points out, was in custody of the sherif's office at the time.

PASCHEN MUST SERVE 2 YEARS, RULES U. S. COURT

Upholds Conviction on Tax Violation.

The United States Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday upheld the conviction of Christian P. Paschen, former city building commissioner, who is under sentence for violation of the income tax law. Attorneys for Paschen indicated they would carry the case to the United States Supreme court if the Appeals court refuses a rehearing. The defense has 20 days in which to file a request.

The former city official is under sentence of two years in the penitentiary and a fine of $2,000 imposed on him by Federal Judge John P. Barnes, after a jury found him guilty in one of the longest income tax fraud trials on record. The Appeals court has had the case under advisement for almost a year.

Record Errors Omitted.

The decision of the Appeals court, which was written by Presiding Judge Samuel Alschuler and concurred in by Associate Judges Evan A. Evans and Will M. Sparks, held that while the record contained errors, they were not of sufficient importance to justify a reversal.

The opinion added also that no evidence was presented to justify the contention the defendant had not had a fair trial.

In connection with the charge the evidence did not show any substantial income tax due the government, the opinion stated in part:

"Many computations are made which we have laboriously studied in an endeavor to understand and apply them. . . . We are satisfied that the jury was not unwarranted in concluding that appellant's omission to make return of substantial income was motivated at least in part by the purpose of defeating and evading his income tax."

Secret Bank Account.

The so-called "A. B. Anderson account," held secretly in a bank by Paschen, which ran into hundreds of thousands of dollars, was also discussed in detail in the opinion. Paschen, in his testimony, asserted this account was in his wife's maiden name and that it was used by him in order to avoid litigation, and that many political contributions were placed in this account and later disbursed in political campaigns.

Paschen's conviction, returned nearly two years ago, was made on two counts in an indictment charging him with evasion of income tax payments of $43,001 in 1926. According to the indictment Paschen had a gross income of $234,240.99 in that year. He was acquitted of two other counts charging a tax evasion of $76,496 on an income of $333,685 made in 1927.

SENTENCED TO 6 MONTHS ON TAX 'FIXING' CHARGE

Joseph Schwartz, 1241 North Shore avenue, an alleged "tax fixer," was sentenced to six months in the county jail yesterday by Judge Cecil B. Smith on charges of giving perjured testimony in a personal property tax suit.

Three men and two women, who were arrested with Schwartz, denied participation in the tax "fixing" and were released on their promises that they would be available for further questioning.

According to the charges Schwartz had agreed to adjust the 1931 personal property tax bill of the Lambert K. Kahn Clothing company, 404 South Wells street, where he formerly was employed.

By producing a fake income tax report, it was charged, Schwartz succeeded in having the $611 tax bill reduced to $112.50. After sentencing Schwartz, Judge Smith announced he would reopen the Kahn tax case tomorrow.

Schwartz's attorney was allowed 30 days in which to prepare the case for review by the Appellate court. Schwartz was released on a $1,500 stay bond.

PLAN COALITION ON JUDGES' SLATE FOR JUNE 4 VOTE

Bipartisan Move Would Save $300,000.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Coalition between the Democratic and Republican county central committees for the judicial election of June 4 was considered assured yesterday after conferences between various leaders of both parties.

A new proposal, said to have originated with the Republicans, added impetus to the movement during the day. This was a plan for effecting a saving of $150,000 to the taxpayers and probably an equal amount to the two organizations by the fusion route.

Plan Polls Reduction.

The basis of this plan would be the reduction of the number of polling places, if there is only one set of organization nominees in the field for the eight places in the Superior court and the one Circuit court vacancy. It is believed that the opening of every fourth polling place, approximately, would meet the requirement of giving all voters fair opportunity to cast their ballots.

The only objection heard to this form of economy is that on June 4 voters also will go to the polls to elect two associate judges of the Municipal court. Each party selected its nominees for these places last Tuesday so that coalition in this connection is considered impossible. Nobody has suggested asking any of the nominees to give up his certificate.

Attorneys Find Loophole.

Election attorneys, however, say that this objection could be overcome in a special act of the legislature, one that would be advisable anyway for the elimination of polling places considered needless if there is fusion on the state court positions.

The lawyers say that such an act could be passed by the third special session of the general assembly which will resume operations at Springfield on Tuesday and that it could be enacted within two weeks or, in other words, in sufficient time for the June election.

The idea of the consolidation of election precincts for the sake of economy already has been approved by the legislature. In connection with the aldermanic election three years ago it approved a bill for cutting down the number of polling places in the aldermanic election.

Won Wide Approval.

On that occasion there were a number of wards in which there was only one candidate. The lack of contests in such instances gave advance warning that there would be only light voting in those wards and there was widespread approval of the money saving method.

It is estimated that each polling place costs the taxpayers about $60 and that for the June election the total number of precinct voting centers could be lowered to 1,219 in the county. There are 3,655 precincts, and to reduce the polling places by three-fourths would leave only 914, but in many sections of the county the voting units are so large in area that consolidation of more than two, in rural areas particularly, might be considered a hardship on the voters.

The talks among the party leaders in reference to uniting on a single Superior-Circuit court judicial slate have not yet reached the proportions of formal negotiations of a binding nature, but it is believed generally they will have arrived at that point by Saturday when the two county judicial conventions are to be held.

Special arrangements for determining the winners of places on the county committees were put into operation yesterday by both the election board and County Clerk Sweitzer, so that the two conventions can function. The election board completed the canvass of the vote for ward committeemen in Chicago and for precinct committeemen in the part of the country towns under its jurisdiction and the final results of all these contests will be covered by an official proclamation this morning.

Democrats Claim Balance.

Still proud of the showing they made in the primary, the Democrats insist that in the event of fusion they are entitled to two of the three vacancies—there being two on the Superior bench and one on the Circuit—and that the Republicans should be satisfied with one of the two Superior court places both of which are shorter termed than the one in the Circuit court.

It is understood that the Republicans who took part in the conversations insisted they should have two of the three, since five of the six judges of the Superior court whose terms expire are Democrats. But the Democrats say that if there is no coalition they will win all of the nine places that are open.

Lame Duck North Shore Park Board Acts to Buy More Land

The north shore park district board, which became a lame duck organization when the voters of Chicago approved consolidation of the city's 22 park systems on Tuesday, continued last night to consider the purchase of lands and indicated that they still were determined to tie up the district to purchases.

Three properties were offered. The price set on a lot at Jonquil terrace and Marshfield avenue was $32,000. For a larger lot, extending from Schreiber avenue to Arthur avenue, east of Ashland avenue, $50,000 was asked. Lake front property at Columbia avenue was tendered for $60,000 and an adjoining parcel for five year lease at $8,000 a year. Some of the commissioners said they thought the prices high, but instructed their real estate expert, Albert Riemenschneider, and Attorney Thomas Lindskog to investigate the proposition and report Saturday morning.

Plan to Speed Merger.

During the day Mayor Kelly said efforts would be made to speed up the merger of all the parks. The official election results must be certified before he can appoint the board of five members to administer the new merged system. The mayor added that he hoped an early court test of the legality of consolidation would be made.

Last night's north shore meeting was held in the board headquarters at 1111 Farwell avenue. It started with Commissioner Thomas F. Myers Jr. making a speech, in which he declared there was no fairness in charges made against him and three other commissioners by Hyman Kinzelberg, insurgent board member.

He denied there was any intention to pay $220,000 for a baby park site on the lake. Also, he said, Kinzelberg's assertion that the board was paying $1.05 per yard for sand fill at the lake, while Lincoln park paid only 42 cents a yard, was unfair. The Lincoln park work was for hydraulic work not comparable to that done on the north shore properties. Kinzelberg retorted that he had his figures from Lincoln park officials.

Boost Price $2,000 Overnight.

The Jonquil-Marshfield lot offer, by Arthur Heller, was $2,000 higher than his demand of the previous night. He would, however, accept $18,000 if the board would undertake to satisfy all taxes, penalties, and assessments. Commissioner Myers moved acceptance of the Schreiber-Arthur lot offer, but Commissioner James J. Nunamaker declared $50,000 too much for it. Attorney Roger Minwegen, representing the owners, said they would not take less. The third property was offered by Leonard E. Steele.

If any deals are completed, the sellers will receive tax anticipation warrants in lieu of cash.

Default on Bonds.

Commissioner Kinzelberg pointed out yesterday that an audit up to the first of the year disclosed that the park district has $692,000 in bonds outstanding and had defaulted on $161,199 in bond principal and interest. The park district is faced with meeting bond maturities totaling $23,000 in 1934. The current indebtedness of the district on Jan. 1, 1934, was as follows:

Current bills payable	$ 25,968
Tax warrants outstanding	70,950
Tax warrant interest	11,200
Defaulted bond principal	81,000
Defaulted bond interest	80,199
Total current indebtedness	$269,317

The state's attorney's office on Wednesday sent Assistant Prosecutor William J. Weldon to observe the park board meeting. It was later learned that his sister, Mrs. Bradley Carr of 1132 Loyola avenue, had been placed on the north shore district pay roll as a scout for new sites for baby parks. Last night another assistant state's attorney, Earle Hurley, was assigned to attend the meeting.

RUMANIA SEIZES NEW YORK TIMES CORRESPONDENT

[Copyright: 1934: By the New York Times.]

VIENNA, April 12.—Dr. Eugene Kovacs, New York Times correspondent, was arrested at Bucharest today after being summoned with other foreign correspondents before police and questioned about disregard of the prohibition against sending stories of the plot to murder King Carol and his mistress, Mme. Lupescu, last Sunday.

The other correspondents were released, but Dr. Kovacs was sent to Malmaison fortress for further questioning. After undergoing examination by the secret police, military authorities, and political police in turn, he was released six hours later on the ground that no probable case could be made against him. Meantime United States Minister A. Owsley at Bucharest had interested himself in Kovacs' detention.

Lieut. Gov. Donovan Wins State Democratic Post

Lieut. Gov. Thomas F. Donovan has been reëlected to the Democratic state central committee, reports from the Joliet district showed yesterday. Francis Loughran of Joliet ran a close race and was for a time believed winner, but when late returns came in Donovan was shown to have been reëlected by 2,233 votes. He has been chairman of the committee for many years.

MAYOR ONE YEAR, KELLY IS PRAISED BY COUNCILMEN

Hail His Speedy Moves to Restore Solvency.

Mayor Edward J. Kelly was praised last night at the annual dinner of the city council finance committee at the Morrison hotel for the speedy manner in which he has grasped the financial problems of Chicago and accelerated a return to municipal solvency.

The remarks—joined in by Republican as well as Democratic aldermen—were prompted by the fact that Mayor Kelly last night completed his first year in office. It was one year ago today that the city council elected him to succeed Mayor Anton J. Cermak, victim of an assassin's bullet intended for the then President elect, Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Clark Leads Tributes.

Ald. John S. Clark [30th], chairman of the finance committee, sounded the keynote in his talk.

"No man," he said, "has ever become mayor of Chicago and taken such a ready grasp of the finances of the city as Mayor Kelly has done. He is responsible for Chicago's taking greater strides toward restored solvency, and he has accomplished this faster than any other mayor I have known."

Ald. James Bowler [25th], a veteran of the council by virtue of his tenure dating back to 1906, said he has seen mayors come and go, but Mayor Kelly has grasped more quickly a mayor's duties than any other mayor he has known.

Mayor Kelly, according to Ald. Jacob M. Arvey [24th], has enjoyed the confidence of the council to a greater measure than any previous mayor in recent years. This is proved, Arvey said, by a minimum of partisanship in the council, and by the fact that Mayor Kelly has not had to veto a single measure during his one year in office.

Join in Praise.

Other speakers were Ald. Bert Cronson [4th], a Republican; Barnet Hodes, former alderman of the 7th ward and now a member of the state tax commission; Scott Lucas, chairman of the tax commission, and Bruce Campbell, prominent Democrat of East St. Louis. All extoled Mayor Kelly for the manner in which he has handled the city's finances. It was pointed out that when Mayor Kelly assumed office a year ago city employés were five and one-half months in arrears in pay and that today they are only two months behind. There will be a city pay day Monday.

Mayor Kelly, in responding to the speeches, said that Chicago's financial strides were not due to his efforts alone, but to the coöperation of the entire city council in approving his economy measures.

ERROR DISCOVERED IN REPORT ON VOTE; PRECINCT IS DRY

Corrected returns on the wet and dry proposition which on Tuesday was submitted to voters in 23 Chicago precincts disclosed yesterday that the 50th precinct of the 19th ward, in which the residents were reported on Wednesday to have voted for the unrestricted sale of liquor, actually went dry. The City News bureau, which tabulated the returns, yesterday reported that the vote in this precinct was 98 dry and 65 wet. According to the bureau, a mistake in transmission of the count had previously caused it to be reported as 66 dry and 100 wet.

The correction brought to 20 the number of precincts which voted dry on Tuesday. Of these, 19 precincts are in the 19th ward, the bone dry residential district of Beverly Hills, where a number of saloons now operating must close within 30 days. The other dry precinct is the 13th of the 3d ward.

The three precincts where the wets won in the balloting are the 1st of the 17th ward, the 54th of the 6th ward, and the 46th of the 39th ward.

3 TOUGH BANDITS ROB CEMETERY OFFICE OF $1,500

Three tough bandits, one believed by police to be "kill crazy," held up the office of the Mount Carmel cemetery in Hillside yesterday and escaped with $1,500 in cash and a large amount in checks.

In the office when the robbers entered were R. E. Davey, superintendent; Melvin French, foreman; Miss Elsie Nasar, stenographer, and an assistant foreman.

When Davey was slow in raising his hands one of the gunmen threatened to kill him, and, apparently, meant to carry out his threat. However, his two companions calmed him and the danger for Davey ended. After getting the money and the checks the hoodlums ran out and escaped in a car driven by a confederate.

Town in New York Votes to Abolish Police Force

Cortlandt, N. Y., April 12.—[Special.]—Councilmen of this town decided today the town could get along without its police department and therefore voted its abolition.

GOVERNOR MUST ACT ON LIQUOR TAX DIVERSION

Bill to Aid Schools Awaits His Decision.

Gov. Horner will have to sign or veto the bill diverting liquor tax revenue to the state school distributive fund before the Illinois house has had a chance to pass the bill he favors, which would transfer gasoline tax funds to the schools.

This situation led to the prediction yesterday that the governor would veto the liquor tax bill before midnight next Wednesday. Since the gasoline tax diversion measure has had only its first reading in the house, after having been approved by the senate just before the primary recess two weeks ago, it cannot be approved before Thursday. The deadline for vetoing the liquor bill is midnight Wednesday.

Veto Intent Indicated.

When the liquor tax bill passed the house the governor issued a statement which gave every indication that he would veto it if it reached his desk. He would not consent to any measure which would "endanger the state's financial integrity," he said, and he regarded the bill as approaching that situation because it would take away from the state funds a sum estimated as big has $7,000,000 by its sponsors.

Although K. L. Ames Jr., state director of finance, estimated that the revenue would be much less—perhaps as little as $3,000,000—the governor is not expected to approve even that diversion.

Veto of Bill Expected.

The administration emphasizes that the sales tax has allowed the abolition of a state property levy. The governor, it is believed, will oppose any diversion to the schools of state funds because of the possibility that it might force the reimposition of the property tax. Therefore, a veto of the liquor revenue bill is expected.

The bill is now in Attorney General Kerner's office for an opinion as to its constitutionality. If the attorney general gave a decision that it was unconstitutional, the governor would be relieved of the necessity of taking action on the bill.

COURT UPHOLDS CITY'S TITLE TO OLD GAGE FARM

The city of Chicago has a clear title to the old 215-acre Gage farm, most of which lies in Berwyn, the United States Circuit Court of Appeals ruled yesterday, upholding the verdict rendered by the Federal District Court more than a year ago.

The suit was filed in 1929 in behalf of Mrs. Clara Gage Clark of Kansas City, Kas., daughter of David Gage, who was city treasurer of Chicago about the time of the Chicago fire.

After Gage's defeat for reëlection it was charged that the city had lost $507,000 through mismanagement by Gage. The city obtained the farm in 1881 as part settlement of the claims against him, buying it in for only a few thousand dollars. It is now valued at $1,500,000.

The present case was handled for the city by Albert H. Veeder, special assistant to the corporation counsel.

START NEW PLAN TO END COUNTY'S TAX CUT MUDDLE

State Commission Ready to Extend Reduction.

TAX COLLECTIONS.

Real estate tax collections yesterday, including those for 1933, were $1,421,878, making a total of $133,972,501 collected since enforcement of the Kerner-Skarda act began on April 28, 1933. The day's collections of real estate taxes and the uncollected taxes for four years follows:

	1928.	1929.
April 12	$ 11,482	$ 15,454
Uncollected	14,636,586	39,496,840
	1930.	1931
April 12	$ 52,673	75,490
Uncollected ...	63,455,850	58,672,383

The day's collection of 1932 real estate taxes totaled $1,266,290 and of 1932 personal taxes, $190,127.

A compromise proposal to settle the 15 per cent tax reduction muddle was brought forward yesterday at a conference on the subject before the state tax commission. Under this proposal, owners of single residences and two and three flat buildings would receive the equivalent of a 15 per cent cut on their building assessments for each of the four years of the present assessment quadrennium, the tax years 1931 to 1934.

At the same time, under the proposal, the decision of County Judge Jarecki, granting the cut for 1931 to a limited number of property owners who filed objections before him, would be appealed to the State Supreme court for final adjudication.

Fear Warant Sale Obstacle.

The present refusal of county authorities to appeal from this decision, it has been predicted, will put a bar in the path of further tax warant sales by Chicago local governments.

The compromise proposal was not discussed at the open meeting in the tax commission offices at 33 North La Salle street, but was gone over at a series of private conferences during a recess. It did not meet immediate acceptance, and when the open session was resumed Scott W. Lucas, chairman of the tax commission, played his trump card.

His associate, Barnet Hodes, read a proposed rule of the commission which Mr. Lucas announced would be promulgated if the county assessment officials failed to agree on a plan to end the muddle.

What the Rule Would Do.

That rule would require the assessor to extend the 15 per cent cut to the 1932, 1933, and 1934 assessment rolls. The tax commission is basing its authority to enforce such an order on the section of the statute permitting it to "direct and supervise" the work of local tax officials. Mr. Lucas, himself, pointed out that this section has never been construed by the courts.

"If we issue the rule," he predicted, "it means another court wrangle. But it looks as if there's going to be one anyway."

He then adjourned the meeting until April 25, urging that the Cook county officials try to reach an agreement by then which would make issuance of the tax commission order unnecessary.

Points of Compromise Plan.

The parties to the private conferences on the compromise proposal refused to disclose its full details, but its principal features were learned, as well as the fact that the suggestion came from John O. Rees, director of the committee on public expenditures.

The first point of the plan was that Assessor Jacobs make a double cut in residence and small flat building valuations for the 1933 and 1934 assessments. This would give all the 438,000 properties in the classes involved the benefit of an equivalent of the cut for the full four year period.

It would also make unnecessary any new legislation, considered of doubtful legality by tax specialists, to extend the cut to the thousands of property owners who failed to benefit by Judge Jarecki's order because they had paid their 1931 taxes in full.

The second point of the proposal was that State's Attorney Courtney reconsider his decision not to appeal from Judge Jarecki's ruling. As it now stands, loop banks and other large buyers of tax warants are understood to consider that ruling a bar to further purchases. At a previous tax commission hearing Mr. Rees predicted that drying up of this credit source would find city employés seven months behind in their pay by the end of the year.

Legal advisers of the banks object to the Jarecki decision not so much because it cuts some security from beneath outstanding warants, although that fact bears some weight, but principally because it sets a precedent under which the County court becomes in effect a third assessing office. This, it was pointed out, creates uncertainty in the minds of taxpayers as to when they may pay their bills without danger of losing future reductions.

Would Speed Tax Machine.

The immediate effect of the compromise, if it is accepted by Assessor Jacobs and Fred W. Brummel and George F. Nixon, members of the board of tax appeals, would be to eliminate the volume of detail work which threatens to stop orderly operation of the tax machinery. With the taxpayers guaranteed the double cut on 1933 and 1934 assessments, it would be unnecessary for the appeals board to act further in 1932 cuts.

The attitude of the appeals board members toward the proposal was not learned. Assessor Jacobs was reported to have said that he might consider applying the cut to more modest homes, but not to expensive mansions.

The tax commission announced yesterday that the total of its 1933 capital stock assessments in Cook county was $63,552,344. This was an increase of $12,161,424 over the 1932 total, and represented a 95 per cent increase in the number of corporations assessed.

DILLINGER'S GIRL FRIEND HELD ON FEDERAL CHARGE

Warant Discloses Capture in Chicago Cafe.

Federal authorities in Chicago yesterday obtained from United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker a warant on which they intend to remove Evelyn Frechetti, alias Anne Martin, woman companion of the notorious outlaw, John Dillinger, to St. Paul. She has already been charged in the Minnesota city with harboring a fugitive.

An application for a writ of habeas corpus, filed in Evelyn's behalf by Attorney Louis Piquett yesterday, will be heard by Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward this morning. It is expected, in view of the fact that the formal charge has been placed against her, that the writ will be denied.

Woman in Custody Here.

Melvin H. Purvis, chief of the investigating forces of the department of justice in this area, admitted yesterday that his men had had the gangster's woman friend in custody for several days. She was seized in a cafe at 416 North State street and a man with her also was taken into custody. His identity was not disclosed, but Mr. Purvis said he was not John Hamilton, one of Dillinger's chief lieutenants who is still at large.

From St. Paul came dispatches stating that fingerprints of Evelyn, sent there by the Chicago investigators, had been compared with those found in a house outside which Dillinger gangsters and agents battled on March 31, and were identical.

From Eugene Green, who was fatally injured in this battle, and from other sources it was learned that Dillinger was one of the two men who escaped the trap and that Evelyn was the woman who accompanied him. The second man who fled, it was asserted, was Hamilton.

Link Gang to Bremer Kidnaping.

The St. Paul investigators also averred that the Dillinger-Green-Hamilton gang had been responsible for a number of crimes in the northwest and the central west in the last eighteen months, including the kidnaping Jan. 22 of Edward G. Bremer of St. Paul. Dillinger is not believed to have been directly involved in this crime, however. He is, however, believed to have led raids on banks in Sioux Falls, S. D., on March 6 and in Mason City, Ia., on March 13. The combined loot in these stickups was more than $100,000.

Evelyn Frechetti has played throughout the last year or more a prominent part in the affairs of the fugitive Dillinger. She accompanied him to Arizona, where he was captured on Jan. 30. Previously she had lived with him in a Chicago apartment.

She is also known to have visited Dillinger in the Crown Point jail several days before he waved a wooden gun at his jailers and escaped. The escape occurred on March 3.

PREPARE FIGHT AGAINST BILL FOR CHAIN STORE TAX

Representatives of 52 store chains with 4,795 unit stores met last night in the Hotel Sherman and formed an organization to fight against the proposed special tax on chain stores which is included in the McCaskrin bill now before the general assembly at Springfield.

C. J. Burny of the Burny Brothers' bakeries, said that many legislators who advocated the tax on chain stores believed that the proposed measures would drive out competition from other states and aid local business. He urged that these legislators be informed of the harm which would fall on Illinois concerns. The tax, he said, would be so heavy on some chains that they would have to close many of their stores.

RECEIVER SEES DARK OUTLOOK FOR INSULL UNIT

Mississippi Valley Report Shows Its Condition.

A dark outlook for the shareholders and creditors of the Mississippi Valley Utility Investment company, one time $50,000,000 prime example of Insull high finance, was pictured in a report of Receiver Eugene V. R. Thayer filed in the federal District court yesterday.

Whatever the investors may realize, the report states, depends upon the settlement of claims aggregating $26,000,000, only $3,000,000 of which have been recommended as valid and allowable by the receiver. Although questioning the ultimate possibility of a satisfactory reorganization of the company, the receiver recommends that the receivership be continued in operation, because an immediate liquidation would be disastrous.

Serves as Dumping Ground.

The Mississippi Valley company, a holding subsidiary of the super Insull holding concern, Middle West Utilities company, was one of the most complicated corporations in the Insull group and served as a dumping ground for undesirable securities purchased by Middle West in its program of "buying customers," in the words of the receiver's report.

Middle West, it was explained, would purchase blocks of stock in eastern companies that might become customers of Middle West subsidiaries, and then unload the stock on the Mississippi Valley Utility Investment company.

The affairs of this concern are also of interest because it was "an abuse of corporate authority" relating to Mississippi Valley transactions that led to the ousting of Samuel Insull Sr. as a coreceiver of Middle West and the subsequent indictment of both Samuel Insull Sr. and his brother, Martin J. Insull, on state charges of larceny and embezzlement.

Disclose Loans to Martin.

In a report filed in September, 1932, "loans" to Martin J. Insull, president of the Valley company, aggregating $170,222 were disclosed by Receiver Thayer. These advances, made from Dec. 31, 1931, to Feb. 10, 1932, were used to cover brokerage accounts of Martin Insull. When Samuel Insull's colleagues in the receivership of Middle West discovered that he had approved the loans they forced him to resign.

The advances were made either directly or in the form of credits, to Middle West for advances that company had made to Martin Insull, its president also. The vouchers were signed by Oliver E. McCormick, treasurer, and approved by Samuel Insull.

In addition, Martin Insull sold stock in the Middle West and Central and Southwestern Utilities companies to Mississippi Valley company for $225,000 on April 24, 1931, "with the right to repurchase at 8 per cent interest." The stock at the time of sale had a market value of $214,635, but the records show that Mr. Insull never exercised his right to repurchase.

Use Funds in Stock Trading.

The report of Receiver Thayer, filed by Attorney Ralph M. Shaw, also charges that funds of the company were used to trade in the stocks of other Insull concerns for no other apparent purpose than to "peg," or "control," the market prices of the shares.

"Although the company appears to have been organized for the purpose of acting as an investment company for the holding of securities of public utilities companies," says the receiver's report, "its investments were never limited to that field, but were spread over widely scattered and wholly unrelated fields of activity, which include textile mills, newsprint mills, coal companies, amusement parks, Texas farm lands and townsite developments and a number of varied real estate developments."

Investments of Company.

Following are some of the principal investments of the company, with the receiver's opinion of their value:

1. New England Industries, $12,856,000. This was acquired from the Middle West Utilities company and was purchased by that company as a part of its program of "buying customers." The receiver has already been obliged to exchange the investment in preferred stock for $5,000,000 of cumulative preferred stock, the writedown being necessary to prevent a complete loss. The value of the stock is dependent upon the company's ability to pay off huge debts.

2. North American Light and Power company, $11,177,000. Any substantial realization depends upon an advancement in the securities market.

3. Central and Southwest Utilities company, $2,792,000. This stock was traded in for the purpose of "pegging" or controling the market. No substantial realization is possible in the near future.

4. Central Texas Hydro-Electric company, $2,389,000. Described as wholly worthless.

5. American Central Utilities company, $6,177,000, consisting mainly of holdings on the Mexican border. Value is dependent upon the internal policies of Mexico and the exchange value of the peso.

6. Peabody Coal company, $3,359,000. No present market for these securities.

4 Million in Real Estate.

The report also states that the company had investments of $4,199,000 in real estate, including $600,000 in the Quivira Development company, a Kansas City amusement park. This investment has been wiped out through the foreclosure of superior liens.

Investments in the securities of other Insull companies, totaling $4,400,000, are described in the report as worthless.

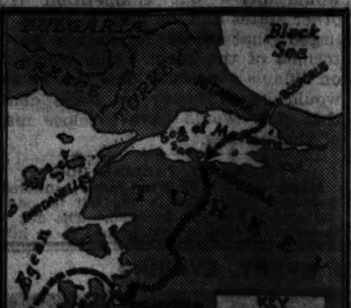
The report states that the company has $261,000 in notes receivable which also are worthless, since some of the individuals are bankrupt. Previous reports disclosed that loans in this amount were made to executives of the Insull company to permit them to purchase Insull stocks, and these loans, apparently, are meant by the receiver.

21 Million Middle West Claim.

As to the claims of $26,000,000 pending against Mississippi Valley, $21,000,000 is asked by the receivers of Middle West Utilities. Receiver Thayer denies the "integrity and validity" of this claim and has recommended that it be disallowed. He also has filed a counter claim of $8,000,000 against Middle West.

Previous reports of the receiver have disclosed that the $21,000,000 Middle West "loan" to Mississippi Valley was merely a bookkeeping transaction. It represented dividends on common stock held by Middle West, which Middle West received for the purpose of showing income, and then returned to Mississippi Valley in the form of a loan.

Insull Starts Home



Map shows route Samuel Insull is following on his way to Chicago to stand trial on criminal charges. He left Istanbul yesterday in custody of Turkish police officials for Panderma, port for the province of Smyrna, aboard the steamer Adana. At Panderma the fugitive boarded a train for Smyrna, where he will board the American export line ship Exilona today. The vessel will leave at once on its trip to the United States.

M. L. ROTHSCHILD STORE BOYCOTTS GERMAN GOODS

Maurice L. Rothschild, loop clothing merchant, announced yesterday that his store would not buy German goods "until such time as Germany is humanized." The announcement was made in a letter to Dr. Paul Hutchinson, president of the Chicago committee for the Defense of Human Rights Against Nazism, 30 North La Salle street.

In the letter Mr. Rothschild said: "We have refused to buy German goods for over a year and have not received German goods for over a year. Our entire stock of what is left of German goods is less than $200. We do not expect to buy German goods until such time as Germany is humanized."

Besides his Chicago store Mr. Rothschild has stores in Minneapolis and St. Paul.

TURKEY SPEEDS INSULL TO SHIP BOUND FOR U. S.

Exile in Good Humor on Trip to Smyrna.

ernment had ordered the fugitive's return to the United States.

The appeal was filed and had Insull been victorious the executive mandate would have been vacated.

As late as 11 a. m. Insull's lawyers were confident. They said they had received an official document stating that their client's appeal had been duly filed according to law and would be heard in due course.

Two hours later, Kenan Bey, prosecutor general, announced that the Court of Cassation had examined the appeal. The verdict, he said, had been against Insull. The appeal, it was disclosed, was not rejected. The court had held it completely inadmissible.

"It's all over," one of Insull's lawyers said sadly as he arrived at the house of detention to acquaint Insull with the news that his long and bitter battle with the American government was lost.

The fallen utilities czar possessed indications of what was coming from the morning newspapers. Although both the state department and the Turkish government had been acting with the closest secrecy, the news leaked out and was splashed over the front pages of every newspaper of Istanbul.

Insull Takes News Calmly.

Insull took the news calmly. His departure from prison was rapid. He was placed in a taxicab which the Turkish police had pressed into service. The taxicab was preceded by an automobile carrying his two lawyers. The fugitive wore a black overcoat and a gray hat.

He was led from the taxicab at the gates of the docks. He walked in the midst of a cluster of uniformed and plain clothes policemen to the Adana, 500 yards off. He concealed his face on the way with a brown paper parcel containing bananas.

As he strode along he kept a keen lookout for photographers. When he spied one he attempted to dodge. A crowd of 200 persons had gathered at the quay to watch his departure.

Under Heavy Police Guard.

Insull was kept under heavy police guard from the time he left prison until he boarded the Adana. Even the passengers, including THE TRIBUNE correspondent, experienced difficulty in boarding the steamer behind him.

The moment the prisoner stepped on deck he was taken below and rushed to a corner cabin, which he is occupying tonight. The cabin has a single berth. Opposite the berth is a divan and beneath the porthole is a tiny wash basin.

The door to the cabin was shut immediately after the prisoner's entry. Three policemen were stationed outside to prevent any one from talking to him.

An examination of the vessel disclosed that it has a row of four first class cabins on each side of the ship. The ship has one bath and the water pipes are out of order. If Insull shaves tomorrow he will have to use cold water.

Officially Insull has quite a delegation accompanying him on the trip to Smyrna. Besides Nail Bey, the Turkish police executive, and three other police officers, there are two American passengers. One is Burton Y. Berry, third secretary of the American embassy, who will become Insull's custodian tomorrow. Accompanying him is Lieut. Col. John A. Crane, American military attaché. Lieut. Col. Crane will go as far as Smyrna. Incidentally Berry had not seen Insull up until the time the latter boarded the Adana.

Capt. John Mousouris of Insull's chartered ship, the Maiotis, came aboard the Adana early to say good-by to his former passenger and friend. The police permitted him to bid Insull farewell.

"Insull is a fine man," Capt. Mousouris said. "I like him very much. I have come to say good-by and wish him bon voyage. I probably will leave Istanbul this week with the Maiotis. I expect to pick up a cargo of grain and timber in Italy."

When the Adana sailed Insull was allowed to come up on deck. He waved his hand in salute to lawyers and the crowd. He apparently is leaving Turkey in debt. His lawyers insist he has not received funds either from America or London. They maintain they paid expenses for an appeal out of their own pockets and do not know when and if they will collect.

This is considered hardly probable, since they were assigned to the case by Simmons & Simmons of London, one of the best known legal firms in Great Britain.

Hotel Gets a Souvenir.

However, it is a fact that Insull did not pay his bill during his few hours' stay at the Hotel Londres Monday, April 2. The proprietor is exhibiting to his guests Insull's bill of $7 for a room and one luncheon which has not been honored. He said he is having the bill framed and will write off the loss as a valuable souvenir.

WARNS OF STOLEN RATS INFESTED WITH GERMS OF DISEASE

Although the police yesterday recovered 116 of the rats which were stolen Wednesday night from the laboratory of Dr. Royal Fitch, 3154 North Crawford avenue, another box containing 140 of the rodents was still missing. Some of the rats had been infected with tuberculosis germs for experimental purposes and police expressed the fear that the thieves might try to sell them to a pet shop, thus endangering purchasers.

Those recovered were still in a box, which apparently had fallen from a truck at Crawford and Fullerton avenues. More than half of the rats still missing are infected. Pet shop owners will be furnished with descriptions of the missing rats.

SENATE VOTES FOR INCREASED ESTATE TAXES

La Follette Amendment Is Approved.

who fed upon the common people." Senator Huey Long [Dem., La.] jumped into the fray, arms waving and voice bellowing.

To Senator Harrison's discomfiture, the clause was stricken by a close vote of 40 to 37. Senator Borah immediately proposed an amendment enjoining corporations from deducting from their taxable income dividends received from the other companies.

Harrison Makes Plea.

"I'm sure the senate doesn't want to do this unwise thing," again pleaded Senator Harrison. "You will be doing something this country has never done before. It will affect every corporation in the country hurtfully, the independents as well as the holding companies. We have provided penalties in this bill for high surpluses."

"I'll be frank about these holding companies," declared Senator Norris. "I want to tax them out of existence."

A majority of the senate apparently had decided, however, that it had gone far enough for the day, and Senator Borah's amendment lost, 33 to 39. But another section adopted today makes it the duty of every corporation to report for public inspection all salaries it pays of over $15,000.

Having added nearly 150 million dollars to the tax bill in two days, the senate unobtrusively nibbled a million here and there from the bill as various senators complained that certain taxes hurt their constitutents. Among these was Senator Henrik Shipstead, doughty Farmer-Laborite from Minnesota, who succeeded in having eliminated a tax upon fur coats which he said were a necessity in the frigid clime of his home state. This action lopped off $2,000,000 from the estimated revenue.

Income Tax Credit Loses.

Senator F. Ryan Duffy [Dem., Wis.] was unsuccessful in a proposal to grant individuals and corporations a 10 per cent credit on their federal income taxes, according to the amount of state income taxes they had paid. This would have decreased the estimated revenue by some $75,000,000, it was disclosed, and the senate agreed that that was too high a price to pay to appease the state-income-tax-paying citizens of Wisconsin and the 25 other states where state income taxes are levied.

A "take the profits out of war" amendment offered by Senator Gerald P. Nye [Rad. Rep., N. D.], was referred to a special committee which was granted an appropriation of $15,000 to carry on an investigation. Senator Nye proposed that, in time of war, the income tax of all persons receiving less than $10,000 annually be doubled. The incomes of all persons receiving more than $10,000 a year would practically be confiscated, 98 per cent being taken by the government under the amendment.

"This is practical pacifism," argued Senator Nye. "It does away with the prospect of profits in time of war."

"It is promotion of peace by the demonetization of war," assented Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg [Rep., Mich.]. But the senate decided to avoid a vote upon the subject at this time.

Two more important amendments will be voted upon tomorrow before the senate passes the bill. They are the La Follette proposal to publish income tax returns and a proposal to tax certain classes of securities which are tax exempt at present.

DOUBT IF BODY FOUND IN OHIO IS GANGSTER'S

After an exchange of information yesterday police of both Chicago and Dayton, O., became convinced that the body recovered from the Miami river near Dayton was not that of Frank ["Porky"] Dillon, Touhy gangster, as had at first been believed.

Chief of Detectives William Shoemaker sent pictures and fingerprints of Dillon to the Ohio city, but reported that a telephone information of fingerprints indicated that the body was not Dillon's.

The Touhy gangster has been the object of a nation-wide search since the kidnaping of John Factor.

AIRMEN RESCUE LAST CASTAWAY ON FLOATING ICE

Perils of 102 Described by Soviet Leader.

MOSCOW, April 12.—(AP)—A saga of the sea, unparalleled in modern times, reached a dramatic conclusion tonight when two soviet pilots rescued the last six persons of a party of 102 marooned on an Arctic sea ice floe two months ago.

The aviators a few hours earlier had conquered hazards of the far north and brought 22 to the mainland at Cape Van Karem, Siberia, from the dangerous ice pack on which they sought refuge when their ship, the Cheliuskin, was crushed in the ice Feb. 13 and sank.

The perils of the castaways were described by M. Ushakoff, who flew to the camp April 7 to supervise relief operations.

Lived in Heated Cabins.

"When I arrived at the camp, surrounded by floating ice blocks, the Cheliuskiners were living in heated and lighted log barracks," he said. "But despite their reasonably comfortable quarters they existed as if on the slope of a volcano.

"The camp was faced with constant dangers. On April 9 drifting icebergs bore down on the camp with a tremendous roar, crashing ice and destroying the barracks and a motor boat.

"They wrecked a landing field under the airplane of the flyer Slepneff, who had damaged a strut in landing two days before. The plane was moved safely, however, to a new landing field.

Party Displays Courage.

"The whole party displayed courage and fortitude despite that crushing of the ice, which began at 2 p. m., confronting the castaways with the greatest peril since the Cheliuskin sank, and continued throughout the day."

Pilots Vodopianoff and Doronin, who effected the rescue of the last survivors, had flown by easy stages from Khabarovsk to Cape Van Karem, from which point they made their flights.

Fifteen rescued persons have already been sent by dog teams to Cape Weller, whence they will be conveyed to Providence bay. There they will embark on a soviet steamer for Khabarovsk or Vladivostok. In the last two days 84 have been saved from the floe.

Praise for Aviators.

Ushakoff praised the aviators who participated in the rescue, for "under changing weather conditions each unsuccessful flight may mean death."

The rescuing of the last members meant that exactly one day less than two months after their craft sank with the loss of one life all of the surviving company had been saved by flyers who braved subzero weather and hazards of a hitherto unexplored route.

Before April 7 ten women and two children had been saved and the aviator and mechanic attached to the Wrangel iland expedition had made their way in their own plane to the mainland.

TWO GREAT LAKES FLYERS ESCAPE IN LANDING CRASH

Two flyers from the Great Lakes Naval Training station narrowly escaped death yesterday when their plane crashed into a house near Mendota, Minn. The two men were making a training flight. They are Ensign John Hurley of 5442 Christiana avenue, pilot, and Chester Beaman, aviation ordnance man. The plane struck the corner of a house and one wing of the ship was badly damaged. Ensign Hurley said that the accident occurred during a forced landing when the ship ran out of gasoline.

50 American Aviators Sail; to Enter Colombia Air Corps

New York, April 12.—[Special.]—Fifty American aviators—pilots and mechanics—sailed for Colombia today to enter the Colombian air service.

With six month contracts guaranteeing pilots a minimum of $500 a month and mechanics $200 a month and expenses, the group left on the United Fruit company's Colombia. Their destination is Puerto Colombia.

There were about twenty commercial and former army pilots in the group and some thirty mechanics.

There was even a "war bride"—a Hempstead girl who was married yesterday to one of the pilots.

Secrecy Shrouds Departure.

Secrecy covered virtually every detail of the departure of the aviators and their mission.

The name of Bernt Balchen was at the head of the passenger list, but no one would say definitly that it was the Byrd expedition pilot; several declared he was a mechanic; others said he was not a member of the group, and Balchen could not be found to straighten out the confusion.

J. L. [Sunny] Trunk, a commercial pilot, who by virtue of an armful of cables and official looking papers was labeled with the title of major domo of the party, insisted the contracts with the South American republic called only for instruction service and that in case of war "everything is off."

Quote Official Sources.

Dispatches from Colombia, however, quoted official sources to the effect that the contracts bound the pilots to active war duty in case of resumption of hostilities between Peru and Colombia.

These dispatches said the Americans would be assigned to the protection of Colombia's rights in border territory claimed by both Colombia and Peru, but recently awarded Colombia by the league of nations.

LEAGUE DODGES ACTION

GENEVA, April 12.—(AP)—The league of nations advisory committee was informed today that Colombia and Peru are preparing for war over the Leticia border area, but that body sidestepped positive action in the hope that the two nations might conciliate their dispute.

Dr. Francisco Castillo Najera, Mexican ambassador to France, advised the commission that Peru and Colombia are purchasing armaments and that negotiations conducted in Rio de Janeiro are unlikely to be successful by June, when a league commission's mandate over Leticia expires.

Colombia Demands Ownership.

Dr. Eduardo Santos, Colombian representative here, presented a note from his government demanding a categorical decision by the league giving Colombia full sovereignty over the area by June. He warned that if "events happen which entail serious consequences on the American continent, Colombia will not be responsible."

The advisory committee adjourned its meeting until the end of the month.

Efforts will be made to encourage the Rio de Janeiro conferences in order to reduce the tension to a point where Colombia and Peru will be able to reach an accord concerning the problem of the administration of Leticia by the league.

Dr. Santos said Colombia would install a garrison in the area—a jungle region on the upper Amazon considered important by Colombia because it controls an outlet to the Atlantic—strong enough to protect the security of all inhabitants.

Will Not Tolerate League.

He asserted his government would accept no prolongation of the league mandate established last year.

Capt. Anthony Eden of Great Britain told the committee he had been informed the negotiations at Rio de Janeiro were advancing.

Open but undeclared warfare flared in Leticia in February, 1933, after the area had been occupied by a Peruvian force in September, 1932. The nations later agreed to a truce.

[A dispatch from Rio de Janeiro said the announcement in Geneva of Colombia's refusal to extend the league mandate over the Leticia district apparently had little effect on Peruvian-Colombia peace negotiations. Conversations regarding new suggestions for a solution proceeded, the dispatch added, without definite indications as to the probable outcome.]

DETECTIVES SAIL FOR PARIS TO NAB LINDY SUSPECT

New York, April 12.—[Special.]—Two New York City detectives are on their way to Paris to arrest Stewart Donnelly, a swindler of international repute. He is wanted here on the specific charge of having fleeced James R. Kennedy, a retired steamship captain, of his life savings of $16,000 in a confidence game, and the police also would like to question him in connection with the kidnaping of the infant son of Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh.

Donnelly was convicted last October in Paris for swindling Sigmond Van Den Reis, an Amsterdam business man.

When he was arrested Donnelly is said to have had in his possession several of the bills that made up the $50,000 tossed over the wall of a Bronx cemetery by John F. [Jafsie] Condon, who believed he was dealing with the kidnapers. The French police, however, denied that they found any of the money believed to have been paid to the kidnapers when they arrested Donnelly.

Nurse Sent to Bridewell on Tipsy Driving Charge

Miss Lillian Dewey, 36 years old, of 4740 Maiden avenue, a nurse, was sentenced to 10 days in the bridewell and fined $100 by Judge J. William Brooks yesterday on a charge of driving while intoxicated. Witnesses testified that Miss Dewey had driven her automobile in a zig-zag course on Addison street, striking several cars. In passing sentence, Judge Brooks remarked that a nurse, more than the ordinary citizen, should realize the danger to life and property of driving while intoxicated.

FOUR DEPUTY SHERIFS BEATEN IN FARM FIGHT

21 Others Then Capture Three Minnesotans.

Blue Earth, Minn., April 12.—(AP)—Four deputy sherifs were hurt and three persons are in jail facing charges of resisting an officer following hand to hand fights in which tear gas was used. The sherif and 25 aids evicted a family from their farm 8 miles southwest of Blue Earth today.

Roy Woolery, farmer, his son, Robert, and Emil Koskovich, were jailed. Sherif W. H. Keigley's deputies moved Woolery's possessions out of the home while 100 to 150 neighbors watched.

Meets Locked Doors.

Holding the mortgage on the farm is Verne Pugsley who, two months ago, engaged in a fight with Woolery on Blue Earth's main street.

Pugsley subsequently instituted eviction proceedings, and in Justice court the eviction was upheld a month ago.

At 6:30 a. m., Sherif Keigley accompanied by 25 deputies, went to the Woolery home. When he asked admittance, the doors were locked.

The sherif ordered the deputies to break down the door. As they did so Sherif Keigley shot tear gas into the kitchen.

Sherif Gases Own Men.

The gas fumes were so strong that the deputies were forced to retire. Richard, Woolery's second son, ran to arouse neighboring farmers.

As the gas fumes cleared, the deputies reëntered. They encountered Woolery, his son and Koskovich. Hand to hand fights ensued. Finally the three were subdued and taken to the county jail at Blue Earth.

WIRT CENTER OF NEW CONFLICTS IN BOTH HOUSES

McGugin Gagged When He Tries Defense.

me, or from the department of justice. You did none of these things.

"You could easily have learned before making these charges against a man of unblemished character and reputation that during the entire period of the war he was at the head of the Gary schools every day of the war except the time he spent as a consultant with Mayor Mitchel of New York. You could also have learned that he patriotically supported our government in its conflict with Germany.

"You have done Dr. Wirt an irremediable wrong and an incalculable injury. One thing you can still do, which will, in some degree, mitigate the injury. You can, upon the floor of the house, retract every reflection you have made upon Dr. Wirt, and you can apologize to him and to the house for your statement.

"Representing Dr. Wirt, I am asking you to do so, and to do so today."

Charges Changing of Record.

Congressman McGugin in the speech which he was prevented from delivering, charged that Mr. Bulwinkle had changed the text of the record to alter his statement about Dr. Wirt.

The official stenographer's report, which Mr. McGugin said he copied from the original transcript, showed Mr. Bulwinkle had said:

"I would have brought out from him the fact that during the war on account of his pro-German activities, he was confined in the jail at Gary, Ind."

When the speech was reported in the record, Mr. McGugin said, it had been changed to read:

"I would have brought out from him the fact that during the war, whether or not on account of his pro-German activities, he was confined in the jail at Gary, Ind."

Mr. McGugin said the change was "only hedging," and presenting a "wholly unfair statement."

The Kansan said it was like asking a man if he had stopped beating his wife.

Gary Defends Wirt.

Included in the McGugin statement were copies of telegrams sent him by seven leading citizens of Gary, all of whom defended Dr. Wirt as a patriot of unquestioned high character. The seven are Mayor Roswell O. Johnson, Harry L. Arnold, banker; H. B. Snyder, editor; William F. Hodges, war mayor and lawyer; the Rev. Thomas Jansen; H. S. Norton, president, Gary Commercial club, and Harry Hall.

The objection which prevented Congressman McGugin from making his speech came from Representative William T. Schulte, a Democrat from Hammond, Ind., in the home territory of Dr. Wirt.

Secretary Ickes accompanied his disclosure of facts concerning the public works application, in which Dr. Wirt figured, with sarcastic references to the educator personally.

"As an economist," Mr. Ickes said, "the good doctor is a splendid ventriloquist. People ought to be careful these days whom they invite in for dinner. Hostesses might have their guests sign waivers before sitting down, so they won't later be telling congressional committees about the table talk.

"Dr. Wirt wasn't afraid of any revolution when he wanted government money to buy land or sand from him."

Sought Two Millions.

Mr. Ickes said that the county board in Porter county, Indiana, had asked for two million dollars of public works money to build an amusement park, steamship docks, yacht harbor, airport, and farm produce center, to be located on the lake shore sand dunes east of Gary.

Dunes Acres, Inc., of which Dr. Wirt was president, had given the county options on 2,000 feet on the lake front land at a price of $100,000, Mr. Ickes said. Public works engineers turned the project down as nonliquidating, and the interior secretary made it plain he considered the whole project impractical.

Wirt Denies Application.

Explaining his connection with Dunes Acres, its purpose, and development, Dr. Wirt tonight said:

"I have not been interested and no one else connected with Dunes Acres, Inc., referred to by Secretary Ickes, has been interested in securing any money from any federal, state or local government for any sort of project.

"For several years efforts had been made to preserve the scenic beauty of the famous Lake Michigan beach dune region in the adjoining county of Porter, east of Gary, as a state or national park. Finally the state of Indiana obtained about half of the desired lake front and three of the dunes. The remaining area, including seven dunes, was doomed to be despoiled by encroaching industry.

"A few public spirited citizens in Gary organized Dunes Acres, Inc., twelve years ago to preserve the part of the region that had not been taken by the state, and I was elected president of the corporation.

Not Money Making Scheme.

"This was not a money making project, but we hoped to make it self-liquidating by leasing residential lots on the parts not desirable for park purposes. The seven dunes and the entire beach frontage were set aside for public parks. As the proceeds from residential lot leases made it possible to pay for the dunes, they were deeded to the community.

"No promotion fees, no dividends whatsoever have been paid, and only absolutely essential salaries have been paid for operation and development of the area. I have carried all executive and administrative burdens for a yearly salary of $2,500, out of which I have had to pay all office, stenographic and clerical services.

"The corporation obtained a 99 year lease on the property with an agreed purchase price of $600 an acre and an annual rental of $30 an acre plus the taxes until the land was purchased. The land has been carried for 12 years and the carrying charges with interest and taxes now amount to about $400 an acre.

Leased to Developers.

"Last December some people in Porter county proposed to develop, with the aid of federal funds, a clubhouse and yacht basin, with recreation features, on a part of this property. They asked Dunes Acres, Inc., for an option. This we gave for 90 days, on the basis of $1,000 an acre, for 100 acres with 2,000 feet of lake frontage. This lake frontage is within 30 miles of the downtown business district of Chicago.

"No one connected with Dunes Acres, Inc., is directly or indirectly connected with the company which asked for the public works money. I never mentioned the subject to any federal or state official. In fact, the option was given by Dunes Acres, Inc., because it was desired by the public. The option price was based on the first cost of the land plus the carrying charges for interest and taxes.

"Neither I nor other directors of Dunes Acres, Inc., knew anything about this project until last December, and we know very little yet. The option expired Feb. 15, 1934, but would probably be renewed if public interest required it. We have always been under the impression that we were performing a public service in trying to preserve the part of the region which the state of Indiana did not include in the state park."

HARVARD PAPER ASKS WIRT TO GIVE VIEWS AT ANNUAL BANQUET

Cambridge, Mass., April 12.—[Special.]—Dr. William A. Wirt has been invited to air his views at Harvard next month.

The Harvard Crimson, daily undergraduate publication, today announced it had wired Dr. Wirt, asking him to come here next month to speak at the Crimson's annual anniversary dinner. They asked him to talk at their banquet "on the subject of your recent investigation of the brain trust."

No answer had been received from Dr. Wirt late tonight, but the student editors were hopeful he would accept their invitation. The banquet is to be held some time after May 10.

JEFFERSONIANS ARE INVITED TO SWING TO G. O. P.

Fish Says Radicals Betray Democratic Voters.

Schenectady, N. Y., April 12.—(AP)—Representative Fish [Rep., N. Y.] sounded a call tonight for "constitutional and Jeffersonian Democrats" to join the ranks of the Republicans "when they get ready to turn away from governmental regimentation and control."

Declaring that "it does not take much foresight or courage to predict that the Democratic administration will be taken bag and baggage into state socialism if the brain trusters have their way," Fish told a group of young Republican clubs.

Sees Class Hatred Cultivated.

"The unquestioned right to ownership of private property is being continually challenged and undermined by various socialistic members of the brain trust and for the first time in American political life class hatred is being cultivated and broadcast from Washington."

Socialism, said Fish, was not "voted into power in the last presidential election. If the American people had wanted socialism they would have voted for Norman Thomas who received less than a million votes."

Yet, added the representative, "there is no question but that left wing radicals and socialists are high up in the councils of the administration. The Democratic voters have been betrayed."

Shed Crocodile Tears.

Fish said "it is amusing, watching and listening, to the Democrats shedding crocodile tears and praising Thomas Jefferson.

"Those principles for which Democrats have fought and bled for one hundred and thirty-five years have been knocked into a cocked hat by this administration. And I am inclined to think that Jeffersonian Democrats and constitutional Democrats will not relinquish their principles over night in favor of state socialism and will register an emphatic opposition at their first opportunity."

WYOMING OIL TOWN CHANGES OWNERS FOR PRICE OF $1,775,000

Rawlins, Wyo., April 11.—(AP)—The town of Parco, Wyo., with its attractive stucco dwellings, handsome business buildings, modern hotel, paved streets, and fine lawns, was purchased today by the Consolidated Oil company—all for $1,775,000.

The town was bid in at an auction ordered by the Federal District court to satisfy creditors' claims against the Producers and Refiners company, now in receivership.

Other Carbon county properties of the company, consisting of pipe lines and a refinery at Parco, were purchased by the Consolidated company for $1,151,323. Stocks of oil and products will be sold later.

The Producers Refining company was organized by Frank E. Kistler, Denver oil man. He founded the little city. All the buildings are of pink stucco in the Spanish style of architecture.

CHINA CHARGES JAPS AND BRITISH BACK CIVIL WAR

Joins Russia in West to End Fighting.

BY JOHN POWELL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

SHANGHAI, April 13.—[Friday.]—The Chinese government is engaged secretly in organizing a strong military expedition into Sinkiang province—Chinese Turkestan—for the purpose of attempting to suppress civil warfare, according to Japanese military authorities today. The civil war is alleged to have been instigated by rival native armies receiving soviet Russian and British backing.

The Chinese expedition, consisting of several hundred trucks, 1,000 mixed camel and horse cavalry, and several regiments of infantry with artillery and machine gun detachments, are being outfitted in Shansi and Suiyuan provinces, while 300 Chinese and Russian chauffeurs are being recruited and trained here. The government also is reported to have purchased 10,000 cases of gasoline.

Cabinet Members in Charge.

The motor transport expedition leader is Gen. Huang Shao, Nanking minister of interior, who has been at Kweisui, capital of Suiyuan province, for several weeks.

Chinese authorities feel that unless Nanking makes a stand to reassert Chinese authority, the entire western territories, including Sinkiang, Sikang or Kokonor, and western Szechwan are certain to go the way of Manchuria. The Chinese believe international rivalries involving Great Britain, Afghanistan, India, Tibet, and Soviet Russia have stirred up a hornet's nest of intrigue affecting the people of central Asia.

Claim British Puppet Beaten.

The Chinese and Russians charge there is Anglo-Japanese collusion operating through Inner Mongolia and Tibet. They further allege the British and Japanese plan the creation of another buffer state in central Asia completely separating Chinese and soviet territories.

The Russians claim that Gen. Ma Crun-ying, an alleged British puppet, was defeated and driven back at Kashgar while Chinese troops are holding the towns of Aksu, Kucha, and Turfan, located in western and central Singkiang. These Chinese troops consist of detachment which fled from Manchuria into soviet territory at the time of the Japanese occupation, from where they were transported over the Turk-Siberian railway and permitted to enter Sinkiang.

Since a large section of the Sinkiang population is Mohammedan, the Russians charge that the British are fostering a Pan-Turkish movement in central Asia among Turkish emigres hostile to modern Turkey.

WARNS AMERICAN WOMEN OF REDS' PERIL TO HOMES

Princess Cantacuzene Talks to Auxiliary.

BY KATHERINE KELLEY.

Princess Julia Cantacuzene of Washington, a granddaughter of President Ulysses S. Grant, in her capacity as national defense chairman of the American Legion auxiliary yesterday called on American women to protect their country and their homes against contamination from communism. She spoke at the morning and afternoon sessions of the annual national defense conference of the Illinois department of the auxiliary in the Medinah Michigan Avenue club.

The princess, who was born in the White House and who in later years was among the first to organize for national defense, also warned in her morning talk that this country has been drifting from its ideals of family and church; intimated that high officials have come to disregard the constitution, and charged that citizens no longer assume their governmental responsibilities.

Traces Red Development.

In her afternoon address Princess Cantacuzene first traced the development of communism in Russia where she lived many years, and its international growth which has come, she declared, to threaten the United States.

"The Communist party in the United States pretends to be on a par with the Republican and Democratic parties, but, unlike them, pays no allegiance to the American flag," she said. "Its flag is red and its anthem the song of the Internationale. The Communist party is not working to reestablish better government, but to build a republic under a central government in Moscow.

Challenge to Women.

"This is being done under our very noses and is a challenge to the American women to see that their children are not contaminated by communism, that women are not carried away by propaganda, and that men in business do not support any such movement."

If the women ask for adequate national defense and attempt to protect their homes and churches they will be doing a woman's work in supporting their government, the princess concluded.

Capt. Halsey Powell of the Great Lakes Naval Training station officers and W. R. Matheny of the Illinois National Defense council were among other speakers who advocated a stronger national defense.

HEAD OF CLOSED BANK GUILTY OF MISUSING FUNDS

Los Angeles, Cal., April 12.—(AP)—Richard L. Hargreaves, former president of the defunct First National bank of Beverly Hills, was convicted by a federal jury tonight on ten counts of a sixteen count indictment charging misapplication of funds and making false reports of the bank's condition to the federal controler of the currency. He was acquitted on one count and the jury disagreed on the other five.

Many film celebrities and society leaders of the city were customers of Hargreaves' bank. He is the former husband of Grace Bryan, daughter of the late William Jennings Bryan, and is now married to Helen Ferguson, former motion picture actress.

William Jennings Bryan Jr. appeared as a character witness for Hargreaves, stating they both were born in Lincoln, Neb., and had known each other many years.

County Board to Make Forest Preserves Dry

The county's forest preserve districts will be dry as far as the sale of beer and liquor is concerned, it was decided yesterday at a special committee meeting of the county commissioners. The committee members, headed by Commissioner Homer J. Byrd, voted to recommend at the next board meeting that concessionaires in the forest preserves be denied the privilege of selling alcoholic beverages.

SWANSON AID'S O. K. ON LAUNDRY CONTRACT TOLD

Kaplan Relates Sanction at Racket Trial.

BY GEORGE WRIGHT.

The contract between the laundry wagon drivers' union and the laundry plant owners on which the prosecution of Ald. Oscar Nelson, one of the eighteen defendants in the racket conspiracy trial is based almost entirely, was sanctioned as legal by the state's attorney's office under the régime of John A. Swanson, testimony in the Criminal court of Chief Justice Philip J. Finnegan yesterday indicated.

Attorney Morris I. Kaplan, who spent his fourth day on the witness stand as a defendant, asserted that the contract was submitted to Attorney Charles A. Lounsbury, who was an assistant state's attorney in charge of racketeering investigations. Attorney Kaplan gave his testimony while under cross-examination by Assistant State's Attorney Thomas Dodd Healy.

Tells of Contract Episode.

The decision on the legality of the contract, which provided that laundry owners should donate $1 a week for each truck they operated in order that the unions could organize the hand laundries and have them charge the same prices as the other laundries, came when Attorney Edward R. Litsinger appeared at the state's attorney's office to protest against the contract in behalf of some laundry owners, according to Kaplan's story. Kaplan said he, too, was called to the prosecutor's office, as attorney for the laundry owners association.

"Isn't it a fact Litsinger was complaining about the illegality of the contract?" Prosecutor Healy asked Kaplan.

"It is not a fact, and it is about as correct as some of the other statements you have been making here," retorted Kaplan. "I do not know what Mr. Litsinger wanted. He talked for two hours, but I could not figure out what he wanted."

It was following this tilt that Kaplan said Lounsbury, as prosecutor, gave the contract legal sanction.

Hot Verbal Encounters.

The third day of Kaplan's cross-examination was marked by hot verbal exchanges between the witness and Prosecutor Healy. Defense Attorneys Benedict J. Short and Floyd Thompson frequently joined in the legal bickering. As a result, the jury, which has become accustomed to being required to walk in and out of the courtroom while the judge silenced the wrangling, was out of the courtroom yesterday more often than it was in the jury box.

"You know that you used this money to pay off Murray Humphries," shouted Prosecutor Healy at one point in the examination, as he waved a stack of checks in the direction of Kaplan.

"You are a poisonous cuss. You should know better," replied the witness, heatedly.

Checks Traced.

The checks in question, it developed, had been issued to Kaplan by the Linen Supply association. Kaplan contended that they were issued to him to finance a cut rate linen supply house in combating a gangster organization dominated by Frank [Porky] Dillon, a Touhy gangster.

The legitimate linen supply men, Kaplan explained, thought that by allowing cut rates in the same territory as that served by the gangster organization, it would be possible to drive the gangster operated firm out of business. The association, however, ultimately had to buy out the gangster outfit for $41,000, testimony brought out.

Arthur J. Canfield, head of a beverage concern bearing his name and also head of the Beverage institute, is expected to be the third defendant to take the witness stand. He is expected to start his testimony some time today.

ICKES TO ATTEND MALMIN - LARSEN INQUIRY BY BAR

Secretary of the Interior Ickes will be in Chicago before the end of the month for the hearing before the board of managers and the grievance committee of the Chicago Bar association in which he is seeking the disbarment of two lawyers. This was announced yesterday by Attorney Frederick Z. Marx, personal counsel for Ickes, who said the secretary informed him by letter that he would be present.

The defendant attorneys are Lucius J. M. Malmin, former federal judge of the Virgin Islands, and C. W. Larsen, former assistant city corporation counsel. Ickes accused them of attempting to blackmail him into obtaining political appointments for them under threat of disclosing alleged fraud on his part in a lawsuit. Malmin and Larsen retracted their charges, Ickes has revealed.

John L. Fogle, chairman of the grievance committee of the Bar association, said that the hearing would be held at Ickes' convenience. The grievance committee and the board of managers will hear the charges, sitting as commissioners of the Illinois Supreme court.

J. K. WINKLER, AUTHOR, HELD AS WOMAN BEATER

Westport, Conn., April 12.—[Special.]—John K. Winkler, well known biographer and author, and a woman who was a guest in his home in Roseville, near here, were arrested tonight after neighbors had complained to state troops of a commotion in the house.

Winkler was removed to Westport town jail and held there in lieu of $1,000 bail, charged with assault and battery, breach of the peace, and drunkenness.

Trooper George Mitchel, who made the arrests, said that Winkler was beating the young woman when he entered the house and that one of her eyes was bruised and discolored. She was removed to a detention station for woman prisoners, where she described herself as Margie Moore, 27, of New York. She was held on charges of breach of the peace and drunkenness.

Winkler is the author of "Morgan the Magnificent," "John D., a Portrait in Oils," "The First Billion: The Stillmans and the National City Bank," and other well known works.

Doctor Gets Second New Trial in Abortion Death

Judge Harry B. Miller of the Criminal court, granted a new trial yesterday to Dr. Emil Gleitsmann, 68 years old, 3940 North Monticello avenue, partially blind physician, who was convicted recently of manslaughter in connection with an abortion. In giving the physician another chance, Judge Miller explained he did not believe that the defendant had received a fair trial. The case was reassigned. Dr. Gleitsmann is accused of causing the death of Mary Colbert. Tried last year, he was found guilty of murder. He won a new trial, and the manslaughter conviction resulted at the second trial.

SENATORS ACT TO TAKE PROFIT OUT OF WAR

Washington, D. C., April 12.—(AP)—With a view to shaping legislation to "take the profit out of war," the senate today ordered an investigation into the manufacture and trafic in arms and munitions by a special committee of seven.

The inquiry, proposed by Senators Nye [Rep., N. D.] and Vandenberg [Rep., Mich.], will be conducted next fall and will seek ways of making more stringent control of war implements in both the domestic and foreign trade. The advisability of creating a government monopoly in armaments will be one of the things gone into.

The resolution was regarded as certain of passage, but action on it today was by pure accident. Nye was proposing an amendment to the tax bill to raise income taxes 100 per cent and to conscript 98 per cent of all individual income over $10,000 in time of war.

Chairman Harrison of the finance committee said he would consent to passage of the inquiry resolution and have the tax amendment made one of the subjects of investigation if Nye withdrew the amendment. He did.

Seize Confessed Bandit in Slaying of Salesman

Frank B. Pozdow, 18 years old, 500 Fullerton parkway, was held by Summerdale police yesterday in connection with the slaying of Paul Closius, 55 years old, 2050 Berwyn avenue, salesman. Closius was shot down by a robber as he was putting his car in the garage at the rear of his home Wednesday night. He died shortly afterwards. Pozdow, who, according to police, carried an empty revolver when arrested nearby, admitted he was a bandit, but denied robbing or shooting Closius. Ballistic tests were to be made of Pozdow's weapon.

LOSS OF WELFARE WORK BRINGS NEW CHURCH PROBLEM

Function of Protestantism Goes Unanswered.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Disturbing things are happening to churches and communities because state and secular agencies have seized practically all welfare functions previously controled by churches, it was agreed yesterday by Presbyterian and Congregational welfare leaders who met at Laird Community house, 1838 West Division street.

The meeting was adjourned after four hours of discussion with one question unanswered. This question, to be discussed at a later meeting, according to the announcement of the chairman, Dr. Henry Seymour Brown, of the Presbyterian extension board, is "What is to be the function of the Protestant church?"

Development of Welfare Work.

Yesterday's discussion considered how the development of welfare institutions under governmental management and control, such as emergency relief and charity agencies, playgrounds, public health systems, and general education, "helps or hinders the work of our churches and institutions." In summing up the discussion, Dr. Brown outlined the controversy now prevailing in Protestant circles over the relation of churches to welfare work and emergency relief generally.

Dr. Brown pointed to the growth of conservative and fundamentalist groups which assert that the churches' sole job is "to preach the gospel," and to save the lost from perdition. This assumes, he explained, that churches should discard responsibility for feeding and clothing the poor, administering emergency welfare and educational agencies and offering productive leisure time opportunities. On the other hand, Dr. Brown said the Protestant liberals seem to agree that churches should withdraw from the welfare field, but for an entirely different reason than that held by the fundamentalists—namely: the new conception of human rights. What is to be done about this is now Protestants' problem, he said.

Charges Waste and Graft.

Waste, burocracy, graft, and immorality were charged against municipal recreational management of public parks by the Rev. Dr. M. Nicol, pastor of the Watson Park Congregational church, in a discussion of this phase of welfare work which has been taken out of church control. The Rev. Thomas Lineweaver of the Bird Memorial Congregational church, 9135 Brandon avenue, asserted government welfare agencies are inefficient.

Miss Lorene Pacey of Howell Neighborhood house, 1831 South Racine avenue, reviewed the history of this shift of welfare work from churches to the state which has shorn Protestant churches of most of their welfare functions. She declared that the movement began 40 years ago and has been encouraged both by the churches and the public.

"No longer is it strongly felt that food and shelter relief, recreational and educational facilities, medical, dental, and psychiatrical care should be held out as a special dispensation of church and private individuals to the unfortunate victims of society," Miss Pacey explained. "Indeed those needs are now felt quite generally to be based on those certain inalienable rights which belong to citizens of the state. Hence food, shelter, clothing, medical care, education, and leisure time opportunities are things which the states supply when natural sources fail.

Consider Type of Service.

"I do not mean that government agencies are doing this job adequately or as well as private agencies have done them at their best; nor do I deny the great dangers involved with anything which political powers undertake in this country. However, as we make adjustment to this new feeling about the rights of man, it will be good for us to consider whether we have rendered service to our brothers just because we had the means of being generous or because we felt they had a right to that service and a great deal more which we could not give as well."

Miss Pacey said the new function of church social service work would be that of "a connecting link between our neighbors and government agencies, supplying the intermediary information, advice, and encouragement."

Dawes and Lohr Go to Capital in Interest of Fair Bills

BY EARL MULLIN.

Rufus C. Dawes, president of A Century of Progress Exposition, and Maj. Lenox R. Lohr, general manager, yesterday departed for Washington to appear before a congressional committee considering two bills providing for federal and foreign participation in the 1934 Fair.

At the same time it was expected the two officials would present evidence in refutation of charges made by Congressman Kent E. Keller [Dem., Ill.], chairman of the house library committee, that the Fair was discriminating against Democrats in the giving of jobs.

Deny Political Favoritism.

Officials of the Exposition, in the absence of Dawes and Lohr, would not discuss the situation for publication. However, they said, the policy of the Fair organization had always been one of paying no attention to politicians and their demands. Neither Republicans nor Democrats, they said, had been given jobs merely because some politician requested them.

Keller charged in Washington on Wednesday that two men for whom he requested employment had been refused jobs. Other Democrats, he said, had met with the same difficulty. Officials of the Fair admitted this was probably true, but said that Republicans had fared in the same manner.

"The Fair is too big an enterprise," one official said, "and means too much to the country at large to use it as a political football. No discrimination has been shown any one, as the records will show."

It was learned yesterday from Moscow dispatches, and partly confirmed in Chicago, that a movement is under way to bring the Russian crown jewels to Chicago for exhibition in conjunction with the diamond exhibit. The jewels, estimated in value from $50,000,000 to $250,000,000, are under constant guard in Moscow and have never been withdrawn for foreign exhibition.

Although the actual value is not known it is not believed that the entire collection can be brought to this country for exhibition because of prohibitive insurance rates. The exhibit this year, as was the case in the 1933 Fair, will be under the constant guard of a machine gun detachment, but even with these precautions probably only a portion of the collection will be displayed.

Russia to Widen Exhibit.

One of the moving interests in the proposed exhibit, it was learned, is the Amtorg Trading corporation, official soviet representatives. Particular interest is attached to the exhibit because of the little chance that Russia will have an official exhibit at the Fair. Russian commercial interests are also taking an interest in the diamond exhibit and will probably try to broaden the scope of their participation so that other phases of Russian life may be represented.

Negotiations were under way yesterday for an exhibition of the bicycle world, which, because of renewed interest in this sport, has expressed a desire to display models, sport clothing and a history of the wheel.

KIDNAP BUSINESS MAN; TAKE KEYS; RANSACK OFFICE

Martin Polakow, 39 years old, 558 Aldine avenue, secretary of the Fishermen's Coöperative association, Fulton street and Union avenue, reported to police last night that he was kidnaped by two men and a woman, driven out to Morton Grove, and robbed of his office keys and some business papers.

Acting on this information, Lieut. Harry O'Donnell and a squad from the Des Plaines street station visited Polakow's office and discovered that some one had ransacked the place and removed records from the desk and files.

Polakow said he was kidnaped near his home. At the time, he said, he was returning from a downtown hotel where he had expected to meet the representative of a man whom he is suing for $3,000,000. The representative did not show up. During the ride with the two men and woman out to Morton Grove, according to his story, they discussed him and his business.

20 Customers Menaced by Gunmen Robbing Store

Two gunmen stole $365 last night in a robbery on the Feltman & Curme shoe store at 3229 Lincoln avenue. Roy Mohr, 3345 North Marshfield avenue, the manager; eight salesmen, two girl clerks, and twenty customers, including several women, were menaced. One of the robbers threatened to "blow out the brains" of any one who resisted.

MELLON STILL DEFYING U. S. ON INCOME TAXES

Others Accused in Drive Sue for Peace.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Wasington, D. C., April 12.—[Special.]—Andrew W. Mellon, former secretary of the treasury and ambassador to England, still is defying the Roosevelt administration on alleged income tax frauds although others caught in the tax drive are suing for peace.

Thomas Sidlo, wealthy Cleveland attorney for a national string of newspapers, was one of the first to capitulate to the tax drive, Attorney General Homer S. Cummings revealed today. Mr. Sidlo, cited to an Ohio grand jury, agreed to pay all the back taxes demanded by the government, interest on them, and the legal 50 per cent penalty rather than face the litigation.

Walker Ignores U. S.

Although he was cited to a grand jury at the same time that Mr. Sidlo was, Mr. Mellon has made no peace overtures, it was established today. Neither has James J. Walker, playboy ex-mayor of New York, nor has Thomas S. Lamont, son of the Morgan partner, Thomas W. Lamont, made any compromise offers, it is believed, although they, too, were cited.

Attorney General Cummings refused to discuss the Mellon case at all. The Pittsburgh grand jury to which Mr. Mellon has been cited does not sit until next month. Mr. Mellon has denied any irregularity in his tax returns.

Many Offer to Settle.

The attorney general declared that he had several hundred tax cases in which charges of fraud were involved and that many of the principals in the cases had offered to settle on the full basis demanded by the government just as Mr. Sidlo has done. Some of the offers have been accepted, thereby foreclosing any possibility of further criminal prosecution by the government. All the settlements, the attorney general said, were on the basis of payment of all the federal claims, plus interest and the penalty tax of 50 per cent.

Many of the cases allegedly involving fraud arise out of "wash sales," Attorney General Cummings explained. The term was used, he said, to cover any establishment of fictitious losses for the purpose of deducting these fake losses from taxable income.

LAKE CARRIERS GRANT 10% WAGE INCREASE TO ALL EMPLOYES

Cleveland, O., April 12.—(AP)—Ten per cent wage increases for all classes of men employed on boats operated by the Lake Carriers' association were announced tonight.

In addition, the association has recommended to its members that they increase the crews of the ships. Capt. Joseph S. Wood, chairman of the association's executive committee, said this will mean "in most instances a reduction of hours, with eight hour watches."

If all 400 boats operated by members of the association are placed in service this season, approximately 13,000 men will benefit by the increases. Last year only about 200 of the carriers plied the lakes. Captains and chief engineers are included in the advance.

ADMITS PERJURY AS WITNESS FOR CONVICTED PAIR

Battery Man Confesses Fake Burglars' Alibi.

Gus Benario, 52 years old, 4814 West Adams street, part owner of a west side battery shop, admitted to Judge Harry B. Miller in the Criminal court yesterday that he gave perjured testimony while a defense alibi witness in the case of two youths charged with burglary. He admitted that he perjured himself "because his partner asked him to help a friend out of a jam."

Judge Miller entered an attachment for contempt of court against Benario, set his bond at $500, and continued the hearing until April 17. By that time state's attorney's police hope to have questioned Bud Ford, Benario's partner in the Ford Battery shop, 4828 West Lake street, who is reported to be in St. Louis.

Two Defendants Sentenced.

The case in which Benario admitted he perjured himself was that of Albert Novak, 22 years old, and Walter Kowalski, 21 years old, both of whom were found guilty of burglary and sentenced to one year to life in the penitentiary. They were accused of burglarizing the home of Christian Vaughan, 7406 Calumet avenue, on Dec. 31.

Kowalski was allegedly in the apartment above Vaughan's when the latter returned home and was charged with shooting Vaughan in the arm in the struggle which preceded his capture. Benario, as an alibi witness, swore that Kowalski was working in his battery shop at the time of the burglary and produced a time clock card by way of proving his statement.

The jury, however, discounted this testimony and returned a verdict of guilty against the youths.

Confesses, Blames Partner.

Following the trial Judge Miller and Assistant State's Attorney Richard Regan instituted an investigation and Benario subsequently was taken into custody. He admitted, after brief questioning, that his story was false and that Kowalski had never been employed by him. He then placed the blame on Ford. The defense attorney in the case was Frank A. McDonnell.

The Chicago crime commission revealed that Benario had twice before appeared in the rôle of a defense alibi witness in criminal cases. On Dec. 21, 1921, he appeared on behalf of Milton Walker, charged with robbery, and on June 24, 1931, for George Nelson, also charged with robbery. Benario admitted being a witness in these cases, but declared his testimony in both instances to be true.

7,000 Danish Seamen and Firemen Strike Over Pay

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, April 12—(AP)—Seven thousand seamen and firemen went on strike today demanding wage increases of 25 per cent and shorter hours. The seamen asked an eight hour day, the firemen a six hour one.

ALE OR BEER?

"Is America Becoming an Ale-Drinking Nation?"

WE who make Drewrys Ale are asked that question again and again, probably because of the spreading demand for our own Ale. The only answer we can give is:

"That depends on the KIND of ale that the people of America are asked to drink."

A good ale takes time in its process, patience for its mellowing, integrity for its content, and prayer for its result. In fact, a good ale is a far more delicate product to handle than a good beer.

If a lot of bad ales come on the market now, just as a lot of bad beers came eight months ago, America will probably come out no better with its ales than it did with its beers.

On the other hand, if American brewers will only learn how to brew a good ale and then take time enough and have patience enough for the brewing of it, this country, at the end of its fifteen years of drought may very well become an ale-drinking instead of a beer-drinking nation.

However, it is beginning to look as if the brewers of ale were going to repeat the experience of the brewers of beer. The whole brewing industry seems to be saying to itself.

"Oh, look what Drewrys are doing! Let's QUICK make some ale!"

WASH OUT 15 MILES OF KIDNEY TUBES

Win Back Pep ... Vigor ... Vitality

Medical authorities agree that your kidneys contain 15 MILES of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. They should pour out thru the bladder 3 pints of fluid a day which contains 4 pounds of waste matter.

If you have trouble with too frequent bladder passages, with scanty amount causing burning and discomfort, the 15 MILES of kidney tubes need washing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and vitality, getting up nights, lumbago, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains and dizziness.

If kidneys don't empty 3 pints every day and get rid of 4 pounds of waste matter, your body will take up these poisons causing serious trouble. It may knock you out and lay you up for many months. Don't wait. Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS ... a doctor's prescription ... which has been used successfully by millions of kidney sufferers for over 40 years. They give quick relief and will help to wash out the 15 MILES of kidney tubes.

But don't take chances with strong drugs or so-called "kidney cures" that claim to fix you up in 15 minutes. Your common sense will tell you that this is impossible. Treatments of this nature may seriously injure and irritate delicate tissues. Insist on DOAN'S PILLS ... the old reliable relief that contains no "dope" or habit-forming drugs. Be sure you get DOAN'S PILLS at your druggist. © 1934, Foster-Milburn Co.

REFERRED TO THE GRAND JURY.

The United States Circuit Court of Appeals has upheld the rights of the neighbors who complained that their property was injured by the erection of the Forty East Oak Street apartment hotel. The court has ordered the owners to reconstruct the upper twelve stories of the building to make it conform to the set-back requirements in the city's zoning ordinance.

The neighbors had insisted in 1928 that the building as planned was not in accordance with the city's code, but their complaint was disregarded by the zoning board of appeals of the city. Thereupon the neighbors carried their fight into the courts; but while the litigation was still pending bonds were sold and the building was erected.

The court properly held that the fact that the bondholders had been once victimized did not absolve them from responsibility. They should have known how precarious their security was at the time they invested. The case seems to be one in which the state's attorney could properly interest himself. Here is a startling example of the kind of financiering which contributed so largely to the collapse of 1929. Ruthless promotion and worse investment banking combined to victimize the public. If the statute of limitations has not intervened the matter should be presented to the grand jury. There is plenty of law on the books today to punish the kind of business conduct which the Circuit Court of Appeals exposed in its opinion.

WASTEFUL TRANSPORT REGULATION.

THE TRIBUNE has taken a definite stand against further burocratic regulation of transportation. Even the stanchest advocates of government regulation must admit that whatever purposes it has accomplished, the general result has been steadily increasing transportation costs, the last thing in the world that a country the size of the United States requires. Mr. Eastman frankly admits in his reports that rates would be advanced under his general scheme of parallel regulation of all forms of transportation. The shipping board visualizes in its plan of more intensive regulation of export rates steadily increasing schedules that would eventually reduce mail subsidies to American flag vessels to the vanishing point.

Just as lack of transportation was an outstanding cause for the division of Europe into its numerous nationalities, forever quarreling among themselves over the possession of adjacent territories, so in contrast has the improvement of transportation, mainly by the railroads, made the unity and prosperity of the United States possible. The advance in transportation is indelibly recorded in the progressive increase in the size of our states from east to west. The far-flung Dominion of Canada was built around the Canadian Pacific railway, the construction of which was stipulated in its articles of federation, and another great British commonwealth in Africa is being developed and consolidated by the Cairo to the Cape railroad.

With transportation as the fundamental pillar of American unity, it behooves our government to foster the widest possible interchange of commodities as well as to promote nation-wide travel. Studies of European conditions will do us no good. Their transportation problem is not parallel to our own. We must develop an American transportation machine to annihilate distance and to contract the country—through speed and low rate levels—that will, for commercial purposes, produce as compact a nation as those of Europe.

The administration's program is to submerge the contract carrier and glorify the common carrier, a regulatory program that must eventually have the effect of localizing American industry. Common carriage, based on schedules and standards, is wasteful and clumsy. It involves the development of standard units and standard terminal facilities designed to accommodate the greatest number of commodities, but ultra-efficient for none. It promotes partially loaded boats, trucks, and trains—the carriage of goods in units not suited for their stowage and requiring excessive packaging. Contract carriage, on the other hand, promotes maximum coöperation between transportation company, shipper, and consignee, special equipment and handling facilities designed for individual commodities, and intensive use of all equipment. It is the father of our ingenious ore docks, coal docks, magnet operations, grain elevators, etc. It is the specialist as compared with the general practitioner, the expert as compared with the handy man, and the skilled artisan as compared with the jack-of-all-trades. Contract service is the life of highway and waterway transportation, and has been injected into railway transportation as far as regulation will permit, as evidenced by the fact that 89 per cent of Chicago's daily carload receipts and shipments are delivered by the railways over private sidings.

We find difficulty in reconciling Mr. Eastman's recommendations with those of his assistant, Mr. Turney. The latter proposes that all less-than-carload traffic should be handled by a railway subsidiary to produce substantial economies and rate reductions through consolidated merchandise cars—clearly the contract principle. If such wonderful results will accrue through the elimination of car waste in merchandise operation there appears no reason whatever why contracts should not logically follow to insure full trainloads. That the contracts should be made under supervision of a regulatory body is unquestioned, but no rate comparison should be permitted unless all operating conditions—volume, facilities, rapidity of equipment release, etc.—are equal.

THE WIRT INQUIRY.

The first phase of the Wirt inquiry has closed. Dr. Wirt has named the individuals to whom he ascribed the sensational remarks upon the purposes of brain trust advisers of the administration and their attitude toward Mr. Roosevelt. None is a figure of any importance in office and on that fact Democratic politicians and supporters of the New Deal will invite the public to ignore the true significance of the evidence unwittingly provided. The most ardent partisans of the administration will be glad of an excuse to do so. But the American people generally are not in a mood to dispose of the question raised by the Wirt disclosures so complacently. The tactics of the men who have controled the inquiry and attempted to get it over with and out of the way are in themselves enough to put the jury of the nation on its guard. The gagging of Dr. Wirt, the attempts to discredit his evidence by vicious and unfounded attacks upon his integrity, are not consistent with the theory that Dr. Wirt's disclosures are negligible. The truth is apparent enough from the utterances of Speaker Rainey, Representative Sabath and other veterans of the Democratic organization in congress that they are in a panic.

With reason. The significance of the remarks quoted by Dr. Wirt is not in the importance of those who made them but in the fact that they express faithfully the ideas of individuals of acknowledged authority and influence in the administration and, what is even more worth public intention, they emphasize for public reflection the meaning and tendency of the most conspicuous measures invented and fostered by leading figures of the brain trust. There is nothing quoted by Dr. Wirt, apart from the reference to the President, that is inconsistent with the recent writings of the secretary of agriculture, Wallace, and his chief assistant, Prof. Tugwell, or the utterances of the NRA's chief counselor, Mr. Richberg, or the administrator in charge of the costly folly of the Tennessee project. The insulting reference to Mr. Roosevelt may be dismissed as not representative of their attitude toward him, but when the minor figures quoted by Dr. Wirt have been contemptuously disposed of or even Dr. Wirt himself, which is not so easy, the question he has put before the American people remains for their consideration and it cannot be belittled by the sneers, the dust and dirt throwing, or the bluster of politicians in fear of their jobs.

PEN-WISE AND PWA FOOLISH.

Senator La Follette was able to spare a few minutes the other day from his advocacy of a ten billion dollar appropriation for public works to assure the senate that the excise tax on fountain pens should be confined to pens costing more than $25. The ordinary pen, such as is produced in quantity in Wisconsin factories, should not be taxed at all, he said, and the senate properly agreed with him.

Taxes destroy business, as Mr. La Follette well knows when he talks about things he understands, like fountain pens. A 25 cent tax on a $2.50 pen will result in a reduction in sales sufficient to create unemployment. Mr. La Follette refuses, however, to believe that what is true of the pen business is true of every other business.

The ten billion dollar public works program which he favors would require for its financing, if, indeed, it could be financed without completely undermining the federal credit, an increase of half a billion dollars a year in federal taxation. In the 1933 fiscal year the total income tax payments of all corporations were 394 million dollars, and the income taxes paid by all individuals were 352 million dollars. To finance his ten billion dollars of public works would require an increase of 100 per cent in corporation income taxes or a considerably larger increase in personal taxes, even allowing a substantial margin for business improvement. What that would do to the pen business and every other business in the United States is one of the things that Mr. La Follette didn't talk about.

Editorial of the Day

TALKING TO HIMSELF.

[Logan, Iowa, Observer.]

The family of the man who has been trying to think things out is becoming badly worried about his mental condition. He has formed the habit of talking to himself. As he walks along the street or about his yard he is overheard saying "NRA plus PWA equals CWA, which is twice the power of AAA," and things like that. He keeps it up constantly.

His wife reports that in his sleep he carries on long one-sided conversations. He puts questions and answers them himself.

The other night he kept his wife awake for almost an hour chattering about government financing, balancing budgets, inflation, brain trusts, bonds, crop production reduction, pig litters, cotton pickers, reciprocal tarif agreements, United States apples traded for French wine, and things like that.

"If," she quotes him as saying, "bonds of the RFC bearing 4½ per cent interest are traded on the banks for 5 per cent bonds issued by the AAA, which secured them from the REFA, which used them to finance the TVA's down south experiments in socialism, what profit will the 4 per cent bonds of the TVA yield the federal government?

"If 3¼ per cent bonds are issued to the farmers for retiring their corn and pigs, cattle and cotton, tobacco and turnips, rutabagas and rhubarb, sugar and spinach, and if the farmers sell those bonds for their face value less 3 per cent for handling and a 2 per cent charge for general overhead what would a pig litter of 14 be worth on the Chicago market on Sept. 1?"

Then, his wife reports, he answered his own problem by "I dunno, I dunno," twisting and turning about in his bed, groaning and grunting throughout the night.

He is losing sleep, weight, appetite, interest in his work, family, and community, and is wasting reams and reams of white paper on which he scribbles meaningless symbols, plus and minus signs and interrogation marks.

As said, the family is seriously worried. His wife has tried every means to switch his thinking, but without any success. Their struggle seems hopeless to them. They await only a change at Washington as being the only cure.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

WHO'S AFRAID OF THE JINX? This is Friday the 13th and what of it? Time was that on a Friday the 13th we were careful to keep our fingers crossed, carry the left hind leg of a graveyard rabbit in our pocket, turn around and run back if a black cat crossed our path and not to start on a journey. But now it's all different. Every day is a hoodoo day and Friday the 13th can't be any worse than the rest of 'em. Why, just two days ago we had Wednesday the 11th. Nobody would ever regard Wednesday the 11th as in the same class with Friday the 13th, but look what happened. On Wednesday the 11th the senate boosted the income tax 10 per cent, making 55 million more dollars that we've got to pay. Can today, Friday the 13th, do any worse than that? The answer is no, nay, nix, not; and any more negatives you can think of. So go cheerily and happily through this once much dreaded day. When every day is a hoodoo day then Friday the 13th may turn out to be a lucky day. Me, I'm going to walk under every ladder I see and I'm going to borrow the janitor's black cat and hire the beast to parade back and forth in front of me, and if I can spy a cross-eyed, red headed girl on a white horse I'll follow her seven miles. And they call this the hoodoo day! It is to laugh. And as for bewaring the Jinx, pooh! If I meet the old Jinx face to face today I'll just walk right up to him and give him a swift kick in the pants. "Jinx," I'll say, "I'm not afraid of you. I'm jinxed by experts this day and every day. Do your stuff and see if I care. Bah! and many of 'em!"

BOOK REVIEW. "On Our Way," a very handsomely got up new book with a lovely format, has come on our table along with many other lovely new books. We haven't the faintest idea what a "format" is, but all regular book reviewers in talking about the new books always speak of the "format," so we'll get in line and say that the format of "On Our Way" is certainly swell. The book is by a brand new author, a Mr. F. D. Roosevelt of Washington, D. C. It's worth reading if for nothing else than the fact that it hasn't been selected as the book of the month by any of the book of the month clubs. Books that the book of the month clubs pick out give us a pain in the neck. But people mustn't buy this book because they think it may turn out to be a sweet, darling love story, or because they can outguess the author and discover long before they get to the last chapter whether it was the dear, gentle, smiling Aunt Clementine or the wicked half-brother, Ike Snoozzle, who killed gay young Cuthbert Pugworthy. No, "On Our Way" is nothing like that. We haven't read the book, of course; no professional book reviewer does that, and there are no blurbs on the jacket saying that the author, though previously unknown, has created a monumental work that will put him immediately in the very forefront of all our very best writers. But naturally we couldn't help peeking into the book here and there in defiance of all the rules. The title, "On Our Way," naturally suggested that we're going somewhere. But where we're going you'll have to decide for yourselves. The author didn't say. So it is a sort of mystery story after all.

AND THE EDITOR who predicts a revolution within a month is simply nertz, that's all. For by that time the baseball season will be in full swing and who's going to walk out of the ball yard with the bases full and Babe Ruth coming up to bat just to mess around with barricades? Nobody. If there ever should be a revolution in this country it would have to be after the baseball, football and golf seasons are over. And it wouldn't be much of a revolution even then, as most of us would either be playing bridge or watching a basketball game. And try to get a bridge player or a basketball fan to come out and revolute. It can't be done! R. H. L.

How to Keep Well
By Dr. W. A. Evans

DO NOT AMPUTATE IN BUERGER'S.

PERSONS with Buerger's disease need not have surgical amputations if they will live properly and follow directions. Even if they develop gangrene of a foot or part of a foot it is safe to let nature take its course, provided the patient is properly guided. Nature is a better and a safer amputator for these cases than is a surgeon.

So far as the gangrene of Buerger's disease is concerned, the above advice holds true regardless of whether the gangrene is of the wet or of the dry variety.

These are the conclusions of Dr. S. Samuels. In the treatment of three hundred cases of Buerger's disease he found it necessary to amputate only once, and the reason then was not exactly applicable to most cases. In that instance spontaneous amputation was proceeding with safety to the patient and with loss of the smallest possible part of the foot, as is to be expected in spontaneous separation of gangrenous area in Buerger's disease, but it was evidence that the stump left would be a bad one. Amputation was done really to get a good stump and not because it was necessary to save life or to spare tissue.

What Dr. Samuels designates as proper treatment of Buerger's disease with gangrene in order to do away with the need of surgical amputation is as follows:

First: Rest in bed. The patient must go to bed and stay there until the physicians advise otherwise. The legs must be held horizontal all the time. This is vitally necessary.

Second: The use of tobacco must be stopped. It is rather generally known that using tobacco is especially harmful for persons with Buerger's disease. Nevertheless many people disregard advice and continue smoking in spite of the danger. If gangrene develops, orders to stop tobacco should be enforced.

Third: Dr. Samuels injects one-third of a quart of a 2 per cent salt solution into a vein every other day. This treatment is started as soon as the diagnosis is made and without waiting for gangrene to develop. The interval can be lengthened after treatment has continued for a while.

Fourth: The gangrenous area should be washed in an antiseptic footbath and dressed with sterile dressings.

Fifth: If there be pain in the affected gangrenous area, anesthetic ointments should be used locally. In some cases the pain may be great enough to demand pain relievers internally.

BATHROOM ODORS.

A tired man writes:

1. What causes the odors that old plumbing sometimes exhales? I have often noticed this odor in the bathrooms of shabby old houses and in second rate hotels where I have stopped on motor trips. There is one hotel where it is sometimes present and sometimes not. At times it is present in one room and not in an adjacent room. It seems to come from the bowl.

2. Is this odor injurious? I am a traveling salesman, and economize by occupying a room with a bowl in it, and the odor annoys me. It is a damp and musty one and very strong.

3. Would a disinfectant help?

REPLY.

1. Odors are assorted and they often work in packs. My guess is that so-called sewer gas is the principal member of the combination you complain of. Unless the bowl is trapped and the trap contains water, air from the drainage system is likely to escape into the room. Another probable feature is wet and decaying wood from the wash bowl.

2. No. Sewer air is about as harmless as any other air. The odor of soggy, decaying wood is harmless. However, such odors generally mean that the plumbing is either poorly maintained or is in bad order, and that may be dangerous.

3. No. It might substitute an agreeable odor for one that is disagreeable.

ECZEMA.

Mrs. E. B. writes: My baby is six months old. For three months he has had eczema on his face and head. At times it oozes. I feed him on skim milk, barley water, and prune juice.

REPLY.

The chances are strong that the eczema is due to milk. If you will discontinue that the eruption will disappear. A baby that age can thrive on milk substitutes that contain no milk. There are several on the market. A child that age can have soy bean milk, breads, cereals, eggs, meat soups, a little tender meat, strained vegetables, vegetable soups, fruit juices, strained fruits, and the prepared foods alluded to.

GET PHYSICIAN'S ADVICE.

R. A. B. writes: When I walk any distance I get a most severe pain in my chest, shoulders, and arm. At times I must stop five or six times in a walk of seven blocks. What shall I do?

REPLY.

Your symptoms suggest degeneration of your heart muscle with angina on exertion. Have you physician examine your heart and direct you how to live.

TO KEEP CITIZENSHIP.

Chicago, April 9.—[Friend of the People.]—I have a brother in Europe who will soon be 21 years of age. He was born in the United States. Will he lose his citizenship upon reaching 21? Please advise me how he will be able to retain his United States citizenship. J. F. L.

The person referred to will not lose his United States citizenship unless he expatriates himself by becoming naturalized in any foreign state in conformity with its laws or by taking an oath of allegiance to any foreign state. There is no affirmative act for him to take in order to retain his United States citizenship.

FRED J. SCHLOTFELDT,

NOTES.

Chicago, April 5.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A woman who was put in a state hospital last November holds notes, one for $3,000, on which the interest is due next month. A contends that it is not payable because the state could collect the interest and he could be made to pay it over. B thinks it should be paid to the estate or heirs, as there are no charges at a state hospital. Who is right? N. E. O.

If the notes are so worded or indorsed as to be payable to bearer, then it seems probable that the maker is not in a position to question the title of the person who presents them for collection.

We cannot advise further without knowing how the question arises.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

LOAN.

Chicago, April 10.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A couple went to a lawyer and secured [1] money on their home. 2. They were told that the lawyer held the first mortgage on their home [3], but they were given nothing to show that. 4. Whenever payments are made they are given plain receipts showing only the amount of the payment. When the supposed mortgage had expired, the couple were unable to pay same and asked that it be renewed. The interest payments had been paid to date and [5] $75.00 paid on the principal. In addition to extra sums added to the mortgage [6], they were refused credit for the $76.00 paid and [7] were refused duplicate papers of what they signed. The people were confused because of fear of losing their home. 8. Is there anything that can be done to secure a record of the entire transaction and to secure credit [9] for the $76.00 paid? The lawyer, who is a member of the Chicago Bar association, refuses same. R. V. D.

1. Presumably they signed papers as security for the money that they received. The usual form would be principal notes and interest coupons secured by a trust deed.
2. They ought to be able to tell what it was that they signed.
3. If they receive their money and the other party receives his security, we do not see that other receipts are necessary.
4. If the usual interest coupons were executed when the money was borrowed, then one of those coupons should be surrendered each time a payment is made.
5. This payment should be indorsed on the principal note.
6. They should employ an attorney to force this.
7. This is not customary.
8. It is not clear that a record is necessary.
9. Their chances would depend on the proof that they can make.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

From Across the Sea

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN.—Tramping the highways of Germany is to be made a respectable occupation—since hobos will be regimented and taken into temporary homes to absorb the Hitler creed, provided they are "healthy Germans thirsting for beauty and fired by wanderlust." This has been announced by the Storm Troop Leader Seidler, who plans a number of measures to reform the former tramps, who now shall become poetic wanderers.

In Bavaria 50 medium sized farms will be purchased near all great railroad crossings to give shelter to "wanderers." Three men will look after each home and its inhabitants. The farmer, the gardener, and the "home father" will be in charge. The latter, who is to be a Hitler guard or storm trooper, must educate the hitch hikers to Nazi ideas through lectures. He also will look after their health and, if necessary, send the men to a hospital or have them interned in a camp for criminals.

Purifying the roads, it is hoped, will provide jobs and homes for about 5,000 sons of farmers, 5,000 gardeners, and 5,000 storm troopers. The state will not finance this scheme. It will have to be done by the people. Artisans and small farmers who heretofore gave their pennies to wandering members of their vocations will pay the money to a special Nazi controled organization. This body will provide houses and education for tramps.

Membership in this organization is open to all. Fees range from two marks up. It is estimated that in Bavaria alone about 3,000,000 marks will be thus raised annually.

Hobos and hitch hikers are to get special passports, which they must show upon applying to a "shelter home." They may stay there free of charge for three days and nights, but if they want to stay a fourth day they must promise to do a week's work.

If a man has wandered through Germany for at least one year and has worked conscientiously whenever told to, he will receive a special passport, permitting him to go abroad, where he will be supported by the German consulates. Italy and Hungary think this is an interesting plan and have promised their coöperation.

PUBLIC CHARGES.

Oak Park, Ill., April 9.—Such facts as stated by Ruth Porter April 7 and Dr. Herman Meltzer April 8 in this column are indeed shocking. One can excuse some of the mistakes of humanity, but there should be no tolerance shown the parents who bring little ones into being without thought or regard for their welfare or maintenance. But instead of protest the public makes the way easy with free hospitalization, medical care, and a pension from the county should the father desert.

I know of a case where the couple have had seven children in eight years. The father spends part of his time in the Bridewell; most of his earnings go for booze. The mother is dirty and lazy, and yet the county supports this family, giving free care to the mother every year when she adds another burden to the taxpayer.

I would like to state a contrasting case. The writer is a spinster of middle age who forewent the joys of marriage and motherhood to take care of a frail widowed mother and two invalid aunts. Then a brother lost his job and I had another family to help. His wife gave birth to a little one and then died, he following shortly after, leaving me alone to care for the precious burden, which I have done by doing anything I could do to earn enough to sustain life. I was told I was not eligible for a mother's pension. The drunken lazy ones who can produce a child every ten months are.

And now, after all these years of struggle, due to privation and hard work and strain, I find myself on the rocks physically and am compelled to part with the only one whom I have to live for as soon as a good home is offered to her. And then I intend to apply for admittance into the county hospital, where I will probably be told that because of the enormous number of maternity cases there is no room for an old maid. DESPONDENT.

THE TURKS.

Chicago, April 4.—Those heathen Turks certainly deserve praise. Their eagerness to deliver Samuel Insull to the United States bar of justice proves that they have better sense of justice than some of our Christian rulers.

They also possess a good sense of discrimination as to who is the real criminal and who is not. History records that after the Polish revolution some of its leaders were given shelter and hospitality in Turkey. This provoked the czar of Russia, who promptly demanded their extradition. The sultan of Turkey answered: "Polish friends whom we have given shelter we will not extradite. I have ordered mobilization of army and navy."

Would that our Christian nations had such virtues. JULIAN B. OGLOZINSKI.

EYELASH BEAUTIFIERS.

Chicago, April 9.—We attach a clipping from THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE of recent data, carrying the headline, "New Cosmetics Found Danger to Eyesight," against which we strongly protest as misleading and extremely harmful to the entire eyelash beautifier industry of the United States.

The sentence stating, "There have appeared on the market preparations to be used on feminine eyelashes to make the hairs black and glossy . . . ," etc., is a blanket condemnation of eye beautification in general, when, as a matter of fact, the offending eye products mentioned are dyes, or products containing dyes [as contrasted with harmless mascaras that contain no dyes], and represent only about one-tenth of 1 per cent of the eyelash beautifier business.

Mascara, which is an absolutely harmless, nonsmarting water color, is applied with nothing other than pure water and a little brush, and is relied upon by 99.9 per cent of the women who use eyelash beautifiers, but many of your readers failing to sense the distinction between dangerous dyes and harmless mascaras, the chief result of articles such as the one you printed is to indict the entire industry, frightening away great numbers of users, even though they have suffered no harm nor are in any danger.

T. L. WILLIAMS.

A COMPARISON.

Chicago, April 5.—Harold L. Ickes, secretary of the interior and chief dispenser at the New Deal's easy money fountain, was quoted as saying that Congressman James Simpson Jr. "is and will be merely a faint echo of the school of thought best typified by Mr. Samuel Insull."

One cannot help looking about for visual evidence of what the Insull school of thought has produced for Chicago, and comparing—or contrasting—that with what the Ickes mind has wrought.

Whatever its failures in the realm of finance, the Insull school of thought is responsible for the development of the great electric generating stations, gas manufacturing plants, long distance pipe lines, and thousands of miles of main and wires which not only have raised living standards in hundreds of thousands of homes but which also have contributed as much as any other single factor to the industrial development of Chicago and the middle west.

The Ickes mind has evolved a web of socialistic theories, the wisdom of which is becoming more questionable with each passing day.

And this is as good a place as any to remind the public that the money it lost speculating in Insull holding company securities will be as a teardrop in a torrent compared to the cash it will be doling out in taxes for years to come, paying for the New Deal money trough of which Mr. Ickes is both administrator and advocate. REVIVING REPUBLICAN.

REASON CANNON TURNED HIS FUND INTO CASH TOLD

'Crowd' Didn't Know Aids Were Paid, Says Agent.

Washington, D. C., April 12.—(AP)—Testimony by a justice department agent that Bishop James Cannon Jr. had said he had campaign contributions converted into cash because he "didn't want any of the courthouse gang to know" workers were being paid was given today to the jury trying the churchman.

The agent, Lee Oliver, told the court Cannon said he carried "four or five thousand dollars in cash in his pocket." This money, Oliver said, referring to a talk that occurred in the district attorney's office in 1931, was described by the clergyman as used to pay "individuals whom he approached" in the campaign against Alfred E. Smith, the 1928 Democratic presidential nominee.

Supplements Original Charges.

Oliver's testimony came shortly after the government prosecutor, John J. Wilson, supplemented the original charge that the bishop had not reported the disposition of all the 1928 anti-Smith campaign chest with a second assertion that some money from the political funds went to straighten out a legacy administered by Cannon.

Oliver was quizzed by Roger Robb, assistant United States district attorney.

The justice department agent said although Bishop Cannon was cautioned that anything he said in the interview in the district attorney's office might be used against him, the churchman talked for about four hours.

Said He Preferred Cash.

Oliver said Bishop Cannon told Jameson he preferred cash contributions.

"Did he say why he wanted cash?" Robb asked.

"He said," Oliver testified, "that he didn't want any of that crowd down there to know anything about his business."

Subsequently, Oliver supplemented this with the quotation "He said he didn't want any of the courthouse gang to know these fellows were working for money."

The government agent also told of a $5,000 cash fund in a safe deposit box which he said the bishop had said he had "forgotten."

Oliver said Bishop Cannon asserted he had a note due in December, 1928, and went into a Richmond bank to borrow money to meet it, but that while there he looked into his safe deposit box and there found an envelope containing the money.

"Found Himself in Hole."

Oliver said the churchman was asked regarding his financial condition and replied he "found himself in somewhat of a hole at the time he discovered the forgotten $5,000."

Referring to letters and checks of the committee, Robb asked Oliver:

"Did he [Cannon] say we could have those records?"

"Yes."

"To your knowledge, has Bishop Cannon ever produced any records for this office or your office?"

"No, sir."

Testifying about the E. C. Jameson campaign contributions out of which grew the charges against the bishop and Miss Ada L. Burroughs, treasurer of the headquarters committee, anti-Smith Democrats, Oliver said in one of two recent conferences in the district attorney's office, Miss Burroughs pointed to a photostatic copy of her final campaign contribution report and said to Bishop Cannon:

"'This is the report you and I made out."'

To put down the groundwork for what he said would be proof of his charge that some of the campaign fund money was used in settlement of the estate, John J. Wilson put into the court records the will of a Virginia woman, Mrs. Mary C. Moore of Crewe.

COMPLETE TESTIMONY IN PWA FORGERY TRIAL AT DAVENPORT, IOWA

Davenport, Ia., April 12.—[Special.]—Judge Charles A. Dewey, presiding in federal district court here where Carleton D. Beh, Des Moines investment banker, is on trial on a charge of forging an Ottumwa application for PWA funds to defraud the government, today overruled a motion for a directed verdict for the defendant. The motion was offered late this afternoon by the defense counsel after testimony by both sides had been completed.

Closing arguments will be given tomorrow morning and the case will probably go to the jury tomorrow afternoon.

Beh was on the stand during the morning session and declared that he understood that he was to use his "best judgment" in handling the Ottumwa problem.

When Beh completed his testimony, which required about two hours, Defense Attorney Merrill Gilmore offered 35 documents of exhibits, many of which were rejected because they pertained to rulings on PWA policies postdating the alleged forgery. He then announced that the defense was finished.

HUNT FOR CLEW IN MURDER OF MONEY LENDER

Stories of Operations Are Scanned.

Belvidere, Ill., April 12.—[Special.]—Strange stories of involved financial transactions were under the scrutiny today of authorities seeking to find a motive for the slaying of Walton Wheeler, Boone county's wealthiest farmer and foremost money lender.

Wheeler, 57 years old, was called from his home near here late last night by four gunmen, all of whom were masked. Two of the men then beat him and after knocking him down in his front yard fired several bullets into his body. One of the gang, meanwhile, had driven Mrs. Wheeler and her eight children, the oldest of whom is 15, into the house.

Following the shooting the killers drove away, apparently heading toward the Wisconsin line.

Beaten After Foreclosure.

The authorities said that Wheeler, owner of 1,000 acres of land in Illinois and 500 more in Wisconsin, had lent out many thousands of dollars and had foreclosed on many properties in recent months. One of his debtors, it was recalled, beat Wheeler severely when he was put into foreclosure.

Also, it was disclosed that he had been involved in at least one bit of business with Albert W. [50 Per Cent] Benham, one time wizard of finance who is now in bankruptcy.

Wheeler, some months ago, lent $3,000 to Benham, but demanded a coguarantor of the latter's note. Benham obtained the signature of Charles Marshall of Rockford, proprietor of a well known café there. When the former promoter, whose operations in the boom years ran into the hundreds of thousands of dollars, failed to pay, the money lending farmer demanded the $3,000 from Marshall and when payment was refused sued to collect.

Charges Amount Changed.

Marshall, who is known in Rockford as Chicken Charley, today readily admitted signing the note, but not for $3,000.

"I hope nobody thinks I had anything to do with the killing," he said. "I signed the note to accommodate Benham, who was a regular customer at my place. But the amount was only $300. I refused to pay Wheeler because of the change in the amount. The case is still pending and my attorney says there is evidence the note had been changed to the larger amount. I don't know who changed it."

The investigators expressed themselves as amazed at the primitive simplicity in which the family of Wheeler lived despite his wealth. He is estimated to have been worth more than a quarter of a million dollars.

POILUS TAKE CUT, BUT PUT FRENCH REGIME 'ON SPOT'

Give Premier Until July 1 to Show Results.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, April 12.—"We want a new France. We are giving you a chance to achieve it by constitutional means. You have until July 1 to show results. If the results are insufficient we are going to impose our own program on the country by all means in our power."

This is the sense of an ultimatum addressed to Premier Gaston Doumergue tonight by the representatives of 3,500,000 war veterans assembled in extraordinary national congress in response to the government's appeal to them to accept voluntary pension cuts.

Regarding the cuts the veterans agreed to let the government lop 3 per cent off their pensions and to submit to other minor cuts amounting to about one-third of the $100,000,000 economy which is still needed to balance the budget.

Refuse Link to Lottery.

They flatly refused to have their pensions transferred to the extra-budgetary sum fed by the national lottery—a measure on which the government is counting for the remaining two-thirds of the deficit—but tempered this otherwise crushing blow by an alternative proposal of a pension fund financed by government guaranteed bond issues. Although not what was desired, this proposition may be found compatible with Doumergue's deflationary program.

The really important feature of the veterans' congress was not the conditioned acceptance of the financial sacrifices, which was generally expected, but the enumeration of the conditions and the peremptory tone of their closing resolution which makes it an unique political document. In the first place the veterans announced they only accept the pension cuts so as not to hamper the government's recovery program, for which they formally repudiated all responsibility. They recalled the resolution voted at their regular congress last month disapproving the principle of deflation.

Plan Political Reforms.

Following up with a vengeance their decision of last month to enter politics, and revealing the same mixture of Fascist and Democratic inspiration which characterized the earlier congress, the veterans plan to use the acceptance of personal sacrifices as a means of carrying out political reforms. They specify that the cuts must not become effective until July 1.

"Between now and then," reads the closing paragraphs of the association's resolution, "the government, in accordance with the program adopted by the confederation March 25, shall take all measures necessary to achieve positive results in the following domains: Reform of public and private morality—cleaning up of scandals, reorganization of the credit system, reinforcement of security, and reorganization of railroads—and finally the reform of the structure of the state which must be adapted to the exigencies of modern conditions.

"The National Confederation of Veterans, although it had pointed out the dangers of systematic deflation, intends by acceptance of the necessary sacrifices to refrain from hampering the present efforts to achieve budgetary and financial recovery, but does not assume any responsibility for the government's program.

"On the other hand the confederation warns the public and the government that it will follow the progress of these efforts closely. It is resolved in case they prove insufficient or ineffective to impose by means in its power its own program for national renovation and thus to assure once more the safety of the nation."

While the strong attitude of the veterans puts Doumergue in a difficult position, their acceptance of the pension cuts, however reluctantly, weakens the campaign being carried on by Socialists and Communists against the government's economy measures. Consequently the series of civil servants' strikes called for tomorrow, Saturday, and Sunday, leading up to a general one hour strike Monday, are not likely to be dangerous unless they lead to street fighting.

PARIS PAPER CLAIMS NAZI UNITS ARE READY TO INVADE THE SAAR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

PARIS, April 13 [Friday]. — The Echo de Paris printed a dispatch from its Strasbourg correspondent today that Nazi military units in the provinces adjoining the Saar territory are preparing to invade the latter immediately in case insurrection breaks out in Paris and France generally.

The Echo de Paris declared that Nazi units 69, 245, 246 and 258 at Birkenfeld and Trier, and 17, 18, 22 and 23 at Speyer have been ordered to move into the Saar. Furthermore, in the last several days numbers of young men who have been serving in labor camps in the reich and in Nazi formations have been flocking back to the Saar, declaring hypocritically that they could not stand the Nazi régime any longer.

Meantime official dispatches from Alsace indicate a movement of French troops into the new frontier fortifications is proceeding.

NAZIS DEFEND RIGHT TO BOOST BUDGET ON ARMS

Cite Treaty in Reply to British Query.

LONDON, April 12.—(AP)—Germany was believed today to be defending strenuously her increase of nearly $150,000,000 in 1934 for military uses. The reich submitted a reply to the query of Sir John Simon, British foreign secretary, regarding the increased appropriation.

It was forwarded to the foreign secretary by the British embassy in Berlin and Sir John read it over preparatory to making a report to the house of commons.

Although the contents of the German communication were not officially disclosed, pending this report, it was understood the reply declares the treaty of Versailles, ending the world war, placed no restrictions on the amount of money which Germany could spend and argues that the reich is free to appropriate as much or as little as desired for military purposes.

The present unsettled status of the disarmament conference, from which Germany withdrew last year, also is reported to be mentioned in the reply, which was said to state that Germany has found it necessary to take steps to bring her own forces to a safe level.

Issues Defy on Arms Boost.

BERLIN, April 12.—(AP)—The Diplomatische Korrespondenz said today that if Germany is spending more money for instruments of war—and she is—that is Germany's own business. The newspaper is the mouthpiece of the German foreign office.

"What right," the organ demanded, "is there for astonishment in France or anywhere else that large increases in military appropriations feature the 1934 budget?"

Sixty-one naval craft are being built by Britain and fifty-four by the United States, the Diplomatische Korrespondenz said, so it again asked, "Why all this fuss about the German budget?"

Plans No Race.

The newspaper reassured the world that "Germany has neither the intention nor any possibility of engaging in an armaments race. It sees its duty in providing a minimum for its own defense."

The increase in armaments expenditures marks merely a "carrying out of a measure that literally was forced upon Germany a year ago by the world disarmament conference in the manner of an ultimatum—namely, transformation of the reichswehr into a short term serving body," the newspaper argued.

The army and navy figures were increased from 670,000,000 marks [$268,000,000] in 1933 to 894,000,000 marks [$357,600,000] in the next fiscal year. For aviation, 209,000,000 marks [$83,600,000] was appropriated, compared with 70,000,000 marks [$28,000,000] last year.

In addition, a $100,000,000 grant was made to the Nazi storm troopers.

Policeman Shoots Self; Despondency Is Blamed

Policeman Thomas Ray, 35 years old, attached to the Marquette station, shot himself twice in the left side early yesterday in his home at 4708 Van Buren street, according to Fillmore street police, who took him to the county hospital. Ray, who was found unconscious in his bedroom, had been despondent recently because of ill health, police reported. He is expected to recover.

HOW "MANAGED ECONOMY" PLAN WORKS IN ITALY

30 Industrial Expansion Requests Denied.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

ROME, April 12.—An example of how Premier Mussolini's new corporative state machinery, heralded as "managed economy" is being applied was given today. It was announced that fifty-seven industrial concerns have asked the government for permission to extend their plants or to build new ones, and that only twenty-seven of these requests have been allowed.

Under Mussolini's decree law of January, 1933, no business or industry in Italy may be expanded or a new one started without permission of the ministry of corporations. The commission representing this ministry has been sitting for the last two weeks examining requests for such permission.

Deny Rubber Makers Permits.

It allowed five metallurgical concerns to enlarge their plants, ten chemical concerns, one manufacturer of spare machine parts, one paper factory, three cement factories, five ice plants, one spinning mill, and one naval repair shop.

Refusals affected nine rubber manufacturers, one metallurgical plant, four chemical plants, one manufacturer of vehicle spare parts, one oil and one glass plant.

Other demands were held up. The fact that 27 requests for plant enlargements were granted is cited here as a sign that business is hitting the upgrade.

Consider Competition.

Apparently, in deciding whether industrial concerns may enlarge their plants, the commission takes into consideration whether the locality or district can stand more competition in that line and whether it is in the general interest of the nation to increase production.

The Bank of Italy has been losing gold lately, but official denials were issued tonight that Italy is negotiating a 100,000,000 florin loan in Holland. [The florin is currently worth about 68 cents.]

URGES BRITAIN TO AID OTHERS IN CASE OF ATTACK

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 12.—Sir Austen Chamberlain, former foreign secretary, addressing the national conference at Guildhall in defense of the league of nations tonight, declared it is impossible for Great Britain to escape the responsibilities and repercussions of another European war.

He contended that Britain, in urging a nation such as France to limit armaments believed necessary for security should indicate beforehand in what circumstances aid would be given or withheld.

"How can we urge other nations more immediately threatened and more immediately exposed to danger to abandon any part of their efforts to make themselves safe unless we are prepared to coöperate in making the world safe for ourselves and others?" he asked.

Sir Austen moved a resolution that "to preserve peace and security, members of the league must be ready to coöperate in defense of a member wrongfully attacked."

GERMANY BARS SOVIET PRAVDA FOR NAZI ATTACKS

BERLIN, April 12.—(AP)—The important soviet newspaper Pravda today was barred from Germany until further notice as the climax of reproaches from the German side that the Russian press has been increasingly hostile toward Nazi Germany.

No reason was given for the action, but it was thought to have been motivated by resentment here toward articles written by Georgi Dimitroff, a defendant in the reichstag building fire and now a Russian citizen.

These writings were described by the Tageblatt as "spreading atrocity stories and shamelessly attacking Germany." The German foreign office mouthpiece, the Diplomatische Korrespondenz, declared that "for months the Soviet press has been carrying on a campaign of bitter enmity and hate against Germany."

"Gas Heat saved me $35.00 on redecorating bills this spring"

No more soot and dirt to blacken woodwork and walls in the home of Mr. William Cassidy, 10615 Hale Ave., Chicago

YES! $35 stays in Mr. Cassidy's pocket this spring—money that used to go for painting woodwork, calcimining, cleaning and papering walls. Because Mr. Cassidy now heats his home with sootless, dirtless gas!

"Just look how clean the wall is around this picture," says Mr. Cassidy. "There's no comparison between gas and any other form of heat. You see, I run a filling station and have to be gone all day. My wife is employed, too. But now it's no problem at all. We could leave the house for a week at a time and never worry about the furnace."

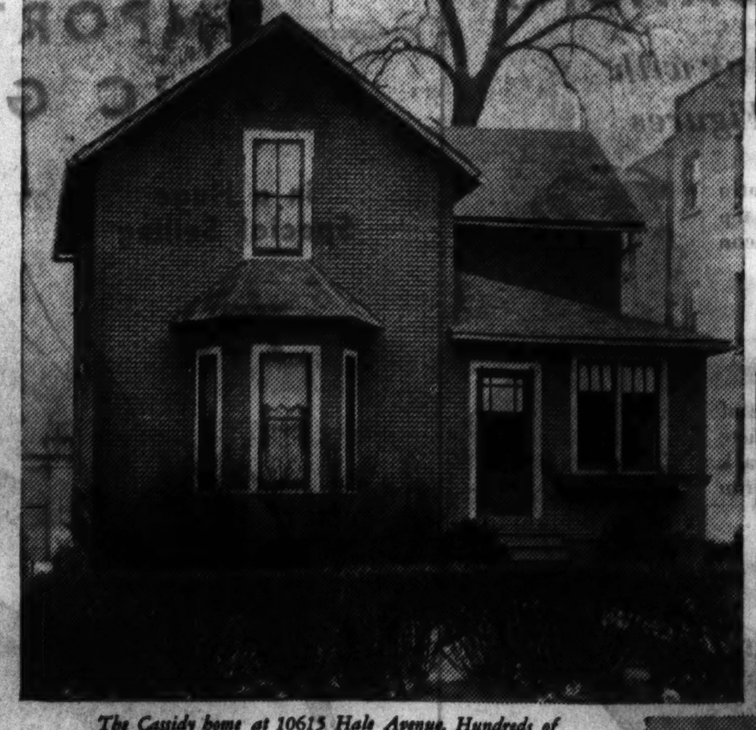
Thousands install gas heat as rates come down

Imagine your home free from soot, dust, dirt, and furnace drudgery! Imagine getting just the temperatures you want, night and day, by adjusting a little thermostat on the wall. Why put up with furnace worries any longer, when rates for gas heat are so low! Think of it—gas heating rates are now only half of what they were during the 1930-31 heating season.

And—you can try gas heat without investing one cent! We will install a burner in your present furnace or boiler at our own expense. You pay only the rental on the equipment, which amounts to $3 a month in the average home. This charge is included in the bill for the gas you use. You try it for a month, two months, a year. And if within the year you find that you are not completely satisfied with gas, we will take it out at our expense and replace your former heating equipment in good workmanlike order. But—if you decide to keep gas heat—as we think you will—the rental you have paid applies on the purchase price of the equipment.

Act now!

Don't delay! It is pure folly not to investigate this liberal offer on gas heat when it brings so many comforts and conveniences. Call your local gas company for full information.



The Cassidy home at 10615 Hale Avenue. Hundreds of homes each week are switching to clean, automatic gas heat.

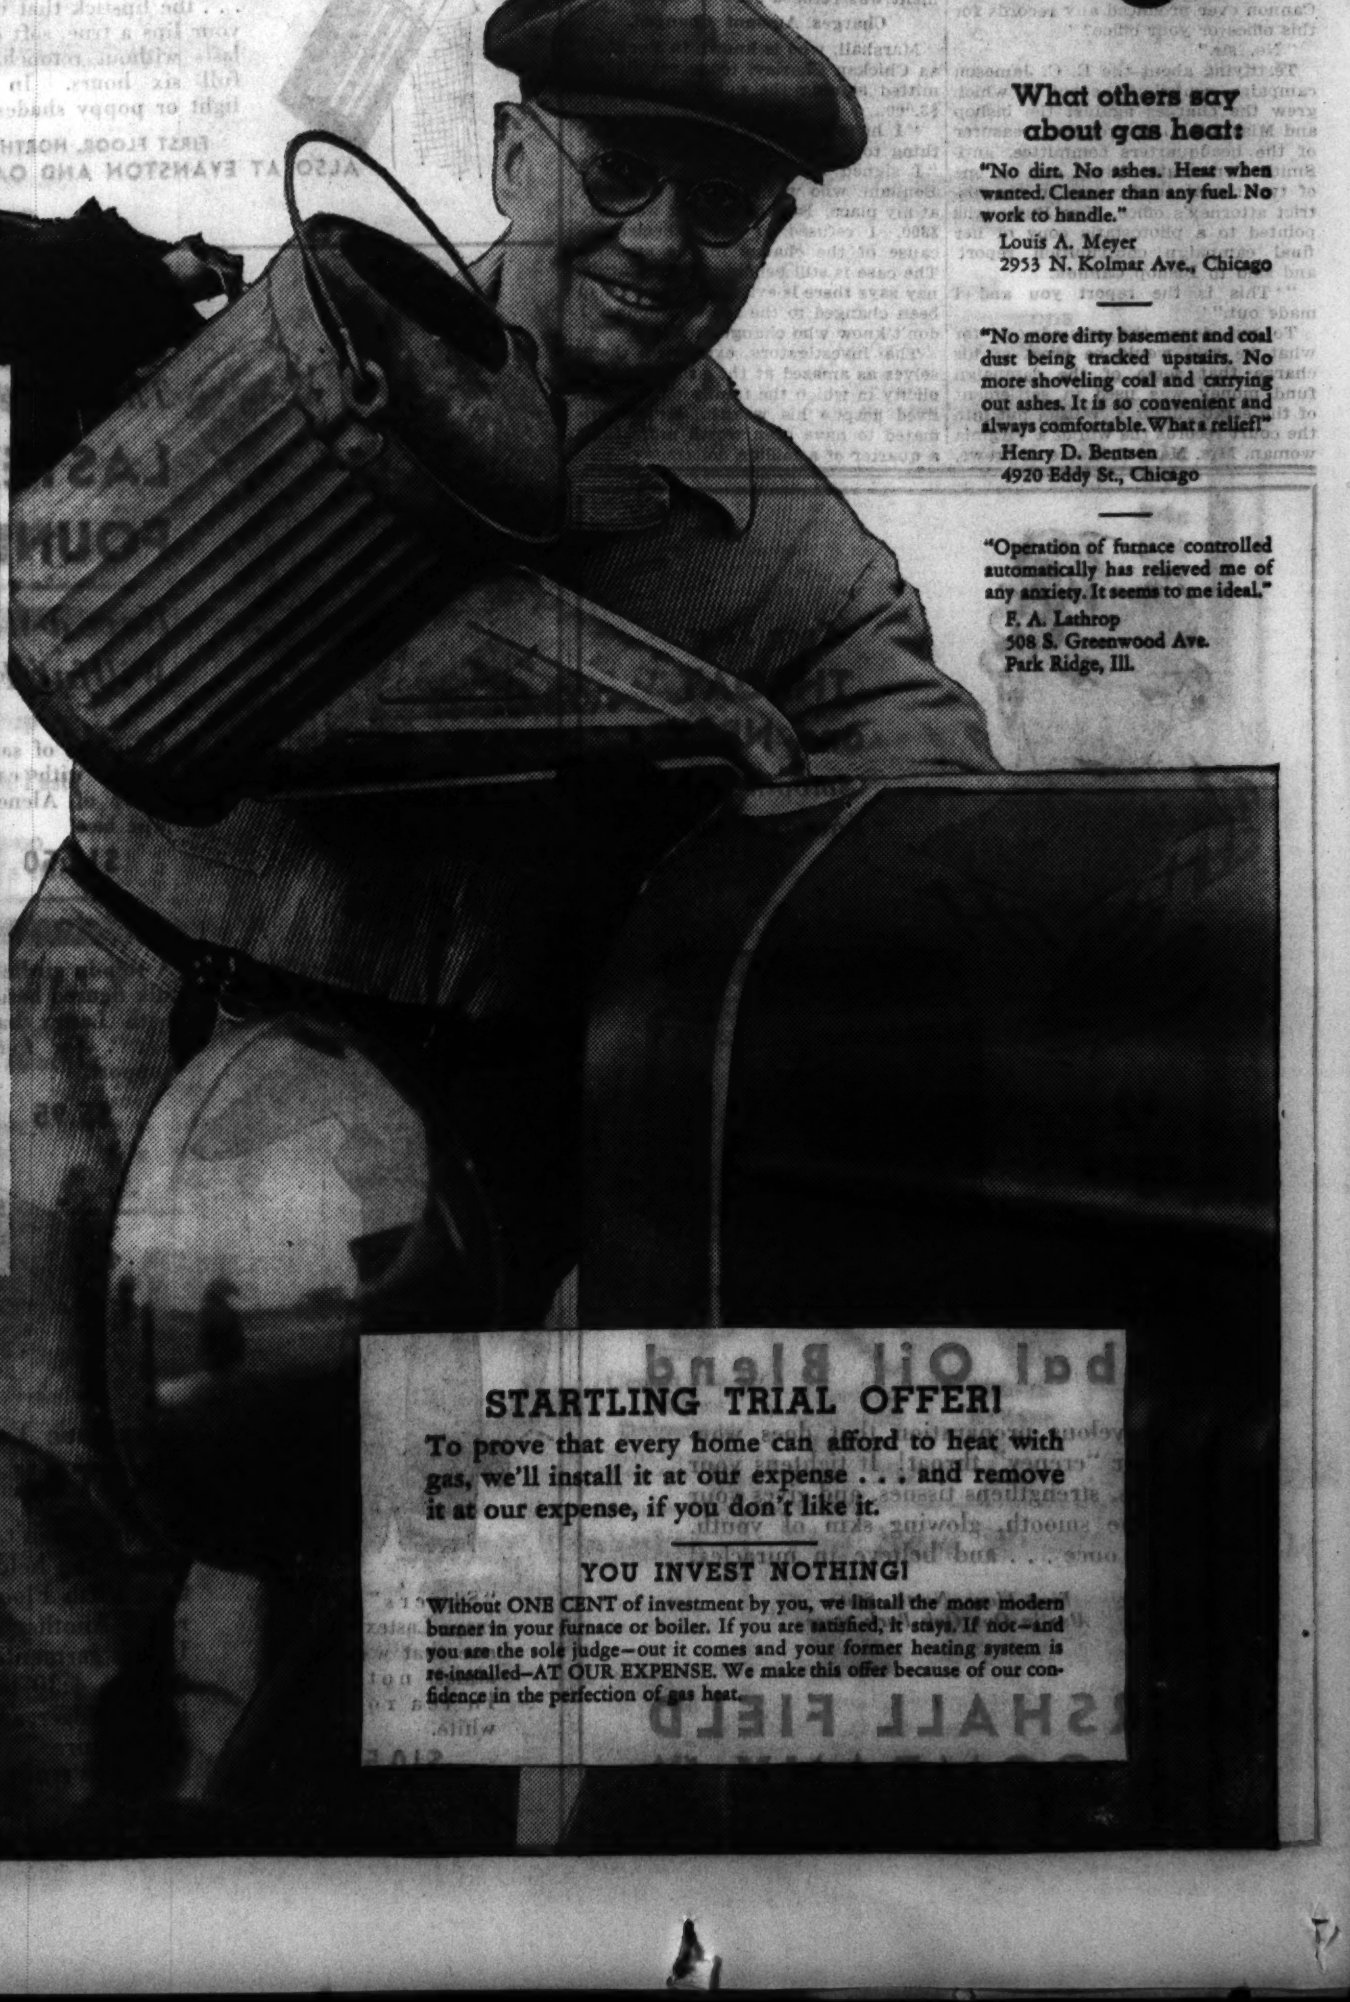
Gas Is a Servant in the Home and a Factory Hand Too

Gas does more than heat houses, cook, heat water and furnish automatic refrigeration for the home.

It is working in factories, large and small, the country over. No heating job is too delicate and exacting for gas in industry; no heating job is too big.

Gas puts the iridium tip on your fountain pen, helps solder your jewelry or glasses, and heat-treats the tiny steel wheels in your watch. In a single industry—making automobiles—gas is used to dry varnishes, heat plating vats, cast plates for batteries, temper springs, harden bearings and piston pins, braze radiators and forge bumpers. It roasts vast quantities of coffee, bakes ice cream cones, smokes hams and bacons and toasts cereals.

Hundreds of the things you buy and use from day to day have been improved in quality or made more economical by the part gas plays in their manufacture.



What others say about gas heat:

2953 N. Kolmar Ave., Chicago

"No more dirty basement and coal dust being tracked upstairs. No more shoveling coal and carrying out ashes. It is so convenient and always comfortable. What a relief!"

Henry D. Bentsen

"Operation of furnace controlled automatically has relieved me of any anxiety. It seems to me ideal."

STARTLING TRIAL OFFER!

To prove that every home can afford to heat with gas, we'll install it at our expense . . . and remove it at our expense, if you don't like it.

YOU INVEST NOTHING!

Without ONE CENT of investment by you, we install the most modern burner in your furnace or boiler. If you are satisfied, it stays. If not—and you are the sole judge—out it comes and your former heating system is re-installed—AT OUR EXPENSE. We make this offer because of our confidence in the perfection of gas heat.

Arguments on the petition of the agricultural adjustment administration for a restraining order against two milk dealers accused of violating the Chicago blanket licensing agreement were concluded yesterday before Federal Judge William H. Holly. The judge announced he would endeavor to rule on the application for injunction tomorrow and file an opinion later.

Attorney K. B. Czarnecki, counsel for Lloyd V. Shissler, a Lombard milk dealer, and the People's Dairy company of Cicero, which he controls, argued most of the day, attacking not only the propriety of the proceedings in equity, but the validity of the "price fixing" provisions of the agricultural adjustment act. The licenses of Shissler and the milk company have been revoked by the secretary of agriculture for their alleged failure to pay farmers the stated minimum price for milk and to report purchases and sales for the month of February. They have continued in operation and now the government seeks to close them by injunction.

Assails Price Fixing.

Carnecki argued the only powers under the constitution wherein the government might legally regulate the milk business were those pertaining to the raising of revenue and the commerce clause. But the milk licensing scheme, he declared, is neither, being a mere price fixing arrangement in the guise of regulating commerce for the general welfare. It is not designed to promote the general welfare, but to aid a special group, the farmers, he said.

Czarnecki quoted at length from the opinion of the United States Supreme court holding the Oklahoma law licensing ice manufacturing plants unconstitutional. This opinion held the manufacture of ice is a business as essentially private in nature as that of "the grocer, the baker, or the dairyman," and could not be regulated on the basis of public use. This clearly precludes any attempt to license the dairy business, Czarnecki contended.

Cites Supreme Court Ruling.

The more recent ruling of the Supreme court in the Nebbia case, which upheld a New York state law licensing the milk business, does not conflict with the doctrine enunciated in the Oklahoma ice case because a state has the right to regulate the milk industry under its police powers, according to Czarnecki's argument.

He further contended the government has no right to proceed against milk dealers by the injunction process because no such provision is made in the act and specific penalties are provided. The AAA differs from the NRA in that the latter contains the injunctions of the old Volstead act, Czarnecki said.

Busch Quotes Authorities.

Attorney Francis X. Busch, representing the AAA, cited authorities to show the federal courts have jurisdiction in all suits at common law or equity in which the United States is a party and in all suits under laws regulating commerce.

Busch argued if the state of New York has the right to regulate the milk industry under its police powers, as Czarnecki admitted, then the government has the same right when interstate commerce is involved. He quoted the Lempke case in which the Supreme court held a North Dakota statute unconstitutional because it licensed grain dealers and fixed prices, interfering with that part of the grain destined for interstate commerce.

Authority in Congress.

"The Supreme court held congress is amply authorized to pass laws to protect commerce if legislation of that nature is needed," Busch declared. "In the light of this decision there can be no question of the power of congress to regulate the milk industry."

The outcome of this case will be of far reaching importance, because it is the first time the AAA has defended its licensing activities in the courts. The government counsel intimated in their arguments they would be satisfied to permit the dealers to remain in business if they would abide by the code and make amends for past violations.

GEN. MITCHELL IS ACCUSED IN $200,000 SUIT

Alexandria, Va., April 12.—(AP)—The Curtiss-Wright corporation of New York said today that Brig. Gen. William Mitchell had referred to it as "aeronautical racketeers."

This was contained in the declaration of its $200,000 libel suit against Mitchell filed here today in the United States District court.

Mitchell, the declaration said, also accused the company of retarding the development of war planes in a speech March 3 at a Foreign Policy association luncheon in New York.

The actual suit was served on Mitchell about a month ago at his home in Middleburg, Va.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farm

By Bob Becker

Woodchucks' Serenade.

April 12, 1934.

THE woodchucks or groundhogs here on the farm are serenading the boys in the fields with their cheery whistling, which can be heard most any hour of the day. There are quite a few of these burrowing animals on the place, and how they have been scampering around feeding on the new green stuff which the warm April weather pushed above the ground.

Yesterday afternoon I walked down the lane which leads to the beautiful spring in the lower woods just to see how things looked in the timber, where Chicago Boy Scouts have camped on their Fox river cruises. This tract of woods has been fenced off, and will be available later for the use of experimental farm visitors who wish to eat their lunch or rest on the banks of the river. However, at the present time it isn't ready for use. [When it is ready an announcement will be made in this column.]

I found the spring pretty well choked up with leaves which had blown into the pool during the winter months. These will be taken out so that a clear, pure source of drinking water will be available. Clarence and I sat down near the spring for a while to hear the cardinals sing, to see how many spring birds we could identify in the timber nearby, and also to sample the new crop of watercress which grows in the tiny stream leading away from the spring. The cress is crisp and aromatic, a new crop that has come in during the last few weeks. It is a beautiful, striking green against the dead grass around the pool.

On the far side of the spring hole we located a plant that has an ugly name, and smells terribly, yet deserves a lot of credit, because it has courage enough to brave the cold winds and even the snows of early spring. This is the skunk cabbage, a queer looking plant with a pungent, skunk-like odor. We found a number of them growing in the spring hole, their greenish brown leaves having been thrust right through the dead leaves and grass of 1933.

This was a sad day for eight little pigs. They lost their happy home today. Clarence sold them, and now there are eight less shoats on the farm. These animals weighed about 120 pounds, and they were sold for 4 cents a pound. Although the sale of these shoats temporarily reduced the pig population on the farm, this reduction is not expected to last very long, because Louis Thurow and Johnson are expecting five sows to bring families into the world during the next week. The boys took these sows out of the yard yesterday and penned them up by themselves.

While all these events were happening in the pig world here on the farm, 84 little piglets born last January were in a panic yesterday when they were separated from their mothers. No more family ties for this bunch. They are old enough now to fend for themselves. This group of 84 belongs to 11 sows. When the time came for the sows to be rounded up and taken to another place on the farm you should have heard the racket made by mothers and young.

Board of Trade Official Sees Political Coup in Cutten Case

Washington, D. C., April 12.—[Special.]—Angry charges that officials of the department of agriculture deliberately "timed" their prosecution of Arthur W. Cutten, noted Chicago grain trader, in an effort to discredit opposition to commodity market control legislation were made by an official of the Chicago Board of Trade, before the house committee on agriculture today.

Robert P. Boylan, executive vice president of the Chicago exchange, asserted that the grain trade was forced to believe Secretary Wallace and other federal officials were seeking to prejudice the public and congressional mind in favor of the administration bill to regulate operations of the commodity marts.

Calls Charges Strategic Move.

The sudden and unexpected action against Mr. Cutten, Mr. Boylan pointed out, was announced yesterday at the very time the grain trade was opening its argument before the house committee against the proposed legislation.

"Under the circumstances" he told the committee, "we can only believe that some one in the grain futures administration is attempting to influence the public and the members of this committee by the interjection of irrelevant and prejudicial issues.

Boylan's charges brought an immediate and emphatic denial from officials of the department of agriculture and from Chairman Marvin Jones [Dem., Tex.] of the house committee on agriculture. It was understood that Dr. J. W. T. Duvel, chief of the grain futures administration, will take the stand tomorrow in answer to Boylan and there was a definite hint that he will level sensational allegations against "some one higher up" in a former department of agriculture régime. Reports were current that this "higher up" prevented the initiation of action against Cutten several years ago.

Based on Last Years.

It was the fact that the irregularities charged against Cutten took place in 1930 and 1931 that caused Mr. Boylan to question the good faith of the department of agriculture in bringing action at this time.

"Spread on the front page of the newspapers of the entire country this morning is a story to the effect that flagrant violation of the grain futures act were charged against Arthur W. Cutten, a member of the Chicago Board of Trade," said Mr. Boylan. "And persons and firms through whom Cutten traded were charged with conspiring with him to fail to report his open commitments when required to do so, and with juggling accounts to make false reports.

Surprise to Grain Board.

"This story emanated from the grain futures administration late yesterday afternoon and was given directly to the press, without notice of any kind to the Chicago Board of Trade or its business conduct committee that any such action was imminent or contemplated.

"I am not going to try to discuss with you whether there is any foundation for these charges. That would be improper in view of the fact that a hearing is to be held on this matter on May 14. What I do want to point out, as is apparent from the face of the complaint itself, the supposed acts complained of took place in 1930 and 1931, three years ago; that the complaint is based on information which, if you give the grain futures administration the benefit of every doubt, must have come into its hands many months and perhaps two or three years ago; that the business conduct committee was not informed or advised in any way of such information or suspicions, and was given no opportunity to invoke its disciplinary powers or to coöperate in any way in the matter."

Resents "Trial in Press."

"Then," he continued, "let me point out the obvious fact that Mr. Cutten is being tried by his prosecutors in advance in the press, and that, by some fortuitous circumstance, this complaint and this publicity were so timed as to occur in the midst of the presentation of our case against this legislation."

Seth Thomas, solicitor of the department of agriculture who prepared the case and instituted the action against Mr. Cutten declared at his office that Mr. Boylan's charges were entirely without foundation.

The case against Cutten was only completed last week, he declared, and was announced as soon as the department had unearthed sufficient evidence upon which to proceed.

"They are as completely false as they can be," Mr. Thomas said, referring to the Boylan allegations. "They're simply manufactured out of whole cloth."

Up in Canadian Parliament.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

OTTAWA, Ont., April 12.—Arthur W. Cutten's difficulties with the United States secretary of agriculture were the basis of a demand in the Canadian parliament today for a government statement as to whether the charges involved dealings in Canadian wheat and in Canadian government wheat guarantee funds.

William Duff, Liberal, said he understood the wheat Mr. Cutten was selling in Chicago was sold to John I. McFarland, head of the Canadian wheat coöperative.

Refusing to deny or confirm Duff's allegations of "one hundred million dollars" of government funds being involved in the underwriting of wheat, Premier Bennett condemned the query as to Mr. Cutten as extraneous to the matters under discussion. The query went unanswered.

Flies with First Air Mail from Australia to Zealand

NEW PLYMOUTH, N. Z., April 12.—(AP)—The Australian airman, C. T. Ulm, landed today from Sydney, Australia, carrying aboard his airplane a consignment of 39,000 letters, the first air mail to be flown from Australia to New Zealand. The distance is about 1,200 miles.

NASH KENOSHA WORKERS VOTE TO END STRIKE

Act After Wages Are Increased.

Kenosha, Wis., April 12.—(AP)—Employés of the Nash Motor company's plant late today voted to accept new wage concessions from the company and end a strike which began six weeks ago.

Final settlement of the strike, involving 4,700 workers in Nash plants in Kenosha and Racine and the Seaman Body corporation in Milwaukee, is contingent upon action to be taken by the Seaman employés at a special meeting tomorrow afternoon.

The plant unions in the three cities have an agreement that no settlement terms will become effective until all three groups have approved.

Racine Workers Accept.

Nash workers in Racine accepted an agreement obtained by the federal labor board last week in conferences between company officials and union representatives. The Seaman and Kenosha Nash workers rejected the original terms.

The new offer submitted to members of the Automobile Workers' union here provides for wage increases of from 5 to 17.2 per cent in the local plant. The labor board's terms provided a flat 10 per cent raise above the wage scales prevailing in the Racine plant when the strike started there Feb. 21.

Under the original agreement a group of workers in the Kenosha plant would not have received any salary benefits, since the wage scale in their department was more than 10 per cent higher than that in the Racine plant. This prompted the rejection. The new terms provide an increase of 5 per cent for this group.

How Vote Stood.

The vote to accept the company's new wage offer and other concessions previously made was 629 to 376. Union leaders explained the small vote total was due to failure of the entire union membership to attend the meeting. There are approximately 2,200 persons employed in the local plant.

If the Seaman strikers accept settlement terms at tomorrow's meeting company officials indicated the plants would resume production Monday. This strike at the Seaman plant started Feb. 26, but production there was not stopped completely until last Monday. Leaders of the Seaman union claim a membership of 1,500.

Richard Byrd, a member of the labor board, arrived from Detroit to take part in a conference of union leaders. At its conclusion, three hours later, he said he would leave at once if there were any reasonable chance for a settlement. He will confer in Milwaukee tomorrow with officials of the employer companies.

CUDAHY DIVORCE TRIAL NEAR END; LAWYERS ARGUE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., April 12.—[Special.]—The unyielding, self centered "metallic" and "morbid" New England character of Mrs. Alice Cudahy was contrasted with the genial, upright and self controled disposition of Michael Cudahy in the argument of Attorney Edmund B. Shea with which the Cudahy divorce suit went into its final stage in Judge Charles Aarons' court today.

Attorney Raymond McCann, for Mrs. Cudahy, in replying, painted the millionaire packer as a deceitful man who schemed divorce against the mother of his child while professing unfaltering love for her and pretending to enjoy with her the southern sojourns following the separation late in 1929.

Judge Aarons announced he will hear the rest of the arguments Saturday at 9 a. m. and, if necessary, sit all day to avoid running the case into another week. Attorney James Shaw, for Cudahy, said he could not go on tomorrow because of another engagement.

What Happens Inside when you take a Laxative?

NATURE'S WAY—a gentle flush

Most medicine laxatives work by irritating the delicate membranes of the digestive tract—lose their force when taken regularly. Pluto Water is not a drug or medicine-laxative but a saline mineral water. The same amount each time—no need to increase it—always performs, does not gripe, gives results in less than one hour.

Pluto Water is gentle, effective—but speedy. It promptly opens the pylorus valve—permitting the flush to enter the intestines without anxious hours of waiting. The proper dilution—one-fifth glass Pluto in four-fifths glass hot water—is practically tasteless. Take it whenever sluggish—and end that laxative habit! In two sizes: Splits (8 ounces)—large bottles (3 times the quantity). At all druggists.

COUNCIL ORDER SPEEDS ASHLAND BASCULE BRIDGE

Ends Long Controversy; Provides U. S. Aid.

Construction of a bascule, or movable, type of bridge over the north branch of the Chicago river at Ashland avenue moved a step nearer yesterday when the city council passed an authorization order submitted by the finance committee.

The order calls for the financing of the $1,700,000 structure by federal grant and by diversion of part of the city's share of the state gasoline tax.

Orders Bid Advertisement.

Oscar Hewitt, commissioner of public works, is instructed in the order to advertise for bids and proceed with the construction of the bridge as soon as possible.

The federal government will be asked to advance 30 per cent of the cost of the bridge, or slightly more than $500,000. In 1934, it is estimated, the city will spend a similar amount out of the gasoline tax funds, which will total about $5,000,000. The balance will be taken from the 1935 gasoline tax money.

Yesterday's action by the council climaxed a long battle among city officials as to the type of bridge to be built, and the method of financing construction. This finally resolved itself into a fight between the advocates of the fixed type of bridge and the backers of the bascule type, the latter being led by Mayor Kelly.

Hewitt Backs Plan.

Mr. Hewitt had at first recommended the fixed type on the ground that it was cheaper. He withdrew his recommendation, however, when the finance committee presented the present plan of financing the construction.

This type of financing, it was pointed out by Ald. John S. Clark [30th], chairman of the finance committee, will save the city approximately $600,000 in interest. That interest would be necessary, he said, if the city had decided to issue bonds at 5 per cent interest for ten years for the bridge building.

SECOND BROTHER IN FAMILY DIES OF CRASH INJURY

Eugene Caswick, 6 years old, 961 West 35th street, died in the German Deaconess hospital yesterday of injuries incurred when the car in which he was riding with his father and four brothers was struck Feb. 22 by a railroad train at 55th street and the Belt Line tracks, east of Cicero avenue.

Gilbert Caswick, 3 years old, was almost instantly killed in the accident. The father, Frank, and three other children—Donald, 8 years old; Clifford, 11 years old, and Thomas, 12 years old—were injured, but have recovered.

This death and two others during the day increased the Cook county motor toll since Jan. 1 to 340. The victims:

Richard May, 54 years old, 9216 South State street. Died in the county hospital from injuries incurred Sunday when his automobile ran into a ditch in front of 420 West 95th street.

Charles Brown, 45 years old, 1310 South Ashland avenue. Found dead yesterday in an alley at the rear of 169 North Ada street. The body was covered with bruises and the skull had been fractured, leading police to believe Brown was the victim of a hit and run driver.

Hugh Wallwork, 64 years old, 701 Reba place, Evanston, a painter and decorator, was critically injured last night when he was struck by a hit and run car at Chicago avenue and Mulford street, Evanston. He was taken to St. Francis' hospital.

NAVY FLYER IS MISSING AFTER CRASH AT SEA

Washington, D. C., April 12.—[Special.]—Lieut. David L. Cloud Jr., a marine corps aviator, crashed at sea while engaged in gunnery exercises off Virginia Beach today and is missing. The plane sank immediately. Search operations are being conducted from the Hampton Roads Naval Air station and by the coast guard.

Reports to the navy department indicated that the crash was caused by Cloud's plane becoming fouled with a target towed by another plane. Lieut. Cloud's plane fell into a spin. Although he jumped clear of the plane and successfully used his parachute, it is believed that the heavy flying equipment he wore prevented him from being able to remain afloat. He was attached to fighting plane squadron 9, based at the marine barracks at Quantico, Va.

Born at Crawfordsville, Ga., on Sept. 5, 1904, he was appointed a second lieutenant in the marine corps on July 1, 1925.

John Edward Hennessey, Former Chicagoan, Dies

Memphis, Tenn., April 12.—(AP)—John Edward Hennessey, 72, who came here from Chicago 12 years ago, died today following a brief illness. He had been connected with the American Historical society about 30 years when he retired a year ago. Survivors include his widow, a son, Dr. Russell A. Hennessey, Memphis, and two brothers, P. C. Hennessey, Janesville, Wis., and W. A. Hennessey, Chicago.

TROLLEY KILLER GUILTY, IS GIVEN LIFE IN PRISON

Davis Sweatsman, 30 years old, colored, was found guilty of murder by Judge Daniel P. Trude in the Criminal court yesterday and sentenced to a life term in the penitentiary. He was charged with the slaying of Mary Van Bokhoven, 20 years old, who was shot while a passenger on a South State street surface lines car.

The shooting, according to the testimony, followed a quarrel between Sweatsman and Charles Conley, 7110 Lafayette avenue, over "standing room" on the rear platform of the car. Sweatsman struck Conley, according to testimony, when he alighted from the car at 54th street and then opened fire with a revolver. A bullet struck Miss Van Bokhoven, inflicting a fatal wound.

SUPREME COURT GRANTS BAIL TO BAIN AND KIN

The Illinois Supreme court at Springfield, yesterday allowed a writ of supersedeas granting bail to John Bain, former banker; his two sons, John H. and Robert, and his son-in-law, W. Merle Fisher, all of whom are under conviction on charges of conspiracy to defraud in connection with the failure of the Bain banks. The elder Bain was sentenced to prison for 1 to 5 years while the others were fined.

Bail for Bain was set at $10,000, and for the sons and the son-in-law at $2,000 each. They will appear at the Criminal court this morning with their lawyer, former Judge Harry Olson, to file new bond schedules, after which they will go to the sheriff's office downtown to effect their technical release.

All have been on bail since their conviction. Recently the lower court judgment was upheld by the Appellate court. Last week Attorney Olson appeared before the State Supreme court and moved for an appeal from the Appellate court confirmation. This motion was allowed.

X MARKS NAME ON THE WILL OF MRS. HITCHCOCK

New York, April 12.—[Special.]—Mrs. Louise E. Hitchcock, mother of Thomas Hitchcock Jr., polo star, was so seriously injured when thrown from her horse at Aiken, S. C., last December, she was unable to affix her signature to a will drawn up shortly before her death. Therefore, the will filed today in the Surrogate's court in Mineola had an "X" to represent her name. The will was dated March 14, 1934. Mrs. Hitchcock died at Aiken April 1.

To Dr. Robert Henry Wilds, who attended her in her last illness, she left $1,000 with the suggestion that "perhaps he will buy a few cammellia bushes to remember me by."

To Mary Vallen, her nurse at Aiken, she left $50,000 in trust, with the provision that on her death the principal of the trust be divided among the four Hitchcock children.

The bulk of the estate she left to her husband, Thomas Hitchcock Sr. Unofficial estimates place the value of the estate at about $500,000.

RITES TOMORROW FOR E. J. STUBBS, VETERAN BROKER

Cardinal Mundelein will pontificate tomorrow at the solemn requiem high mass in Notre Dame church, 1335 Harrison street, for the late Edwin J. Stubbs, 68, veteran grain broker on the Chicago Board of Trade. Burial will be in Mount Carmel cemetery.

The celebrant will be Msgr. Victor Primeau, and Father James Mertz, S. J., president of Loyola university, will deliver the sermon.

Mr. Stubbs, who lived at 3240 Lake Shore drive, was stricken with pneumonia while on a motoring trip in the south and died Monday in Augusta, Ga.

William Vogelsang, 66 years old, 918 Gross street, Evanston, died in his home last night of a heart attack. He was widely known in Evanston, where he had been employed for the past twenty years by the American Railway Express company.

ROBERT L. MOORE, 38, NOTED AVIATOR, DIES; ILL THREE MONTHS

Miami, Fla., April 12.—(AP)—Robert L. Moore, 38, once a member of the Lafalette escadrille, died today of an abdominal ailment. He had been ill three months.

Upon America's entry into the world war, Moore transferred from the French group of aviators to the ranks of his countrymen. In fighting over the western and Italian fronts he was credited with shooting down three planes and two balloons.

Moore once maneuvered his flaming plane into a landing behind the German lines, and a rescue expedition picked him up.

Perhaps the most harrowing adventure of his peace-time flying was in March, 1922. Moore's plane, en route to Bimini, Bahamas, with five visitors to Miami, three of them women from the midwest, was forced down in the gulf stream.

The six clinging to a torn wing saw boats pass in the distance and twice heard the drone of airplane motors, but they were unsighted by the searchers. One by one the passengers slipped into the waters as they succumbed to thirst, hunger and exhaustion. Moore battled to save them, and one, Mrs. August Buitle, Kansas City, Mo., was held up by him for eight hours before she went overboard.

Six hours later a cruising tanker sighted the plane, with Moore alone and desperately ill on the bobbing wing.

J. W. HAMILTON OF IRVING PARK DISTRICT IS DEAD

James W. Hamilton, 55 years old, president of the Irving Park park district and of the North Irving Park Improvement association, died yesterday at St. Mary's hospital following an operation.

Mr. Hamilton was active in Republican organization affairs and in northwest side civic affairs. A retired police officer, he was employed in the Municipal court clerk's office at the time of his death.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Elizabeth Hamilton; a daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Olsen, and a son, John Hamilton.

Services will be held Saturday from the residence, 4530 Lowell avenue, to St. Mary's church. Burial will be in All Saints' cemetery.

Miss Anna Otte of Monroe School Dies Suddenly

Miss Anna Otte, 73 years old, who for the last fifteen years had prepared the lunches at the Monroe public school, was found dead yesterday in her home at 3726 North Racine avenue. Death apparently was due to heart disease.

EVANSTON MAN'S DAUGHTER FALLS TO HER DEATH

Baltimore, Md., April 12.—[Special.]—Tripping as she mounted the stairs to her fourth floor living quarters, Mrs. Edward N. Hooker, 26, tonight slipped through a banister and plunged to her death.

Mrs. Hooker, an instructor in English at the Greenwood school in Ruxton, a Baltimore suburb, and the wife of a Johns Hopkins university research student, was returning from dinner with a companion, Miss Charlotte Kimball, also a Greenwood teacher, when the accident occurred.

She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William L. McGoodwin of Evanston, Ill.

According to Miss Kimball, Mrs. Hooker was walking ahead of her on the stair and apparently started to turn to say something to her.

As she did so the heel of her shoe tripped her and she fell before Miss Kimball could grasp her.

TITLE AND TRUST OFFICIAL SAYS REALTY GAINS

Cash Deals Four Times Those Last June.

BY AL CHASE.

Four times as many cash deals, in dollar volume, are being closed through the escrow department of the Chicago Title and Trust company as there were last June, according to Kenneth E. Rice, vice president of that concern, who last night expressed an optimistic view of the local real estate situation. Mr. Rice was the principal speaker at the second open forum and convention of Chicago renting men held under the auspices of the renting and management division of the Chicago Real Estate board, at 32 West Randolph street.

"Another measure of progress is the fact that we are all beginning to receive offers for real estate," said Mr. Rice. "Most of these offers are ridiculous figures, to be sure, but at least they are offers—the first in a number of years."

Occupancy Increasing.

Mr. Rice told of gradually increasing occupancy of apartment buildings and of lessening foreclosures. He had a word of praise for local governmental agencies which he said were reducing the cost of government and for taxing officials whom he commended for having rendered excellent service to real estate.

Mr. Rice warned his audience, however, that there are two factors working against improvement of the real estate situation. The first, he said, was the contemplated moratorium bill and the other is the failure to amend the federal securities act.

"Officials of several large eastern insurance companies informed two of our staf who just returned from New York that if the moratorium bill becomes a law, they will permanently withdraw from Illinois," said Mr. Rice.

"A normal market for real estate requires credit, and at a time when credit is beginning to appear it would be a calamity to drive it out of the state by the passage of such a bill.

Needs Change in Law.

"As to the second, there are millions of dollars worth of real estate properties which today are ready to be turned over to the former bondholders. All that is necessary to effect a prompt and orderly transfer of title is an amendment to the securities act exempting from its provisions the new securities issued under reorganization.

"With these two important matters out of the way, thousands of properties in our city which have for years been liabilities will rapidly become good investments."

Mr. Rice made public the results of a comprehensive survey of occupancy and rentals which showed single family residences 89 per cent occupied in October, 1932, have now risen to 96 per cent.

Unfurnished, walkup apartments stood at 71 per cent in October, 1932, and in March of this year had climbed to 88 per cent.

"An increase of this size in the occupancy of this type of property in a city as large as Chicago means an enormous increase in the absorption of residential housing," said Mr. Rice.

TRIO OF YOUNG BANDITS ADMIT FIFTY CRIMES

Three young men who were arrested Wednesday after committing six drug store robberies within an hour, were identified yesterday in connection with 23 additional crimes, according to the Albany Park police.

The police also said that the trio had confessed to a total of 50 crimes, although victims of all of these had not been found as yet.

The prisoneres are John Lubrano, 18 years old, of 1945 Wolfram street; Lee, his brother, 26 years old, 3208 Sheffield avenue, and Edward Reining, 18 years old, of 4943 Kenmore avenue.

The Lubrano brothers were regularly employed, according to Capt. Joseph Goldberg—working during the day, and spending their nights in robbery.

AMERICAN TAX ON COCONUT OIL STIRS FILIPINOS

Levy Again Beclouds Freedom Issue.

BAGUIO, P. I., April 12.—(AP)—With the Philippine independence issue again beclouded by the United States senate's approval of a three cent per pound tax on importation of cocoanut oil, Gov. Gen. Frank Murphy today called a special session of the legislature for April 30 to act upon the Tydings-McDuffie law offering freedom to the ilands.

The governor general at his summer offices here said the time was too short between the June 5 election of a new legislature and the expiration date Oct. 1 for aceptance of the independence offer to permit the incoming legislature to decide the controversial question.

Rejected Previous Messages.

Therefore, the same body which rejected the Hawes-Cutting independence terms will take action upon the revised measure, which differs chiefly in that provision is made for withdrawal of United States military forces after a Philippine government is established.

The special session will provide for election of delegates, to a constitutional convention and authorize a commission to make a survey and recommendations prior to the convention.

Meanwhile, hope that President Roosevelt would veto the revenue bill if it is finally passed with the three cent tax cocoanut oil was expressed by Gov. Gen. Murphy.

The governor described the levy as "inequitable and unworthy." Philippine producers of cocoanut oil termed the tax, voted by the senate yesterday, a virtual embargo.

Just what effect the tax will have on the Filipino's attitude toward independence, if any, was obscure as legislative leaders here withheld comment pending possible alteration by congress or a presidential veto.

Calls Measure "Ruinous."

Kenneth B. Day, manager of the Philippine Refining company, said the levy would be "ruinous" and have the same effect as the original proposed levy as revenue returned to the insular treasury would not be passed on to the producers.

The American owned Manila Bulletin said the measure would "amount to abandonment of American-Philippine free trade. It would betray the flag, trade and principles of fair dealing for a bag of midwestern farm votes."

The cocoanut producing provinces already have been hard hit by low prices. Their condition led the department of interior to announce it had decided to grant a 33 per cent remission of land taxes in Tayabas and Laguna provinces which are the chief cocoanut producers.

Office Windows Smashed, Political Rivalry Blamed

Political rivalry was blamed by the police yesterday for the breaking of two windows in Anthony E. Kessel's coal and transfer office at 2551 North Halsted street. Kessel, a worker for Joseph P. O'Keefe, unsuccessful candidate for nomination as Democratic committeeman of the 44th ward, was kidnaped Tuesday and held for half an hour. He was released after being warned to tear down his candidate's political posters. Early yesterday two bricks were thrown through the front window of his office.

15 PLANES RENEW HUNT FOR THREE YANKS IN CHINA

SHANGHAI, April 13 [Friday].—(AP)—Capt. Frank Hawks, American speed pilot, soared aloft again today to continue a search for three Americans missing since early Tuesday in Hanchow bay, where their plane was reported down.

Darkness and gales, fog and rain forced an end to the search last night for the missing men: James Frink, Miami, Fla.; Robert Gast, pilot, Chicago; Ivan Carlson, Donna, Tex., and a Japanese passenger.

Today the searching corps was augmented to 15 planes, two tugboats and scores of Hangchow bay fishing junks, whose native boatmen are familiar with every foot of the iland dotted area.

The three Americans and the Japanese were en route to Canton on the Shanghai-Canton air mail route when they were reported missing.

6,000 GIRL SCOUTS TO DELIVER 75,000 COOKY PACKAGES

Six thousand Girl Scouts of Chicago will become messengers tomorrow to deliver gayly tied packages of cookies to the homes of friends and acquaintances from whom they have taken orders during the last few weeks. Proceeds of the cooky sale will be devoted to the operation of camps to accommodate as many girls as possible during the summer.

The uniformed girls will work out of 35 neighborhood stations for their "cooky day" activities, and it is estimated that more than 75,000 of the cellophane wrapped assortments will be delivered during the day. Mrs. Arthur Farwell, commissioner of Girl Scouting in Chicago, and other officials are actively interested in the enterprise.

Various camps will be maintained this summer including Juniper Knoll near Horicon, Wis., Timber Trail, in the Hiawatha national forest of upper Michigan; Four Way Lodge, in the forest preserve at Palos Park, and five one day camps established in as many city parks.

Woman Seized for Quiz on Murder Is Released

Mrs. Sarah Louis, 25 years old, 2453 Taylor street, questioned in connection with the murder of Joseph Tierno, 31 years old, Twentieth ward political worker, was released on Wednesday night. Police failed to identify her as the woman with whom Tierno had been drinking in a saloon shortly before he was shot to death Sunday morning.

HOW WOMEN CAN WIN MEN AND MEN WIN

The Favor of Other Men

Unless two pints of bile juice flow daily from your liver into your bowels your food decays in your bowels. This poisons your whole body. Movements get hard and constipated. You get yellow tongue, yellow skin, pimples, dull eyes, bad breath, bad taste, gas, dizziness, headache. You have become an ugly-looking, foul-smelling, sour-thinking person. You have lost your personal charm. Everybody wants to run from you.

But don't take salts, mineral waters, oils, laxative pills, laxative candies or chewing gums and expect them to get rid of this poison that destroys your personal charm. They can't do it, for they only move out the tail end of your bowels and that doesn't take away enough of the decayed poison. Cosmetics won't help at all.

Only a free flow of your bile juice will stop this decay poison in your bowels. The one mild vegetable medicine which starts a free flow of your bile juice is Carter's Little Liver Pills. No calomel (mercury) in Carter's. Only fine, mild vegetable extracts. If you would bring back your personal charm to win men, start taking Carter's Little Liver Pills according to directions today. 25c at drug stores.

Refuse "something just as good" for it may gripe, loosen teeth or scald rectum. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name and get what you ask for. ©1933, C.M.Co.

MacLeish Will Be in City for Ballet Opening

He Is Author of Book for "Union Pacific."

BY JUDITH CASS.

EVERY one of the MacLeish clan and all those interested in the Eli Bates benefit tomorrow night are delighted at the news that Archibald MacLeish will be here when the new ballet "Union Pacific," for which he wrote the book, will be given by the Monte Carlo Ballet Russe on its second program of its second engagement in Chicago.

It was thought at first that Mr. MacLeish couldn't get here from his home in New York, but yesterday morning his brother, Bruce MacLeish, had a wire stating that "Archie" and his wife would be here tomorrow morning. They have to return east Sunday, however, so there will be no chance for any entertaining for this son of a well known Chicago family who rapidly is making a name for himself in the world of poetry and art.

The Arts club had wanted to give him a tea, but there won't be time for it, unfortunately. The Tavern president, William C. Boyden, is inviting him and Mrs. MacLeish to the dance tomorrow night, however, at which some of the stars of the glamorous ballet troupe will be present.

Mr. MacLeish's brothers, Bruce and Norman, and their families will be on hand to see the ballet tomorrow night, but his mother and sister, Mrs. Andrew MacLeish and Miss Ishbel MacLeish, are abroad and will not sail for home until around the first of June. They went over in December and after traveling in Spain they now are in Italy proceeding leisurely to southern France. They did not visit Madrid on their earlier visit to Spain because of the cold, so they will return there before sailing for home from Gibraltar.

They will not come directly to Chicago when they land, for Mrs. MacLeish is going to Poughkeepsie to attend her class reunion at Vassar college where she was graduated in 1878. Needless to say, she is one of the oldest living graduates of this old institution of learning for women which was founded in 1861.

The few poor seats in the Auditorium will be occupied tomorrow night by the board members, for they all have resold their good seats and have taken the poor ones in order to swell the proceeds to go to the settlement house.

Another Performance Will Be a Benefit.

Another benefit during the week's engagement of the ballet will be one for the Miriam Josephine club, a home for working girls, next Tuesday night. Mrs. Samuel N. Leopold and Mrs. Leopold E. Block are co-chairmen of the committee in charge and Mrs. Charles K. Corsant is president of the board. This is the first time the club ever has had a benefit during the more than thirty years of its existence.

Mrs. Corsant, not long back from a winter in Coronado, Cal., is aiding in the sale of tickets and also working for another of her pet philanthropies, the Two R shop at 405 North State street, where donations are resold for the benefit of the women's division of the Salvation Army. The women's division is celebrating its fifth birthday

THE visiting nurse first gave a blue slip of paper to the —— family which entitled Pedro to treatment at the oral surgery clinic at the Children's Memorial hospital for his harelip. Then Mary, his sister, broke her arm, and another note, written on the blue letter paper of the Visiting Nurse association, admitted her to the hospital for treatment. After the cast was removed, the visiting nurse gave Mary treatments, and during these visits she discovered that Carmen had poor vision, so she gave her a note to the oculist that enabled her to get free glasses. Carmen decided she wanted to be a nurse, and began to ask questions as to how much a nursing education cost.

"But why do you want to be a nurse?" asked the visiting nurse who was giving Pedro his massage.

Mary was reluctant to explain, then was persuaded to give her reason.

"So when the family got sick I could give them notes to places," she said.

Fashion Notes Sing the Blues in Bright Hues

Costume Jewelry Has Plenty of Life and Dash.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

New blue notes for spring suit symphonies!

Costume jewelry of a fascinating lapis lazuli blue shade that has plenty of dash and life, not the faded grayed blue but a vital deep blue that will do grand things for white blouses, white piqué lapels, pale blue dresses; a blue tone that is just what you want for accenting dusky pink.

You will find clips that are long and wide, bracelets that are wide, smooth, or carved, huge pins that will hold scarfs and collars in place, and stunning earrings that are foils for dark and light colored hats.

If you like feathers there are some new silver and gold metal quills that are really pins. They are at least five inches long. You wear them pinned on your chest on an ascot tie or aslant the dip of your pet beret; and they are frightfully smart as the only decoration for the front of a simple tailored street dress of wool or silk.

Smaller feathers in silver or gold metal are copies of small curled ostrich feathers, the silver numbers being particulaly effective with black and navy and rich tones of red.

New street shoes are singing the blues, too. Stunning bright blues made with perforated designs, with and without straps and with either medium or high heels. You wear them now to harmonize with blue suits, later as a contrast with pale pink and pastel tinted cottons and crisp linens.

And new blue collar and cuff sets are positively the smartest things you can sew or pin to any frock in your wardrobe. There is one spaghetti set of cadet blue that is just a collection of four inch loops sewed to a banding, hence the reason for the name.

Other models of very fine ribbed piqué are used for suit sets. If you are tired of white or flesh, try these new blue accents for a refreshing alternative.

Pola Negri Arrives for World Premiere of Short Play Today

Pola Negri, Polish actress, arrived in Chicago by plane from New York yesterday afternoon and went direct to the Drake hotel. Today she will open a world premiere of a one act play, "For All We Know," by Herbert Ashton Jr., at the Palace theater. This will be her second stage appearance here, the previous time having been in "Paradise" a year or so ago. She expects to broadcast dramatic sketches here for a few weeks following the play before going on to Hollywood, where she will begin work on the motion picture, "Enter Madame," her first in a year and a half.

"Whatever comes about," Miss Negri confided, "I could never exist without my work. I will not work as strenuously as I have in the past, but I expect to make one picture and appear in at least one play each year."

Miss Negri, commenting on a rumor that linked her name with Harold F. McCormick, said there was nothing in the report of any marital plans. "We are good friends and nothing more," she said. "He is one of the finest men I know."

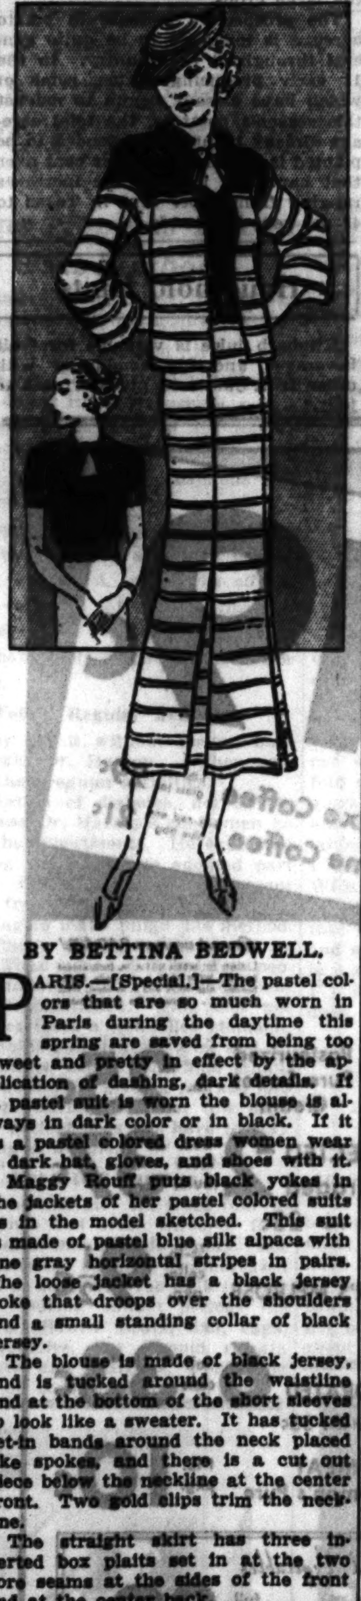
Woman's City Club.

Miss Isabella Dolton, assistant superintendent of schools, will discuss "Specialized Art in the Public Schools" at the forum of the Woman's City club at 12:15 this noon in the clubrooms, 6 North Michigan avenue. Motion pictures will illustrate the lecture.

Dark Details Put Verve Into Paris' Pastel Ensembles



BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—The pastel colors that are so much worn in Paris during the daytime this spring are saved from being too sweet and pretty in effect by the application of dashing, dark details. If a pastel suit is worn the blouse is always in dark color or in black. If it is a pastel colored dress women wear a dark hat, gloves, and shoes with it.

Maggy Rouff puts black yokes in the jackets of her pastel colored suits as in the model sketched. This suit is made of pastel blue silk alpaca with fine gray horizontal stripes in pairs. The loose jacket has a black jersey yoke that droops over the shoulders and a small standing collar of black jersey.

The blouse is made of black jersey, and is tucked around the waistline and at the bottom of the short sleeves to look like a sweater. It has tucked set-in bands around the neck placed like spokes, and there is a cut out piece below the neckline at the center front. Two gold clips trim the neckline.

The straight skirt has three inverted box plaits set in at the two gore seams at the sides of the front and at the center back.

New Season of Symphony Is Promised

Audience Gets Good News at Final Concert.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

It was the last concert of the season by the Chicago Symphony orchestra—or at least it will be the last when it is repeated this afternoon—but several events intervened to make it a less doleful event than it might have been.

One was the statement by Arthur G. Cable to the audience during the intermission. Speaking in behalf of the committee on the season's deficit, he said that $59,840 of the desired amount had been subscribed by 1,160 subscribers; that the remainder of the $70,000 was in sight; that a reasonably large auxiliary committee, the names to be announced later, would undertake the task of selling the vacant seats on a subscription basis for next season so that a future deficit need not be feared.

It means, among other things, that the orchestra is assured for at least one more season.

Following the intermission, Conductor Stock took the orchestra through a stirring performance of Strauss' "Till Eulenspiegel." Then he turned to the audience and said that, because it was the last performance, he might he forgiven for relaxing the rule against encores and was ready to play an extra number, "anything you want—we have two numbers on the stands."

Both were played. One was the pizzicato movement from Tschaikowsky's Fourth Symphony, that marvelous performance that is played almost without Mr. Stock's aid, though no one ventures to say that in this case he is a nonconductor; the other was the Sailors' Dance from Gliere's ballet, "The Red Poppy."

The program began with Beethoven's "Fidelio" overture and the symphony was Brahms' first. At the end there were excerpts from Wagner's "Tristan and Isolde" and "Die Goetterdämmerung," thereby putting a climax on one of the orchestra's finest seasons.

It has been an active season as well as a fine one. During the twenty-eight weeks 123 works were played, coming from the pens of fifty-three composers. Twenty-one of these were previously unplayed works, though not in all cases new ones, and eight were by American composers.

The soloists numbered seventeen, ten pianists, including Guy Maier and Lee Pattison, who played jointly; four violinists, two cellists, and one singer. Three guest conductors appeared, usually presenting their own works, though Sir Hamilton Harty conducted several others as well.

SCHOOL MUSIC

William J. Bogan, superintendent of Chicago schools, addressed the Music Supervisors' National conference at the biennial dinner in the Stevens hotel last night and stressed the necessity of musical education in the schools.

"As far back as one may go in history," he said, "evidence may be found that music was an important phase of education. In fact, the study of primitive man shows that the desire for music was one of the first symptoms of approaching civilization.

"In a changing world even culture changes. In a machine age there is danger that culture may disappear. Education must adapt itself to the needs of the people. Therefore culture, especially musical culture, which is one of the greatest of these needs, must be developed in the schools."

Geoffrey O'Hara, composer of many songs, including "K-K-K-Katy" and "The Wreck of the Julie Plante," paid a striking tribute to THE TRIBUNE for the presentation of the Chicagoland Music Festivals. "Already the crowds have come up to and passed football multitudes," he said. "Witness the Hollywood bowl in California or the vast audience of 150,000 gathered by the marvelous festival promoted by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE in Soldiers' field, which takes place again this year on Saturday, Aug. 18."

As on the other days of the conference, music took an important part in the proceedings. In the morning the Augustana college choir of Rock Island appeared under the direction of Henry Veld in its two sections, the Wennerberg chorus and the A Cappella choir.

In the evening the Chicago A Cappella choir appeared in an elaborate program under the direction of Noble Cain. Rudolph Ganz was the toastmaster and Philip La Follette, former governor of Wisconsin, spoke on "The New Culture of the New Era."

During the afternoon the University of Michigan provided a unique feature by demonstrating the teaching of singing by radio. Prof. Joseph E. Maddy broadcast a lesson from a studio to pupils in another studio before educators of the conference.

A specially arranged concert to members of the conference will be given in the De Paul university Little theater, 64 East Lake street, at 11 o'clock this morning. Reinald Werrenrath, baritone; Michael Wilkomirski, and Helen Desmond Costello, pianist, will appear.

On their return from their wedding trip they will be at home on the north shore.

The '34 Follies Score Again on South Shore

Dress Rehersal Reveals Smart Musical.

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.

Those seeking song and dance entertainment might spend a profitable two hours tonight or tomorrow night at the South Shore Country club. At 8:30 this evening the curtain in the club ballroom will rise on the first performance of the 1934 edition of the South Shore Follies, unequaled for fun and finish in thirteen previous productions.

At a dress rehersal last night final touches were applied to the two dozen scenes rehersed for the first time less than ten days ago. From the prelude with the chorus "Stepping Out in High" to the grand finale that matches the Victorian with the modern the show is a kaleidoscope of dazzling color and lilting rhythm.

Morrison C. Wood and his father, Ralph Wood, the only two club members to have taken part in the first edition of the Follies in 1920, are back in the lineup again this time. Morrison Wood is at his best as the soloist in the skit, "Alphabet on Parade," that winds up the first act. The author of it, he takes the lead with his daughter, Miss Betty Booth, who is the Girl on the Pedestal. The New Deal comes in for burlesque in part of the scene.

Another old timer, E. Malcolm Anderson, provides unexpected humor in the show when he appears with Miss Jean Dodge and Walter Hayne in a "Parody of Modern Dancing." Written during a reheral, this skit is not recorded in the program. More fun is furnished by the village choral society which dates itself in the days of pump organs and bustles and by a golf game, which is Mr. Wood's 1934 version of domestic difficulty. Last year he wrote a similar skit, the scene of which was laid in a taxi; the year before it was a scene in a cabaret, and next year, the author reports, it will be at a bridge table.

Bound to bring a round of applause is Marion Gilbert, who is one of the "finds" of this year's Follies. With Barbara Stemm singing, she does a tap dance on her toes, entitled "Plumes," that has brought an ovation from the cast at each rehersal. Bonnie Ballantine, who sings in one of the most spectacular scenes of the show, "A Bit of Old Russia," is another newcomer to the cast, and so is John T. O'Connor, who knows his "Catchy Rhythm."

The production owes a lot to its dancers. With the blue of her eyes matching the stripes on her trousers, Janet Good Turner goes through a series of cartwheels in the second skit with amazing ease and grace. Lovely Marie Hisgen, whose interpretations are always a Follies highlight, is at her best in the number that pays heed to American recognition of Russia, while Virginia Hall Johnson shows off her talent as the Lady of the Evening in the "Boulevard of Broken Dreams."

Jean Maehle and her twin sister, Lois . . . even John T. Hall, producer of the show, can't tell them apart . . . are sophisticated ladies in a song and dance number that brings them out in a slim white lace gown, scarlet coq feather capes and matching hats and gloves. Jiddy Essroger comes back this year in a tap dance better than ever. Jean Gayton dances before the curtain and Lois Russel Holsman croons "I Don't Think It's Right."

De Mille Says 'Cleopatra' Is a Money Maker

Grows Eloquent in Talk to Theater Owners.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Hollywood, Cal., April 12.—[Special.]—Cecil De Mille, veteran movie producer, was a principal speaker at the convention of Motion Picture Theater Owners of America. After telling the 1,000 show owners that he had spent twenty years in the business but was still trying to find out how pictures are made De Mille produced sketches, photographs, illustrations and models to show the vast amount of research and technical work prefacing the actual shooting of such a million dollar pageant as his current "Cleopatra."

His audience listened raptly because Mr. De Mille not only is as imaginative a gentleman as there is in the entire industry but he also is about as skilful a sales talker as the best film salesman in the business. Swept along by the fervor of his speech and the rapt attention of the delegates the producer ended with comment which probably made George Bernard Shaw move over and make room on his seat:

"Shakespeare wrote a play about Cleopatra but it wasn't a good play." De Mille then assured the delegates that his production of "Cleopatra" "will not only be a great picture and an artistic achievement but it also will be a great money maker."

A bit of an anti-climax occurred when De Mille, reaching a climax in his talk about the difficulties which harass producers in securing proper human instrumentalities—such as actors, writers and directors—for the accomplishment of their brain creations, said "Hollywood is a desert when you are looking for brains." All the delegates clapped; but it soon developed they had clapped at the wrong time for Mr. De Mille hastily amended his remark by explaining "there are plenty of brains in Hollywood but they are all under studio contract."

Adela Rogers St. John Hyland, novelist and playwright, leaves Saturday after completing the story, "A Son Comes Home," for Lee Tracy's first Paramount film, and Mrs. St. John says she is going to New York, doesn't intend to pause in Reno or anywhere else for a divorce and that she denies she will take steps or has even been contemplating a divorce. She said her statements were occasioned by reading Los Angeles and New York reports about a marital break. Dick Hyland, writer and ex-Stanford football star, is her husband. Dick is in New York.

Lee Tracy's contract to make four films for Paramount has not been recorded on paper. It is a "handshake" contract, the hand which Tracy shook being that of Al Kauffman, assistant to Emanuel Cohen, Paramount production boss.

Grant Withers, movie leading man, will reach Chicago tomorrow to spend two hours between trains and hurry back to Hollywood with his sick bride. Mrs. Withers, the former Alice Walsh of Cleveland, O., has been seriously ill of flu in her old home, but was unwilling to be separated any longer from her husband. Withers met her in Chicago last autumn. It was a romance of A Century of Progress Exposition at which Withers headed a motion picture exhibit.

SPRING SALADS CATER TO TASTE OF THE HE-MEN

Masculine Palates Tire of Dressy Dishes.

Economical tips for week-end food shoppers—a weekly radio feature—will be presented today by Mary Meade over station W-G-N. Tune in at 2 o'clock for Miss Meade's market chat.

BY MARY MEADE.

One of the most blessed things about spring cooking is the genial presence of he-man salads. Watch the manly forehead scowl if you serve too frequently these ladylike salads which look so gay but seem so abominably hard for men diners to attack and get any real joy out of. Do save them for the bridge club and the girls who understand.

But don't let that keep you from serving salads to friend husband. Only make them ones which, plus a hot drink, crusty rolls, or Vienna bread, and perhaps a favored wedge of pie, will make a completely satisfying luncheon or supper to suit the most mannish tastes.

And lest you don't know quite what these might be we'll start with the good old tomato and baked bean flavor to which gentlemen have already been initiated by hot beans smothered in catsup or chili sauce.

BAKED BEAN AND TOMATO SALAD.

4 tomatoes, peeled
1 cup baked beans
2 tablespoons mayonnaise

Turn the tomatoes stem-end down on crisp lettuce. With a steady paring knife cut them almost to the bottom in six even wedges, pressing apart the sections. This gives the aspect of a flower, but don't tell him. Men are easily frightened. Now fill the center with the well blended baked bean and mayonnaise mixture. Chill the salads and serve.

The second attempt should succeed even better, since the sir in question discovered that the baked bean idea was really worth telling the boys about. So make this one a:

STUFFED PEPPER SALAD.

2 cups flaked crab meat
1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons grated onion
Cayenne pepper to taste
2-3 cup diced celery
¾ cup mayonnaise
6 green peppers

Toss together the crab meat, onion, seasoning, celery, and the mayonnaise. Next cut a two inch slice from the center section of each green pepper, leaving each in the form of a ring. Remove the seeds and pith and place on crisp lettuce. Pile the fish mixture into the pepper rings and top with an additional festoon of mayonnaise. The remaining parts of the peppers may be cleaned out and kept ready for the next à la king, meat loaf, or what-you-will.

The next event is no risk at all, for even the most meat and potato minded husband has at one time or another discovered the surprisingly good way that salmon and cucumbers connive to flatter each other's flavors. So offer him this time:

SALMON AND CUCUMBER SALAD.

1¼ cups salmon, separated
½ cup mayonnaise
¾ teaspoon salt
1¼ cups cucumber
1 tablespoon vinegar

Peel and dice the cucumbers, salt them sparingly, and let them stand an hour. Then drain off any collected juices and toss all the ingredients together. Chill and pile the salad with that studied carelessness you've heard about into crisp lettuce cups. Pass around additional mayonnaise.

425 Pounds All in One Fish

This giant halibut weighing 425 pounds is believed to be the largest of its kind ever captured in northwest Pacific waters. It was caught on the Portland banks in the Gulf of Alaska. The previous record for halibut in northwest waters was a 373 pounder landed at Ketchikan, Alaska, several years ago. [Acme Photo.]

LARGE INCREASE IN U. S. POTATO CROP INDICATED

Growers Warned of Low Prices.

Potato production in the United States this year would total 375,000,000 bushels—58,000,000 bushels more than in 1933—should farmers carry out planting intentions recently reported to the crop reporting board of the bureau of agricultural economics, and if yields should average those of recent years.

Reports from growers indicate that potato acreage for harvest this year may total 3,400,000 acres, about 7 per cent more than the number of acres harvested in 1933. Yields in recent years have averaged 110 bushels an acre. The projected total of 375,000,000 bushels would exceed the average of the last five years by about 20,000,000 bushels.

The bureau cautions that a crop of this size would be the largest since 1928 when considerable quantities of potatoes could not be marketed because of low prices, and points out that present relatively high prices of potatoes are due chiefly to the very short crop of 1933. The bureau explains further that consumer demand for potatoes is fairly constant, and that small crops during the last 25 years have consistently returned higher gross incomes to growers than have the large crops.

The prospective increase in potato acreage is indicated to be quite general throughout the country. In the 11 early producing states, some of which have already begun to market this season's potatoes, the total acreage already planted or intended to be planted is increased 14.1 per cent over that harvested in 1933, the increases ranging from 2 per cent in Texas to 42 per cent in Florida.

CANDIED CORN COMING BACK IN NEW RECIPE

'Tis Said It Shoos Away Spring Fever.

BY ONEY FLEENER.

When folks start stretchin' and yawnin' durin' the midday like they do in "mawnin'," they've got it—spring fever. And they need another "it"—homemade candied corn.

Candied corn is coming back into popularity this spring, because it is an ideal substitute for heavier foods that usually aggravate the "fevered" ones. It is ideal also for keeping that maidenish figure fine and fancy.

Spring Fever Patient.

If the "patient" isn't too bad off, have him pop one pound of corn. [Make him look it over carefully and remove all unpopped kernels . . . better supervise this work well, for the lanquishing one may be unable to see very well.]

The next thing, oh hum, that has to be done by some one is the making of a syrup of [or maybe from] two cups of sugar and one cup of water. Pour this over the corn.

But, just a minute. The syrup must be boiled until it forms a white thread. If it is poured onto the corn before it reaches this stage the candied corn will be so tough that even those without the spring malady will be unable to chew it without a sickening sigh.

Peppermint Popcorn.

Work the popcorn into the syrup quickly and vigorously and then spread the results thinly on wax papers. Sprinkle the cooling results with powdered peppermints. The white dust will blend with the pallid kernels and will give guests a smart surprise.

The peppermint popularity in candied corn is attributed in part to the fresh, cool condition the flavor leaves in the mouth, reducing the usual desire for a lot of water.

Mary went to market

Here's the story. There's even a moral so don't say you weren't warned in advance. Mary—poor darling—went to market and fell for the seeming economy of "bargain counter" coffee. But she quickly learned that—even though you buy coffee by the pound—you don't drink it by the pound. You drink it by the cup. And true economy is based on how many satisfactory cups you get from the pound. Mary discovered that Hills Bros. Coffee makes a greater number of completely delicious cups per pound because of the greater abundance of strength and flavor. MORAL: For real economy as well as supreme coffee flavor, always ask for Hills Bros. Coffee.

Cushman's SONS, INC. QUALITY BAKERS

FOOD BARGAINS FILL MARTS FOR THIS WEEK-END

First Illinois Lettuce Goes on Sale.

BY PAUL POTTER.

The general trend of food prices this week, so far as the shoppers of Chicago and suburbs are concerned, has been slightly lower with but few exceptions, and today and tomorrow will find many attractive bargains being offered by the majority of grocers and butchers. Pastry goods remain about the same in prices, except that some kinds of bread are a cent a loaf higher than two weeks ago.

The exceptions to the rule of downward or steady prices in provisions are chiefly strictly fresh eggs, strawberries, and apples. Beef cuts and fish also are somewhat higher than a week ago in many stores.

Press New Egg Standards.

In spite of an attempt by the state bureau of foods and dairies to improve the standard of eggs sold in retail stores—a project started several months ago—a survey yesterday indicated that many grocers still leave much doubt as to the quality of eggs the consumer buys. One of the chief drawbacks to enforcement of the new egg standards which were designed to protect buyers is that the enforcement agency of the state has so few men to make checkups, plus the inclination of most food store managers to leave the eggs out where they deteriorate before they are consumed.

The state regulations are supposed to provide three grades of eggs. These are the very finest, called "hennery"; the strictly fresh, and the fresh. All lower grades of eggs are not to carry the term "fresh," although many stores fail to inform buyers their purchases have come from storage, or how long they have been out of the refrigerator.

Age More Quickly.

Such eggs are fine when placed in storage and above the market average when sold to stores, but in many cases the eggs age more quickly after having been taken from their cold quarters.

There still seems to be much room for improvement before the customer is to know just what kind of eggs she is getting. The price tag is still insufficient guide, and the new grades of the state are still confusing to the storekeeper and the average customer.

Summer Squash Popular.

The summer squash, which has been so popular of late, coming to Chicago tables from the southern gardens, is finding more demand than usual, and supplies are rather short in the local market. This is also the in-between season for the southern strawberries, which accounts for lower quality and higher prices in many cases.

Cabbage is cheaper, while asparagus is somewhat higher this weekend. Some stores are making the bunches of asparagus smaller and others keep the full size and raise the price, pending receipt of the new supplies of Anna asparagus to arrive soon. The first Illinois leaf lettuce, from downstate, is now on the market.

Tribune Recipes

RHUBARB DAINTY.

1 pound pink rhubarb
1 cup granulated sugar
15 marshmallows
2/3 cup shredded coconut
12 lady fingers

Cut rhubarb without peeling into ½ inch cubes. Place in saucepan with sugar, cover, and cook over low heat until the juices begin to flow. Uncover and cook rapidly until a thick sauce is formed. Cut marshmallows into quarters, fold into warm fruit pulp, and add half the shredded coconut. Cool slightly. Pour into individual serving dishes lined with halved lady fingers. Sprinkle with the remaining coconut and chill thoroughly.

PINEAPPLE LAYER CAKE.

¾ cup sugar
⅓ cup butter
2 eggs, separated
1 cup pineapple sirup
2 cups flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1/3 teaspoon salt

Cream the sugar and butter together until fluffy. Add the beaten yolks and beat two minutes. Then add the sifted dry ingredients alternately with the pineapple sirup, which has been boiled down to three-fourths cup and cooled before adding. Fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites. Turn the batter into two layer cake tins lined with waxed paper. Bake in a moderately hot oven [370 degrees F.] for 20 to 25 minutes. Turn out on a rack, and when cool put together with the following filling, saving out enough for a frosting:

SWEETBREADS AND MUSHROOMS ARE CHOICE DISH

Make Tasty Variation for Luncheon Menu.

BY MABEL BRYANT.

Among the little enough known but delicious meat sundries such as hearts, kidneys and tongues, the choicest of all are sweetbreads.

Sweetbreads consist of two parts. The round, compact part is called the heart sweetbread, and its position is nearer the heart; the other part is called the throat sweetbread. When sweetbreads are separated at the market, avoid buying a pair of throat sweetbreads, as the heart sweetbread is better.

A Mushroom Recipe.

With mushrooms so plentiful at this time, why not combine them with sweetbreads for a luncheon or tea? Here is a recipe:

½ pound mushrooms
1 pound sweetbreads
2 cups sweet milk
2 level tablespoons flour
3 tablespoonsful butter
1 teaspoon vinegar or lemon juice

As sweetbreads lose their freshness quickly set to soak in cold running water for 10 minutes. Place in cold water over fire to which has been added the vinegar or lemon juice. Heat gradually to the boiling point; let simmer gently for 30 minutes.

Drain and blanch in ice water to harden them. When thoroughly cold remove all fibrous skin, being careful to keep the sweetbreads whole. Next peel and cut mushrooms and stems into pieces of uniform size with sweetbreads. Cook gently, covered with butter, for five minutes, add flour and stir until well blended, add milk and cook to a smooth sauce. Add sweetbreads drained, and add seasoning to taste. Place in buttered casserole or individual pattie shells. Sprinkle the top with buttered bread crumbs and set in oven until golden brown.

A Sweetbread Salad.

Suppose you serve a sweetbread and mushroom salad to your favorite bridge crowd the next time they gather under your roof. A recipe for this salad which will serve 12 follows:

1 pound sweetbreads
1 can mushrooms or ½ lb. fresh ones
½ cup pecan meats
2 stalks celery
3 hard cooked eggs
1 cup mayonnaise
½ cup whipping cream

Prepare sweetbreads in the usual manner, cooking gently for one-half hour. At end of that time plunge in cold water and drain. When cold cut into cubes. Peel mushrooms [if fresh are used] and cut in small pieces. Cook them for 10 minutes, covered, in a small amount of salted water. Drain, but save the water to season gravies or soup. Dice the celery, and cut nuts coarsely. When everything is thoroughly chilled mix together and fold in the mayonnaise mixed with the whipped cream. Sprinkle very lightly with paprika and garnish with ripe olives.

BUTCHER WINS TEST DISABILITY INSURANCE SUIT

New York, April 12.—[Special.]—An east side butcher won the right to disability insurance benefits dating back to 1930 in a decision by Justice George Genung today.

The case, contested by the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, is the first of its kind in this state. As such it will be appealed and will establish the precedent for all similar cases.

The plaintif, Hyman Finkelstein, became unable to work as the result of a hernia in August, 1930. His policy with the Metropolitan included benefits for total permanent disability. Counsel for the company contended that an operation might have cured him. Counsel for the plaintiff contended that the possible result of an operation had no bearing on the case. Justice Genung held for the plaintiff.

MILK, BANANA DIET OFFERED TO CUT WEIGHT

Johns Hopkins Doctor Uses Method.

Baltimore, Md., April 12.—(AP)—A simple solution of the well fed American waistline problem has been worked out at the metabolism clinic of the Johns Hopkins hospital.

Dr. George A. Harrop Jr., an authority on diet in the treatment of disease, solved it with bananas and skimmed milk.

Clinical records show patients taking that diet lose from six to 10 pounds in two weeks. A two weeks off-diet period follows. After that they return to it and lose as much again. Some have lost 50 pounds in a few months.

Follow Regular Activity.

"They did it without feeling hungry," said Dr. Harrop. "They continued their regular activities."

Prevention of diabetes, not double chins, was Dr. Harrop's goal when he began the experiments. He expressed irritation when faddists adopted part of his routine. Not until recent deaths from "reducing drugs" was he willing to make public his method.

"Reducing should be natural," he said. "That means diet, but few people will follow a diet that leaves them weak or unsatisfied. This diet not only gives them a well filled stomach, but contains sufficient calories and all the vitamins, except B, which stimulates appetite. It gives a marked loss of weight during the first few days and the patient does not have to stay on it long at a time.

Eat 4 to 6 Bananas.

Those on the diet eat from four to six bananas and drink three or four glasses of skimmed milk a day. For milder diets the bananas are increased to seven or eight and the milk to four glasses. During off-diet periods the patient is allowed meats, fish, eggs, and vegetables, but should refrain from fats and starches. For some there is an occasional stein of beer.

USE ORANGE PEELS FOR VITAMINS WITH TURN OVER BISCUITS

The peel of oranges, as well as the juice, contains the vitamins A, B, and C. So when sliced or grated rind is used in a recipe, it will add food value as well as flavor, according to the Home Economics department of Purdue university. They recommend these recipes for adding vitamins to the diet:

ORANGE TURNOVER BISCUITS.

2 cups sifted soft wheat flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons fat
2-3 cup milk
¼ cup melted butter
Grated orange rind
Sugar

Sift the dry ingredients and cut in the fat with a biscuit cutter. Make a well in the mixture and add the milk slowly; stir from the center with a fork until a fairly stiff dough is formed. Knead for a few seconds until smooth. Roll out about one-fourth inch thick on a lightly floured board, cut with a small biscuit cutter, and fold over like a pocketbook roll. Dip quickly into the melted butter, drain, and put in a baking pan. To each tablespoon of grated orange rind add 1 tablespoon of sugar, and mix well. With the tip of a knife, place a small quantity of the orange and sugar mixture between the folds of the biscuits and spread a little over the top. Bake in a moderately hot oven [375 degrees F.] until lightly browned. Serve at once.

ORANGE DROP COOKIES.

2 tablespoons grated orange rind
4 tablespoons butter
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
4 tablespoons orange juice
2 cups sifted flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt

Cream together the grated orange rind, butter, and sugar. Add the well-beaten eggs and orange juice, and the flour, baking powder, and salt, which have been sifted together. Drop the batter by spoonfuls onto a greased baking sheet and bake in a moderately hot oven [375 to 400 degrees F.] for about 10 minutes.

WISE GARDENER PLANS ON BASIS OF YEAR'S NEED

Balances Planting as He Does Diet.

Ithaca, N. Y., April 12.—"Select a variety of seeds to plant in the spring so that a variety of vegetables may be selected from the pantry shelf during the winter," advise staf members of the New York state college of home economics.

They say indoor planning of what and how much to plant is one of the most important parts of making a vegetable garden. In order to keep the food budget down and to have a "homemade" living not only during the summer months when the garden flourishes but also during the winter, careful planning for a surplus to be canned must be undertaken.

Careful planning makes it possible for the home garden to produce most of the vegetables needed to round out an adequate, health-giving diet.

Cabbage is usually the cheapest leafy vegetable, and carrots the best and cheapest yellow one. Spinach and other greens are valuable, as well as onions, beets, turnips, and parsnips.

The following lengths of garden rows necessary for a twelve-months' supply of vegetables for one person are suggested by the college: chard or kale, 6 feet; lettuce, two plantings, 12 feet each; cabbage, 49 feet; tomatoes, 40 feet; green peas, 3 plantings, 20 feet each; snap beans, 2 plantings, 20 feet each; carrots, 3 plantings, 15 feet each; onions, 25 feet; corn, 3 plantings, 25 feet each; rutabagas or turnips, 25 feet; beets, 2 plantings, 20 feet each; parsnips, 12 feet; squash, 3 hills; potatoes, 200 to 400 feet; beans, 80 to 100 feet. The list makes no allowances for pickles and relishes, and to obtain these, more vegetables must be planted.

EUGENE O'NEILL ILL AT HIS HOME, ATTORNEY SAYS

New York, April 12.—[Special.]—Eugene O'Neill, the playwright, is suffering from a nervous breakdown and is under the care of a doctor and a nurse in his home at 1095 Park avenue, his attorney, L. J. D'Auria, said today to explain his absence from the Supreme court in the Bronx, where he was to appear as a defendant in a $28,000 damage suit growing out of an automobile accident.

The playwright was to have taken the stand today. Instead, D'Auria said, Mrs. O'Neill was present and ready to testify.

Louis Gans, 48 years old, of the Bronx, and his daughter, Isabelle, 18, are the plaintifs, asking $25,000 and $3,000, respectively, as a result of injuries suffered in an automobile accident on March 18, 1932. Gans says that he was riding with his daughter in their new car at the north end of the Hutchinsion river parkway at Harrison, N. Y., when their machine was struck by one which Howard McBride, O'Neill's chauffeur, was driving.

The impact, he says, threw the Gans car against that of David J. Davidson of Port Chester, who also was injured.

Conference to Demonstrate Modern Kitchen Appliances

Modern kitchen appliances which aid in eliminating much of the drudgery of housework, will be demonstrated today when the domestic gas appliances and home service conference, sponsored by the American Gas association, opens at the Palmer house. The opening session will be presided over by Dorothy E. Shank of the American Stove company, Cleveland, and a "Kitchen Modernization" résume will be conducted.

Whistles for Pigeons Are Added to Exhibits at the Field Museum

Years before radio was dreamed of, the Chinese had "music on the air," according to Dr. Berthold Laufer, curator of anthropology at the Field Museum of Natural History, who announced the opening of an exhibition of pigeon whistles at the museum.

"The Chinese presented their air programs, which, by the way, were strictly noncommercial, by attaching small reed instruments, resembling pipes of Pan, to the tail feathers of pigeons," Dr. Laufer said. "Whole flocks of birds are thus equipped today, each bird with whistles producing different notes. As they fly the wind strikes the apertures of the pipes, creating a pleasant open air concert."

Dr. Laufer stated that the Chinese explanation of the practice is that the sounds of the whistles are intended to keep the flocks together and to protect the birds from the onslaught of hawks and other birds of prey. It is doubtful, however, whether such music makes any impression on either pigeon or hawk, he said, since it constantly fills the atmosphere year after year.

Wife Sues Husband Over His Gift of Moonshine

Not being accustomed to drinking, Mrs. Hilda Dinkel of 2550 North 73d street, Elmwood Park, was not pleased when the only Christmas present her husband, Alphonse, gave her was a pint of moonshine. This was only one of the acts of cruelty cited in her bill for divorce, filed yesterday by Attorney Norman Becker. Judge Joseph Sabath allowed her $8 a week temporary alimony, pending a full hearing.

TOASTING HEALTH ON DRINKING IS ANCIENT CUSTOM

Proof It's Not Poison Is Probable Origin.

Why do people clink their glasses when they drink to each other's health? And why do they drink to each others health? There are several different stories concerning the origin of this custom. Most authorities, however, are of the opinion that the custom of "drinking to the health" originated with the practice of drinking first, to show that the drink is not harmful. This little ceremony of drinking first would predispose the other to friendliness and good will.

Among both the Romans and the Greeks healths were drunk to guests. Some writers say the custom originated with the Greeks and was copied by the Romans, but of this one cannot be certain. Both drank healths, and both had the custom of proving the wine unpoisoned by having the host drink first. Neither a Greek nor a Roman would pass the cup to his friend without having first tasted of it to prove its safety. This drinking together came to be a sort of pledge to friendship and amity.

Gladiators Tried It.

Another explanation of the clinking glasses, and one also attributed to the Romans reads, "Before a duel, each gladiator drank a glass of wine, and, to guard against the treachery of poison being slipped into one of the glasses, it became a custom for the fighters to touch the glasses and pour the wine from one to the other."

Still another description regarding the touching of glasses when drinking healths states, "This custom originated with the monks, who, when three of them were about to drink together, used to touch their glasses two, side by side, and the other over, the three together forming a sort of triangle with the base downwards, which custom had some inference to the holy trinity."

Returning to the Romans, we find that the young men of that time had a pretty drinking custom. Among them it was quite the vogue to drink as many glasses of wine as there were letters in their sweetheart's name. Woe, to the fellow today in love with a lady with such a name as "Wilhelmina Krantzenmaior" and bent on following the practice of the early gallants.

"Toast" Is Doubtful.

Doubt seems to surround the true origin of the word "toast." One writer says that in the reign of Charles II. a piece of toasted bread was dropped in the wine, and a wit seeing that part of the wine had already been drunk remarked, "If I cannot drink the wine, at least I can have the toast."

Still another theory concerning the origin of the word has been advanced. It was a general custom to drink by the fireside, bread being toasted while the men drank. Some writers believe that the word, in connection with drinking healths, originated in this way.

So, if you hear your friends as they are drinking a bottle of beer or a cocktail, exclaim, "Well, here's mud in your eye," "Down the hatch," or "To your health, my dear," you can think back and say, "Well, after all, it's a grand old custom, isn't it?"

Hinsdale Garden Club Wins Visitors' Votes at Flower Exhibit

The Hinsdale Garden club's dinner table entry yesterday won the popular vote of visitors to the eighth annual garden and flower show of the Garden Club of Illinois at Navy pier.

Attendance at the show, which is open daily from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m. until Sunday night, continues to reveal increased interest in flowers and gardens.

One of the historic bits of gardening at the show is to be found in the exhibit of a kitchen garden prepared by members of the Kenilworth Home and Garden club. In the center of the attractive beds of vegetables is an armillary sundial, an instrument used by gardeners centuries ago for determining the proper planting time according to the moon and stars.

Fined $200 for Tying 8 Year Old Boy to Porch

Charged with having tied an 8 year old boy to the porch of his home with a rope, Frank Block, 40 years old, 5558 Shields avenue, was fined $200 yesterday by Judge Thomas A. Green. The mother of the boy, Mrs. Delia Gannon, a neighbor of Block, was the main witness against him, but other neighbors also testified Block was a nuisance and had recently annoyed other boys. He will be given a sanity examination.

Bandits Bind Woman, 82, to Her Bed and Rob Store

Mrs. Margaret Kennedy, 82 years old, owner of a small candy store at 4256 Lake street, was bound to her bed yesterday by two bandits who ransacked the store and took $20. They broke down the front door to enter the place. Although awakened by the crash, Mrs. Kennedy was too frightened to call for help. Bound with torn sheets, she remained a prisoner for five hours before a customer released her.

WELL ARRANGED KITCHEN HELPS THE HOUSEWIFE

Large Outlay of Cash Is Not Necessary.

Kitchens that are conveniently arranged, well lighted, and adequately equipped add much to the comfort and efficiency of the homemaker.

To create a convenient kitchen it is desirable first to consider how the kitchen equipment and arrangement affect the homemaker's time, health, and disposition, and the well being of the whole family. A large outlay of money is not required for the first needs of kitchen planning, but an open mind about kitchen tasks is needed, for the routine always used in the past may not be the best one possible.

An Open Mind Helpful.

An open mind helps to determine the most satisfactory way to do each kitchen job, and to arrange work centers and equipment to make this way possible. Pieces of furniture that are used together should be near each other; the table on which dishes are placed after they are washed should be either permanently situated next to the sink or movable on rubber wheels.

Equipment and utensils should be chosen which will do the kitchen tasks in the easiest way and give the best results for the least money. For example, it is more economical to buy a good egg beater than continually to replace a cheap one.

Plenty of Light Advised.

An attractive color scheme, good window space, sheer curtains that do not shut out the light, and an artificial light well placed so that the worker's shadow does not fall on her work, likewise promote both comfort and efficiency.

Household Hints

A narrow shelf over the sink to hold dishwashing supplies saves many steps. Paring knives and other utensils used at the sink may be hung underneath.

South Bend, Ind., April 12.—[Special.]—Patrick J. McGuinness, former Chicago hotel executive, was appointed superintendent of buildings at the University of Notre Dame today. McGuinness, recently assistant manager of the Bismarck hotel in Chicago, formerly held managerships at the Midwest Athletic club, Garfield Arms, Alcazar hotel, and Sheridan Plaza in Chicago.

PRESERVE CORN ON COB, FROZEN, THEN PUT IT UP

Government Experts Tell Experiments.

Golden bantam corn frozen on the cob last summer and cooked on the cob in March was a leader in interest at the annual exhibit by the United States department of agriculture of new developments in the preservation of fruits and vegetables by freezing and canning.

The frozen corn was notably free from "cob flavor," commonly associated with corn preserved on the cob, and was regarded as even sweeter than fresh corn by many who attended the exhibition and assisted in sampling and scoring the products.

Find 16 Above Satisfactory.

The exhibit further emphasized the fact developed in previous investigations by the bureau that freezing at very low temperature injures many frozen products as compared with freezing at moderate temperatures. Cherries frozen at —80 degrees discolored badly and were not of good flavor, but cherries frozen at 16 above zero, Fahrenheit satisfactorily retained their natural color and flavor.

Paper containers for frozen fruits and vegetables were satisfactory for a limited number of products, but for most fruits airtight containers are definitly more desirable in safeguarding aroma, flavor, and color.

White Peaches Best.

The bureau of dairy industry cooperated in demonstrating the utilization of frozen fruit products in ice cream making.

The peach exhibit revealed wide differences in the adaptability of varieties for the making of preserves. White fleshed varieties were, as a rule, less desirable than the yellow fleshed. Preserve manufacturers had opportunity to observe differences in flavor, color, and consistency of preserves made from many varieties when each lot was handled in the same manner.

CHICAGO ACCLAIMS NEW MELLOW COFFEE FLAVOR

Battle Creek, Mich., April 12.—"Supremely mellow" is the verdict of Illinois coffee-lovers on the flavor of the new Kaffee-Hag, 97% caffeine-free coffee. Numerous letters from coffee-enthusiasts of that state declare the blend surpasses in flavor any coffee ever tasted.

"Kaffee-Hag Coffee is a very good coffee. It is so easy on the nerves. Our family or three has been drinking it regularly since we tried our first can" writes Mrs. John Koelsch, 2823 Clyburn Avenue, Chicago.

"I for one, and my husband, too, think that Kaffee-Hag Coffee is just fine and will take the place of our ordinary brand. We both love coffee and drink more of it than is good for us So for the past eight months I have been very nervous ('crabby,' my husband says) and never felt rested no matter how much I would try to sleep. Well, a friend of mine told me it was coffee that made me so restless, and to stop drinking it. I wanted my coffee. So she said to try Kaffee-Hag as it was real good coffee with the poison drug taken out and that it wouldn't affect my nerves or weak heart. I didn't take her word for it, but I tried it myself. Now I sleep better and feel so much better." So writes Mrs. R. L. Fisch, 4900 Medill Avenue. Chicago.

"I'm a heavy coffee drinker," writes M. Sidner, 3247 Wentworth Ave., Chicago. "Used to drink all kinds, good and bad Coffee made me very nervous and I couldn't sleep. Then I started drinking Kaffee Hag Coffee I like it better than any coffee we have ever used."

Older Child Is Much Swayed by His Friends

It's Up to Parents to Know His Companions.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

A mother and daughter of 14 happened to meet near school and were walking home together.

"Yoo-hoo! Lizbeth!" called a voice, and they turned around to see a young friend galloping madly along in an effort to catch up with them.

They stopped.

"How'd you ever get out so early, Madge?" asked the girl with her mother. "I thought you had to stay in and make up your work till three."

"Well, I did have to," breathlessly said the one who had been running. "But you see I set my wrist watch ahead fifteen minutes and then I told Miss Black it was 3 o'clock and she said, 'O, is it?' And I showed her my watch, and she said O. K. to run along."

Around supper time, as the mother and daughter were washing lettuce and icing cake, the subject somehow [!] came up.

"What did you think of Madge's way of getting out of school?" asked the mother, quite sure she knew the reply.

"O," said Lizbeth to her astonishment, "that was only a schoolroom trick. Madge hates staying after school, and Miss Black is always keeping her."

The mother dissembled her amazement at this statement from her truth loving daughter. She decided she'd do a little thinking.

Her daughter, she began to see, was out in a bigger and a different world than that of her own grammar school days. She was meeting children of many sorts and many more influences were coming to bear upon her. The time had come when her high set of values acquired in earlier childhood would either stand firm or be modified.

Underweight Is Serious Beauty Point for Some

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Frances calls me down for having a heart only for the overweight and none whatsoever for the underweight.

"Now that summer is not far off, she pleads, "why don't you begin helping us poor skinny sisters? Don't you think we'd like to put on a little weight, the better to beautify the summer landscape? Gosh, some of us are so thin, we're scared to get in a bathing suit. Come on, Antoinette, give the thin girls a break."

I stand chastised, all right, Frances. We do forget that the underweight problem may be just as harrowing as overweight. I guess it is because if you have to wrestle with weight, you think a slight girl, no matter how thin, is a favorite of the gods.

However, from now on, I promise to remember that one can be much too thin, for an observing eye, on the street or on the beach.

First, if very much underweight, more than ten pounds, that is, a competent physician should give an examination to be sure that disease is not present to cause the underweight.

Second, and that is something that underweights need to have impressed upon them, all social, physical, and environmental errors should be corrected. Hurried eating, stress and strain at meal time avoided. Underweight is often associated with poor appetite and a lack of interest in food. Sometimes this can be corrected by varying the diet and paying special attention to the attractiveness of meals. This is the observation of the Metropolitan Life people on underweight, at any rate.

Third, less energy should be expended and more rest should be taken. When possible some extra rest should be taken, preferably before and after meals.

Fourth, special attention must be paid to the type of food eaten, care being taken to choose a balanced diet, food of high caloric value, and easily digested. The diet should contain at least 2,200 calories a day. Fats in the form of butter, cream, bacon, nuts, and vegetable oils should be taken in quantities to make up a considerable portion of these calories. Extra milk in the form of creamy soups and milk and custard desserts is another way of adding calories. To keep diet balance it is necessary to include plenty of vegetables and fruits. These lack calories but contain needed elements. Use butter and cream in preparation of vegetables. Arise in time to eat a good breakfast, and EAT A GOOD BREAKFAST.

CONQUERING CONTRACT

By P. HAL SIMS

JUMP RAISES TO FIVE.

It is so extremely seldom that the responding hand feels impelled to make a slam try through other methods than those already described that it may be inadvisable to add to the collection at this time. However, the correspondence that reaches me from all parts of the United States regarding my methods as explained in the articles I have published has proved that they are appreciated by an enormous number of profound students of the game to whom every detail, every nuance is of real interest. So I will devote this article to a very rare response.

When I have so enormous a hand that I know we have either a small slam or a grand slam, the former being apparently sure even if my partner has only two and one-half primary tricks for his opening bid, and assuming that I myself have no forcing offsuit, but do positively solidify my partner's trump holding, I will bid five, either in a major or in a minor; this constitutes a command to my partner to bid six if his bid is a normal one as regards the primary tricks in his hand and to bid seven if he has a clear extra primary trick. In other words, it is an application of the leeway principle—a deliberate underbid of a trick, saying, "If your bid is a minimum but normal, bid six—I guarantee it; if you have a primary trick to spare, bid seven—it is a certainty."

If my partners had bid one heart, I would consider these conditions fulfilled by a responding hand containing

Sp. K Q x Di. A K
Hts. A J x x Cl. Q J x x

To bid, the opener must have ace of spades, king and queen of hearts, and king of clubs, assuming he has a heart and diamond two-suiter. Over my five heart response he will only be confirming his two and one-half tricks by bidding six hearts. With the ace of clubs, ace of spades, and king and queen of hearts, that is still only one-half trick over, not a clear trick in reserve, and six would still be all he should bid. But with the same cards in the major suits and ace, king of clubs, or the singleton ace of clubs or spades, his bid is seven.

Counting the Losers.

In other words, reverting to our standard of measurement for big hands, when my hand seems to prove that we have only one trick to lose at the most, I bid five and ask my partner to bid six to confirm his bid and to bid seven if he has a clear trick I did not know of when I responded.

In the example given, if partner had five hearts to the king, queen, and four clubs to the ace, king, for his bid, his response would be six clubs. I would reply with six hearts, showing that I still fear the loss of one—but only one—trick. This leaves it up to him to bid seven hearts if he has the spade ace, otherwise to pass.

Generally, however, you will find that your slams will be reached through more gradual bidding as permitted by forcing take-outs in another suit or massed primary tricks as shown by the jump no-trump responses.

I was really tempted to write this particular article to show you how new weapons are forged out of old steel. The jump raises were extensively used by the old timers—and are still being used in many other countries—without any inkling of how infinitly more effective they would become when confined to their proper function as here explained. The modern bidding system is an organic whole, each part fulfills a definite task, fitting into its place without overcrowding or leaving a space for fog to enter.

U. of I. Faculty Plans Instructions by Tutors for Superior Students

Urbana, Ill., April 12.—[Special.]—If the university senate and the board of trustees approve, a tutorial plan to individualize education of superior students will become effective in the college of liberal arts and sciences at the University of Illinois. The faculty of the college of liberal arts and sciences has acted favorably. The plan would give juniors and seniors with high averages during their first two years an opportunity to pursue a part of their work under a tutorial adviser rather than to follow the formal classroom instruction entirely if they so desire.

Under the plan regular semester examinations would not be given students in tutorial subjects, but they would be given a comprehensive examination at the end of the senior year by a faculty committee which would cover all the work done under the tutorial adviser.

Olivet College to Put Students on Their Own

Olivet, Mich., April 12.—[Special.]—Olivet college, a Congregational college here with traditions reaching back through 80 years, is attracting attention of educators with its "new deal" in higher education. This is to be carried out next year under the leadership of the new 35 year old president, Joseph Brewer, Dartmouth and Oxford scholar, and until recently head of a New York publishing house.

The change at Olivet approaches the Oxford tutorial system and is similar to that of Chicago, Colgate, and Swarthmore. The keynote of the plan is to do away with "directed education" in the sense of credits, classes, and formal examinations, leaving the matter of academic attainment largely up to the student, and to do away, according to President Brewer, "with this coddling of these young people and keeping them in the adolescent stage."

Classes, marks and credits will be "out." A long examination at the end of the year determines whether the student stays in college.

Upon entering college the student is given a general tutor and at the close of the second year he will choose his school of specialization when his tutor will be chosen accordingly.

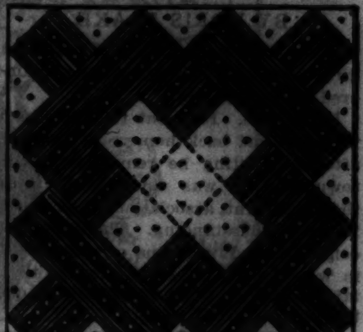
WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., April 12.—[Special.]—Mrs. Roosevelt was hostess to the graduating classes of private schools in and near Washington this afternoon, the party having been planned as a garden party, but owing to the sudden coolness of the weather Mrs. Roosevelt received inside, the guests wandering onto the lawns as they wished.

Earlier in the day Mrs. Roosevelt was the spceial guest of the Congressional club at its annual breakfast. The party was given in the large ballroom of the Willard.

Old Quilt Block Has Sentimental and Novel Theme

Patterns of this quilt design are 5 cents each, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, One South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.



Friendship Chain.

BY NANCY CABOT.

Sentimental names are quite as much in evidence in quilt designing as nature studies, Biblical subjects, or expressions of political feeling. "Friendship Chain" is one of the old quilt blocks. It was made for the first time in 1810. The material with which this original was pieced was responsible for a great deal of its charm and simplicity. White material with a tiny blue figure was contrasted with a deep blue combined with a white figure.

It's ready—Nancy Cabot's new booklet, presenting 96 illustrations of favorite quilt designs, together with one pattern of a popular quilt, "The Framed Rose." Price, 5 cents; by mail, 7 cents. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune; or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices. One South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

As good a cleaner as Money can Buy

This Fedelco Electric Cleaner

$24

● The big story about this Fedelco, No. 35, is that it is an extraordinarily fine electric cleaner—at an extremely moderate price. It is easy to use. Powerful suction draws the dirt and grit into the bag, and a separate brush can be attached to pick up surface particles.

If you are looking for an efficient cleaner—one that will do the work quickly and thoroughly—you will realize that this is the one to buy. Especially when you consider the low price—$24. Ask for a home demonstration. Or see this cleaner at Electric Shops.

Home Town Girl Is Left Behind for City Flame

She's Good Friend, but Now Outcharmed.

BY DORIS BLAKE.

What to do about the home town girl, now that he has become enamored of a city one?

Heck asks. He went to high school with the girl back home. For a year after graduating he remained in the town and it was understood, from their constant association, that there was an understanding. There was no definite one. It was one of those cases in which each takes for granted that fate arranged their future for them together.

The young man arrived in the city, for four months was very lonesome. The girl back home got many letters as a consequence. Then the big flame of his life entered, a girl who is sister to one of Heck's men co-workers. The moment they met something clicked. Now Heck knows that the girl back home was attraction born of propinquity rather than anything else. She writes just as frequently. Writes whether she gets an answer or not. Lately an accusing note appears in her letters. And so on. The old drama of the home town girl as opposed to the girl right on the scene. Nobody's fault. It just happens that way. Some one will be hurt. The girl back home is the logical victim. So the problem boils down to how to let her down easily and gracefully, leaving her "face" with which to go on.

Men meet the problem in one of two ways. Either they refuse to continue writing, letting the message of a changed heart be automatically read into the silence, or they sit down and write, as kindly as they can word it, a confession of their new attachment. The latter way is the decent way. The man can say he never felt himself good enough for this girl he is now letting have her liberty, or he can word his message so that the girl back home is permitted some balm for her hurt. She will be hurt, but then there is no moral obligation to cling to an old association when one feels that love can be found only with a successor.

A Vicious Circle

By ALICE CAMPBELL

SYNOPSIS.

Dorinda Quarles is found stabbed to death following a dinner party in her Paris apartment. Dorinda, untrammeled by scruples or breeding, had served a drug to her guests. Helen Roderick, who was a friend of Dorinda's deceased mother, was staying with Dorinda. She didn't attend the dinner, but awakened early in the morning and discovered the crime and the guests lying about in deep sleep. She is able to arouse her friend, Tommy Rostetter, a journalist. Tommy's dinner partner was Dinah Blake, an American artist, whose engagement to Christopher Loughton, in the American embassy, was, according to rumor, broken on account of Dorinda. Dinah is not among the sleeping guests. Tommy arouses the others and sends for the police, then calls to break the news to Dorinda's stepfather, Basil Jethro, celebrated Oxford scholar, who was her guardian and trustee and who had long since given up trying to curb his charge. Dinah can't be found. Tommy conducts a search for her and for facts to help clear her of suspicion. She paid a call on the Hubert Loughtons shortly past midnight, after leaving Dorinda's party. Dinah returns two days later to the apartment which she shares with her cousin, Hallie Pemberton. She had been sleeping in the studio of absent friends. Her memory is a blank. Tommy Rostetter happens to call before the police learn of Dinah's return and persuades Dinah to pretend she is engaged to him, so that jealousy of Dorinda may not be considered incriminating. Basil Jethro had lost his key to Dorinda's apartment in the court of the building the evening of the crime. She tells him that Dorinda thought that Jethro had given her mother an overdose of a sleeping drug.

INSTALMENT XXIX.

A VANISHED SUITCASE.

Tommy reached the hall just as Helen and Jethro came in together. Jethro bowed somewhat distantly and went upstairs. Helen spoke with not quite her usual warmth of manner.

"Well! It's about time you explained yourself," she declared. "You may fool some people, but I know for a fact you never set eyes on that girl from the moment I introduced you to her till last Friday evening. Don't try those tricks on me, please! Now, come clean."

Tommy was silent for a few seconds. Then he sighed and made a gesture of giving up.

"You're right, my dear Helen, it's a four-flush. I'm doing it to protect Dinah—but you surely guessed that?"

She looked at him hard. "In that case, it's because you know she's guilty. You've fallen in love with her."

"No, my dear. Both those statements are false. I'm not in love, and I believe from the very depths of my being that Dinah has no more guilt on her soul than I have—or you. I'm not going to see Dinah suffer simply because certain appearances are against her. Her being engaged to me throws a different construction on the whole affair. I would do exactly the same for you.

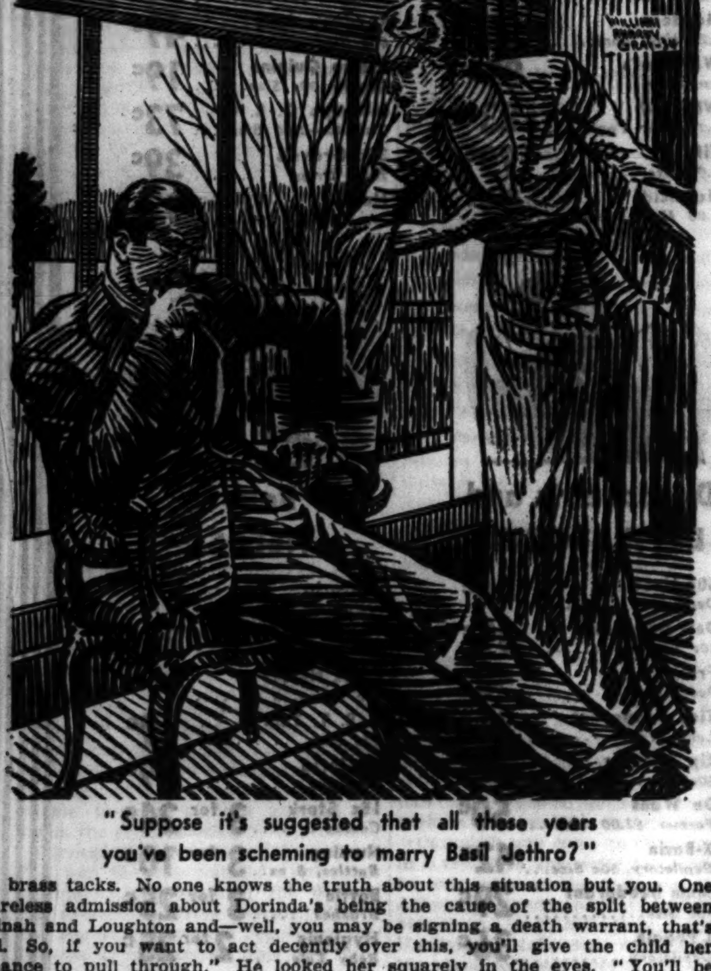
"You wouldn't need to."

"O, yeah? Well, don't be so infernally sure about it. Come to think of it, is your position so unassailable? You had a better opportunity than any of us to stab that poor girl. I don't know what becomes of her money now she's out of the way, but suppose her stepfather gets it? Suppose it's suggested that all these years you've been scheming to marry Basil Jethro?"

Tommy! How dare you!"

She gazed at him in horror and—there was no doubt of it—trepidation. He felt sorry he had been so brutal. When she recovered her speech it was to murmur indignantly that Basil would never marry again, that she herself wanted no man, and that if she admired this one more than any living person . . .

"Yes, darling, I know it's only hero worship—but now let's get down to brass tacks. No one knows the truth about this situation but you. One careless admission about Dorinda's being the cause of the split between Dinah and Loughton and—well, you may be signing a death warrant, that's all. So, if you want to act decently over this, you'll give the child her chance to pull through." He looked her squarely in the eyes. "You'll be a good pal and not open your lips to any one—not even to Jethro?"



"Suppose it's suggested that all these years you've been scheming to marry Basil Jethro?"

"Of course I won't tell. Why should I want to injure the child? You needn't worry about Basil, though—that is to say, if I had said anything to him. He's not the man to stir up mischief, or——"

They stopped, for Benedetto was just entering with a little card table which he began to lay for lunch. Helen indicated a suitcase Jethro had deposited beside the stairs and gave orders for it to be unpacked and when empty put into the storage room.

"You'll leave the key in the door," she said to the butler. "Mr. Jethro wishes everything to be open, in case the inspector wants to go over the apartment again."

Tommy noticed that the bag in question was the pale pigskin one marked with initials which he had seen during his visit to Jethro on Saturday morning.

"By the way," he said, "I suppose you knew Jethro went to the Waldheim reception where Dorinda and Mowbray and the rest of them were?

"He mentioned it, but it seems he slipped away without meeting any one. He hates affairs of that kind. Will you have a drink before you go?"

"No, thanks. Now I can rely on you to be extremely careful about that other matter?"

Half way down the outer stairs he halted and swore aloud.

"Of course!" he muttered. "Ass that I am, that's what I kept looking for in that beastly hotel room! The other suitcase—dark, shabby, the one he took away the books in. I didn't see it—in fact, it was not there."

It will be recalled that Tommy knocked the suitcase over and picked it up again to restore it to its owner. Now, if Helen had not specifically mentioned books, he would have thought no more about the matter, but with books registered in his brain he had been just a little surprised at the soft thud with which the case fell and the impression he received of light, shifting contents.

"It wasn't books, anyhow," he mused with a frown. His thoughts recurred to the ancient suit of flannels the philosopher had taken such pains to have pressed. Was that what he had carried away? But Jethro in his statement to the press had said definitly he had called at the apartment just before dinner time to fetch a few reference books he had left there. If he was fetching clothes, why call it books?

The circumstance seemed to indicate a small, pointless untruth, hard to reconcile with a man of Jethro's known character. One felt that if it was an untruth, there must be some good reason underlying it. Had Jethro erred by too scrupulous attention to detail? Accidentally erred, of course, for in the expected order of events there would have been no one able to contradict his word. That he was doubted now was due to Helen's dropping out of the party and getting Tommy to fill her place. This single alteration in the scheme of things had brought an observant eye to bear on a series of fortuitous happenings which otherwise would have escaped comment. And what absurdly trivial items they were—irreconcilable facts about a latchkey, a man's failure to respond to a knock on his door, four clear marks on a dusty table, the weight of a suitcase!

"O, there can be nothing in it," reflected Tommy as he partook of oeufs sur le plat at a humble café along the quai.

As Tommy left the café he saw Helen Roderick and Jethro emerge a hundred yards to the left, stand talking for a moment, and set off in two separate taxicabs. In another two minutes Tommy was back inside the apartment spinning the classic yarn about mislaid gloves. No, he didn't want Benedetto to look for them. He knew where they were, in the bathroom where he had been to wash his hands.

Would the key be in the door? It was. He stepped into the small, stuffy room reserved for Jethro's stored belongings and ran a rapid glance around. Trunks, hat boxes, the new pigskin case, an old roll top desk, book shelves filled to overflowing with dusty volumes—but that was all. No sign of the shabby dark bag.

What he did see, however, was the trail of crushed naptha ball leading to a battered leather trunk in the corner. The trunk being unlocked, he raised the lid and turned over a jumble of antiquated evening clothes, woolen underwear, and old cardigans, but there was not a book to be seen, nor did any volume appear to have been taken from the crowded shelves alongside. The desk was similarly unrevealing, with only some receipted bills from five years back and a few pages of abandoned memoranda in the philosopher's handwriting. One of these, torn from a notebook, he slipped into his pocket, having an inquisitive wish to study its characteristics. Handwriting interested him.

Sunday and the women in it justifiably are looking back with pride on what they have accomplished during those years. They have raised and turned over to the Army $170,639, which was used to maintain the women's home and hospital and the women's emergency lodge. Mrs. Corsant is president of the division.

London News of Lord Tennyson.

From Ann Whittingham in London comes the following about Lord Tennyson, who tomorrow in Santa Barbara will be wed to Mrs. Joseph William Donner, the former Carroll Elting of Chicago:

"Friends of Lord Tennyson are greatly interested in his marriage.

"Lord Tennyson's first marriage was not a happy one. It ended by his divorcing his wife in 1927, and his friends have apparently assumed that he would never venture into matrimony again. And they are especially amused at his falling a victim to the charms of an American girl, for he has always regarded them as deplorably dangerous. In his recent very amusing autobiography, 'From Verse to Worse,' England's most popular cricketer and sportsman indicts the American girl as follows:

"'The American women!

"'How proud of them their men are! The average American husband is the most indulgent of all husbands. It is his wife's presentation of herself that matters to him most of all things.

"'Whether this point of view is beneficial to the female sex, a mere inhabitant of the old world may take the liberty of expressing some doubts.'

"But the concluding passage of his autobiography may have been written, it is pointed out, with some premonition of coming events:

"'Now, having reached the forties, I hope I may pass as a model of industry and a prop of the British constitution. To the follies and high adventures of my early days I have said farewell.'

"But he has promised to captain the Hampshire cricket team in August—during that interminable series of county cricket matches which fills the English summer—so his English friends are expecting to meet the new Lady Tennyson in a few months."

Tell Engagement of Nancy Wickes.

Of interest here because the mother of the young lady is a former Chicagoan, is the announcement made recently in the east of the engagement of Miss Nancy Young Wickes, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Walter Forman Wickes of Brooklandville, Md., to Stephen Carlton Clark Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen C. Clark of Cooperstown and New York. Mrs. Wickes was Catharine Young, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Otto Young of Chicago and Lake Geneva.

Miss Wickes is a graduate of the Foxcroft school at Middleburg, Va., and made her debut last November at a reception given at her parents' home, Wickcliffe, and later at the Bachelors' cotillion in Baltimore. Mr. Clark was graduated from Yale last June. He is a nephew of Ambrose Clark, the noted sportsman of Westbury, L. I., and of Mowbray, England.

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Clark in East 70th street in New York is noted for its collection of modern art and has been opened to the public several times for the benefit of charity.

Another "Bal des Quatz Arts" will be held again in the Streets of Paris on the opening night of the World's Fair. Seymour Blair, secretary of the club, the Rendezvous de Paris, has just made this announcement, and plans for the ball are going forward rapidly. The ball last year opened the Fair as far as society was concerned. The stage and swimming pool will be twice as large this summer, and a much better view of the Streets are promised from the Rendezvous club.

Dr. Samuel Drury to Be Guest Here.

Dr. Samuel S. Drury, rector of St. Paul's school in Concord, N. H., is arriving in Chicago tomorrow to be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. James Simpson and to speak before the Chicago Sunday Evening club. The club's president, Clifford W. Barnes, is arriving from California tomorrow also, cutting short his visit in the west in order to have the pleasure of introducing his old friend, Dr. Drury, to the Sunday Evening club members.

Among the Chicagoans who are alumni of St. Paul's and who will be present Sunday evening are Donald P. Welles and Edward K. Welles, James Simpson Jr., John T. Pirie Jr., Lawrence M. Viles, John P. Wilson, and John Wilson Jr.

Mrs. Barnes and Miss Lilace Barnes will be returning with Mr. Barnes. Miss Barnes has been abroad for the last year, returning to the United States only three weeks ago, when she went directly to California.

Mrs. Walker Szukalska is giving a party as a housewarming in her new apartment at 2600 Lake View avenue next Wednesday.

Members of the Arts club and their guests will have an opportunity of hearing Paul Rosefeld, music critic of New York, talk on "The New American Composers" next Friday morning at 11:30 o'clock.

Another entertainment in store for the Arts club members is an evening of amateur dramatics arranged by Mrs. Helen Walton for Wednesday, May 2.

Because it's spring house cleaning time, the South Shore Service league is to have a rummage sale next Friday. The place has not yet been determined, but it will begin at 8 o'clock in the morning and continue until the last article is sold. Between now and then the league members will spend their time collecting discarded household articles and castoff clothing from all of their neighbors and friends.

Proceeds will go in a lump sum to the maternity center founded by Dr. Joseph B. De Lee and maintained to provide home care for mothers and their needy babies.

Plan Dinner for Soviet Ambassador.

When Alexander A. Troyanovsky, ambassador from Russia, comes to Chicago next week he is to be entertained at a dinner on Friday evening arranged by the American-Russian Institute for Cultural Relations and a sponsoring committee including among its members Mrs. Emmons Blaine, Henry P. Chandler, Carter H. Harrison, Prof. Samuel N. Harper, Mrs. Quincy Wright, Thornton Wilder, Miss Harriet Monroe, and Dr. and Mrs. Frederick Stock. The dinner is to be in the grand ballroom of the Palmer house.

Effective dark blue announcements lettered in yellow will be out today for a cinema art soirée the Association of Arts and Industries will give on Thursday night, April 26, in the ballroom of the Drake hotel. Eight films which are owned privately in the east will be shown, and after the program, guests will be invited to remain for refreshments. Mrs. Hayden B. Harris is chairman of the committee in charge.

May day will be a gay day for the Lake Shore League of Women Voters, for it is to have a benefit card party that afternoon in the Lord Nelson room of the Drake hotel. The proceeds are to go to the Illinois league. Mrs. Augustus A. Carpenter is chairman.

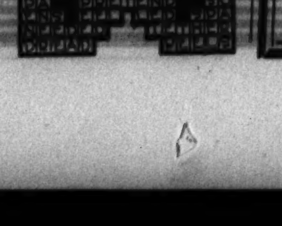
YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED



Starting the Home Shampoo

[TRIBUNE Studio Photo.]

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

If you're sold, as you should be, on the idea that hair beauty depends on hair health you'll be interested in a medicated shampoo that made its debut a short time ago and is now available in a flock of Chicago shops.

What's true of the skins of us Chicago women is pretty much true of our hair. The dry haired sisters are in the majority—for several reasons. The hot houses and the cold Chicago winds do their share, but our own neglect does the rest. Hair brushes don't get the workout they should and the important business of simply lathering oil in one form or another on the hair between permanents isn't attended to very faithfully by most of us.

We found the new shampoo an excellent cleansing agent for our own dry hair, leaving it soft but not lifeless. We found it equally good for oily hair. It's liquid; you don't need to use much and it lathers immediately. It rinses freely in warm water and when the hair isn't terribly grimy we found one soaping enough.

Here's the way you or your favorite beauty operator can use it: Wet the hair thoroughly in warm water, shake on a small amount of the dark liquid and rub the scalp briskly with the fingertips for about five minutes. For a dandruffy condition stretch this massage interval into at least ten minutes and get plenty of pep into the finger movements.

Then come the rinsings—and while we're on the subject we'd like to tip you off about the merits of bathroom sprays. They do more to give the home shampoo the professional finesse than anything else. You can buy them at varying prices all over town and you'll find one an investment that pays 1929 hair beauty dividends.

We're of the opinion that this oil shampoo that lathers so luxuriously will please you immensely, especially if the natural oil is a little bit elusive around that crowning glory of yours. It does encourage it, we think, and it doesn't eliminate what little you have because it's based on oil itself.

LOOK OUT FOR THESE SYMPTOMS OF CONSTIPATION

Get Relief with Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Headaches, loss of appetite and energy, sallow complexions, and sleeplessness are often warning signs of common constipation. Unless checked, constipation may impair health.

Today, you can usually get rid of common constipation by eating a delicious cereal. Laboratory tests show that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" and vitamin B to aid regularity. ALL-BRAN is also a good source of blood-building iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears the intestines of wastes. How much better than taking patent medicines.

Two tablespoonfuls daily will overcome most types of constipation. Chronic cases, with every meal. If seriously ill, see your doctor. ALL-BRAN is not a "cure-all."

Enjoy ALL-BRAN as a cereal, or use in cooking. Appetizing recipes on the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Crocheting IS IN STYLE AGAIN!

Shell stitch . . . single crochet . . . double crochet! Up-to-the-minute needleworkers are going through the crocheting litany these days.

An attractive baby's cape and hood, which can be easily crocheted out of fine pink yarn, is described in next Sunday's Tribune by Ellen Bruce, Tribune crochet editor.

Read her interesting article and learn how easy it is to make this baby ensemble.

A. A. U. DIVING TITLE RETAINED BY MISS RAWLS

Medica Sets Three Records.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Katherine Rawls successfully defended her low board diving championship in the women's national A. A. U. swimming meet at the Lake Shore Athletic club last night after the closest fight in years from Dorothy Poynton of the Los Angeles club. But the excitement of the evening for the capacity throng was the superlative performance of Jack Medica of the Washington Athletic club, Seattle, Wash.

While the crowd cheered the grace and timing of the girl stars in their bid for national recognition in diving, Medica received spontaneous and continued applause as he splashed to three new national records for the 880 yards, 900 yards, and 1,000 yards.

Breaks Three Records.

Perhaps Medica should have been more generous to his female swimming compatriots, but there was no stopping the boy once he took to the water. He raced through the 880 yards in 9 minutes 56 4-10 seconds, as compared to the former record of 10 minutes 12 4-10 seconds. His time for the 900 yards, a freak distance, was 10 minutes 10 6-10 seconds, as compared to the former mark of 11:28.2. Then to finish with a slam, Medica rang up a record of 11 minutes 18 5-10 seconds for the 1,000 yards, as compared to the present mark of 11.28.2 set by Arne Borg of Sweden.

At this stage in the evening competition, the pool belonged to Medica. Before the week is ended he hopes to have a new group of championship performances, several of which are expected to displace marks by Johnny Weismueller.

But more about Miss Rawls. This 16 year old high school lass, who barely passed the 100 pound mark, had won the 300 yard individual medley Wednesday night. Last night she successfully defended her diving honors, but by the margin of less than one point.

Margin Is Close.

When the compulsory dives were finished Miss Poynton held a slight lead over her Florida rival. But in the optional dives Miss Rawls came from behind to finish with a total of 127.37 points as compared with 126.49 points for Miss Poynton. Marian Mansfield of the Lake Shore A. C. finished third with 122.24 points, defeating Claudia Eckert of the Shawnee Country club on the last dive of the program. Miss Eckert demonstrated remarkable form on many of her efforts, but she was unable to hold up the average by which the championship is determined.

Carnegie Library club of Homestead, Pa., won the national 400 yard relay championship, displacing the defending titleholders from Seattle, Wash. The Homestead quartet negotiated the distance in near record time of 4 minutes 21 seconds.

Miss Shimman Wins.

Doris Shimman of the Detroit Yacht club won the 100 yard breast stroke title. It was the first time that Miss Shimman had appeared in national competition and she now holds that title which was won last year by Margaret Hoffman of Scranton, Pa.

Annie Govednik of Virginia, Minn., was second and Crystal Dietz of the Lake Shore A. C. was third.

CHAMPIONSHIP EVENTS.

LOW BOARD DIVING—Won by Katherine Rawls, Miami Beach club, Fla., 127.37 points; Dorothy Poynton, Los Angeles A. C., second, 126.49; Marian Mansfield, Lake Shore A. C., third, 122.24.

100 YARD BREAST STROKE—Won by Doris Shimman, Detroit Yacht club; Annie Govednik, Virginia, Minn., second; Dorothy Schiller, Lake Shore A. C., third. Time, 1:20.9 [former championship record 1:21.4].

OTHER EVENTS.

100 YARD FREE STYLE [High school]—Won by Edward Gercas, Englewood; Joseph C. Jewel, Tilden, second; William Overman, Morgan Park, third. Time, :57.7.

220 YARD FREE STYLE [Men]—Won by James Elwell, Lake Shore A. C.; William Lewis, University of Chicago, second; Ben Jewel, Northwestern university, third. Time, 2:24.2.

200 YARD FREE STYLE [Chicago high schools]—Won by Morgan Park [Snodgrass, Lidster, Baldwin, Overman]; Austin, second; Englewood, third. Time, 1:46.4.

50 YARD DASH [girls 10 years and under]—Won by Billie Nicholson, Lake Shore A. C.; Caroline Knoll, South Chicago Y. W. C. A., second; Lucille Hyatt, Edgewater Beach, Chicago, third. Time, :37.8.

300 YARD MEDLEY RELAY [men]—Won by Lake Shore A. C. [Hinch, Bridenthal, Cornelius]; Northwestern university, second; University of Chicago, third. Time, 3:07.4.

400 YARD RELAY—Won by Carnegie Library club, Homestead, Pa. [Lenore Kight, Anna Mae Gorman, Johanna Morman, Louise Clark]; Washington Athletic club, Seattle, Wash., second; New York Woman's Swimming association, New York City, third. Time, 4:21.

880 YARDS, 900 YARDS, AND 1,000 YARDS [for American records]—Jack Medica, Washington A. C., Seattle, Wash. [swimming against time]; 880 yards, time 9:56.4 [former national record 10:12.4]; 900 yards, time 10:10.6 [former national record 11:28.2]; 1,000 yards, time 11:18.5 [former national record 11:28.2].

ENGLISH RUGBY TEAM DEFEATS YALE, 32 TO 5

New Haven, Conn., April 12.—(AP)—Yale converted its gridiron into a rugby field and its football men into rugby players today in an attempt to turn back the invading Cambridge team from England, but the Elis fared no better than the other members of the Big Three.

In the first rugby game ever played in the Yale bowl, Cambridge trounced the Bulldogs, 32 to 5, before a crowd of 800 persons.

CAMPBELL NEW ARLINGTON PARK RACE SECRETARY

Charles McLennan Named Assistant.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Jack B. Campbell of Biloxi, Miss., is the new Arlington Park Jocky club racing secretary, succeeding Joe McLennan, who died suddenly last December in Florida.

His appointment was announced yesterday by John Hertz, chairman of the Arlington executive committee. At the same time Mr. Hertz announced that Charles McLennan, son of the late Arlington racing secretary, would serve as assistant racing secretary.

For a number of years Campbell has been rated as one of the topnotch secretaries in the country. He gained quite a bit of attention at Agua Caliente a few seasons back when the track owners issued an order which Campbell did not approve. He resigned his job and caught the first train away from the Lower California course.

First Job in Chicago.

Campbell has served at tracks in Maryland, Canada, New Orleans and other racing centers, but this will be his first job at a Chicago course.

Nearly every racing secretary in America sought the Arlington job. The salary paid the late Secretary McLennan was reported to have been the highest ever paid a racing secretary.

Campbell will come to Chicago within a few days and write the conditions for such races as the Arlington Classic, Arlington Handicap, Stars and Stripes Handicap, and Arlington Inaugural Handicap. McLennan will come from Maryland to assist him in the work.

Young McLennan, whose home is in Oak Park, has assisted his father at Arlington Park for the last five years and succeeded the latter upon his death in December as racing secretary at Hialeah park, Havre de Grace, Bowie and Detroit.

The appointment of Campbell completes the official family for Arlington Park. Christopher J. Fitz Gerald, George Brown Jr., Admiral Cary T. Grayson, and Arthur B. Hancock will be the stewards. Roy Dickerson has been reappointed starter.

Aurora Officials Named.

Robert S. Eddy, president of the Fox Valley Jocky club, yesterday announced the list of officials that will serve at the Aurora track during the spring meeting which opens May 1. They are:

Stewards—John T. Ireland and Julius Reeder.

Steward representing Illinois racing commission—Christopher J. Fitz-Gerald.

Racing secretary—Dick Leigh.

Starter—George Wingfield.

Manager of mutuels—Joe Cattarinich.

The racing commission will also be represented by an overseer in the pari-mutuel betting department. Rumors were going the rounds yesterday that Oscar Bachman of Chicago will serve in this position.

Horses Coming from Texas.

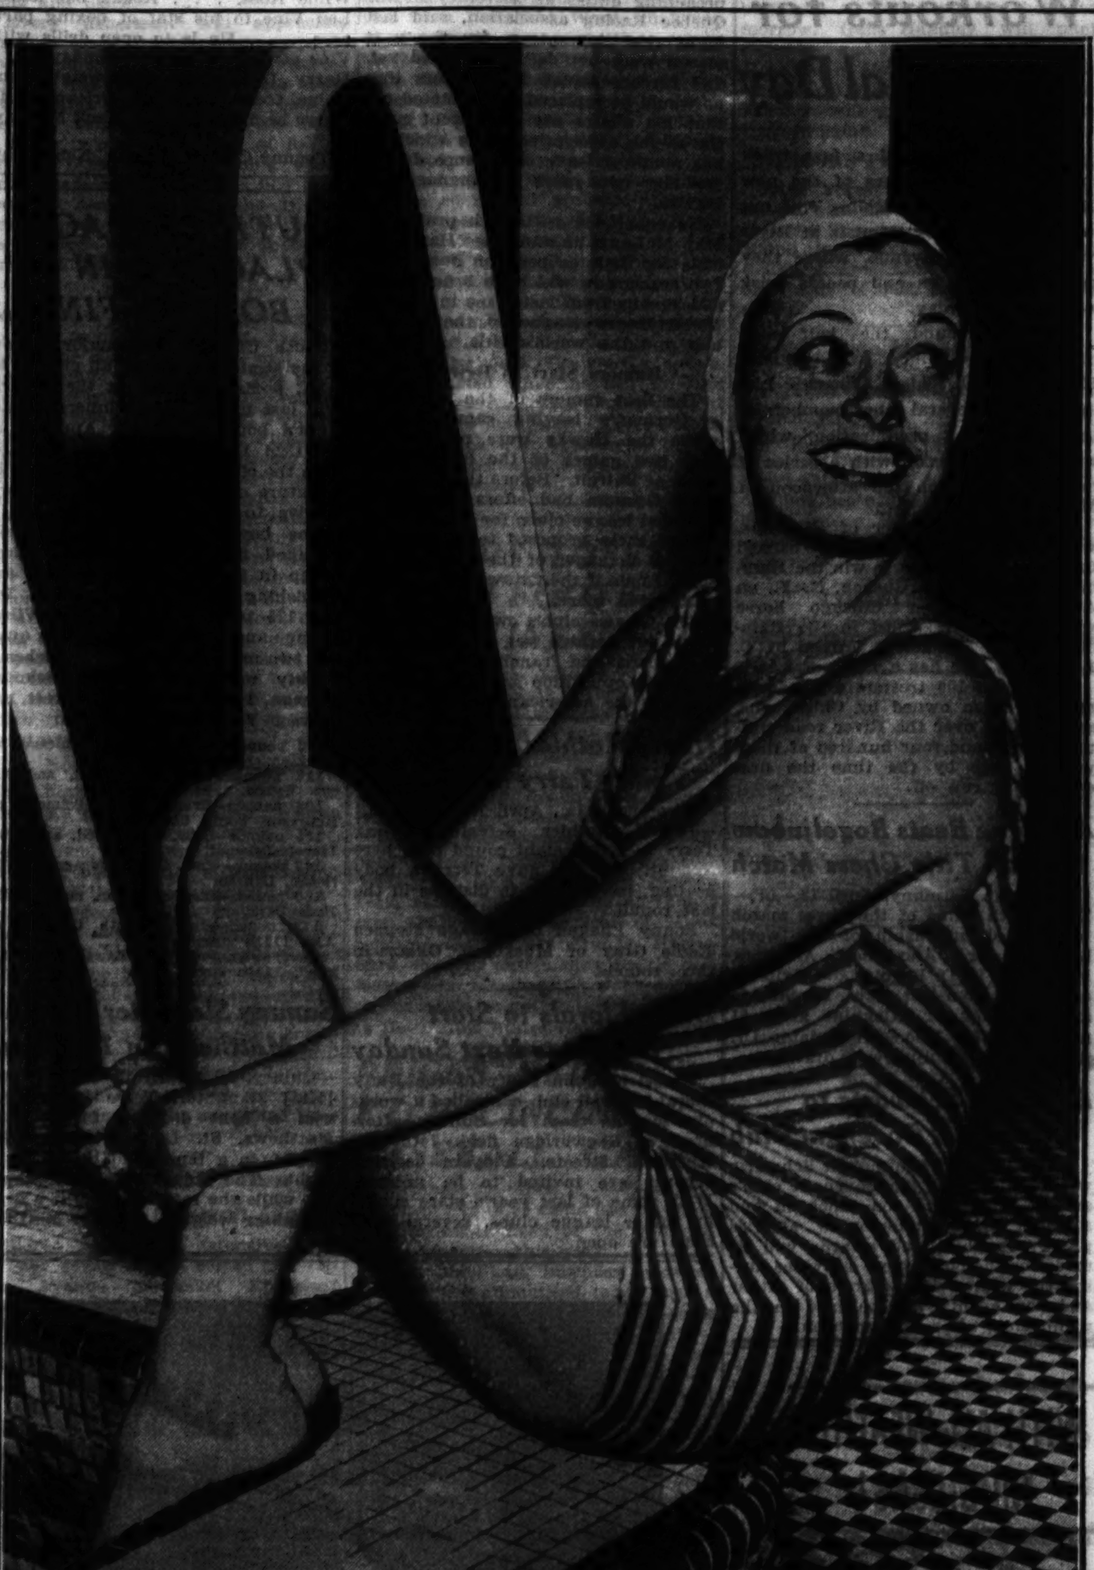
Jim Farley, the noted clocker, who is taking stable reservations in Texas for horses that will race at Aurora, notified Secretary Leigh yesterday that shipments from the Lone Star state will include Flying Cadet, Flying Don, Our Justice, Al Green, Louie Dear, Charming Sir, Click, Ytfin, Flag Bearer, Lady Menifee, Nell Kuhlman, Modesto, Liquer, Lynx Eye, Zekiel, Sad Knight, and Bender First.

TEXAS PROMOTER TO HOLD ROSS TO APRIL 20 MATCH

Dallas, Tex., April 12.—(AP)—Dick Griffin, Fort Worth boxing promoter, said tonight he was determined to hold Barney Ross, lightweight champion, to what he termed an "ironclad" contract for a bout with Tony Herrera of El Paso.

The bout was scheduled to be held in Fort Worth April 20, but Ross, who has signed to fight Welterweight Champion Jimmy McLarnin in New York May 28, advised Griffin he would be unable to go through with the Fort Worth match.

SHE'LL HELP DEFEND RELAY TITLE



Eleanor Holm Jarrett, competing for New York Athletic association, will team with Dorothea Dickinson and Lillian Irwin to defend 300 yard medley relay title tonight in national A. A. U. swimming meet at the Lake Shore Athletic club. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

IN the WAKE of the NEWS

CONTRABAND.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., April 12.—Florida is dry so far as state laws are concerned. It was dry before prohibition was finally imposed upon a finally rebellious nation. So its status has not changed since national repeal except that 3.2 beer is now within the law.

During these periods of national wetness and more or less dryness, however, Florida's dryness was theoretical in those sections which winter tourists visited. No one with a diabolical thirst found insurmountable barriers to quenching it. When federal law said "No," better class hotels and restaurants seldom sold directly, but bellboys and waiters were teeming with information.

Now most of the high class hotels and restaurants make no pretense of obeying the state law. Orders from house stocks of practically anything wanted are served customers. Bars are an adjunct to the establishments. In theory, they may be for dispensing legal beer, but that is only a theory. Public bars on prominent corners served beer only so far as we could see. What a "wink" to the barkeep by one who knew him would produce, we had no means of ascertaining.

◆

Now the strange thing to us, until it was explained, is that liquor in bottle and quantity lots is higher in price under repeal than it was under prohibition. If you're interested, listen to the story as told us by a "reliable" bootlegger whose goods, we were told, are always genuine:

"Of course, prices are higher. That's because our dollar has been depreciated and it will not buy as much at Bimini from which most of the stuff is run in either by boat or plane. I'm a small operator and mine comes by plane.

"Higher prices, about a third higher, or the percentage of dollar depreciation, have hurt trade. I'm doing about a half or less as much business as a year ago even with more people here. There are three reasons. First is the public disappointment over higher prices. Some people think they are being gypped and are resentful. Secondly, many people brought their own because they now can get it at home. Third, beer has cut down use of hard liquor.

◆

"What are your prices and how much do you make?" we asked.

"I have to get $42.50 a case or $4 a bottle for imperial quarts (40 ounces) of Scotch or rye. Same for bourbon, although it's not really as good as the others. Bacardi sells for $32.50 a case or $3 a bottle. Gin for $30 a case. Prices of wines vary, but my customers don't use much but hard stuff.

"My cost price at Bimini is $20 less a case than I charge retail. I have to pay for it there. If it's seized as the plane lands, it's my loss. I pay $10 a case for transportation. A plane carries 20 cases. If the stuff is seized, I don't pay transportation charges, but lose just the original cost. So if it comes through, O. K. My margin of profit is $10 in case lots, which is not too much for the risk taken.

"Strangely, there are more government men about than during prohibition. They are trying to prevent smuggling to avoid the $5 per gallon import tax. They're after the big fellows shipping north.

"Planes in Bimini carrying liquor have some means of communication by which their aids on the mainland know where they will land. An auto meets them and is away again with the transferred load in 5 minutes. I have nothing to do with that either, my $10 per case specifying delivery to me. It may look easy, but the government also has stool pigeons at Bimini to tip off flights and shipments.

◆

"But how about state and county officials? Surely they know you're operating?" we ventured.

"Yes, I suppose they do," he replied. "I keep only a limited supply here at the filling station, which is my supposed business and is for that matter, for I pump gas, too. The rest is stored about a block away. I know most of the officials personally and they just overlook me, that's all. I don't pay any protection. (The Wake had no means of verifying that statement, but believed it.)

"By the way, I'll have some extra choice Scotch next week if you or any of your friends need any. I don't sell to every one who comes along, but tell them just to mention your name and it'll be all right."

GRAY STRIPPED OF UNIFORM AS BROWNS LOSE

Disciplined for Clash with Manager Hornsby.

St. Louis, Mo., April 12.—(AP)—Before today's city series game in which the Browns were whipped, 22 to 9, by the Cardinals, Sam Gray, veteran right handed pitcher was ordered to turn in his uniform following an argument with Manager Rogers Hornsby of the St. Louis American league club. A conference is to be held tomorrow in the Browns' office to determine what action will be taken against Gray, who refused to chase fly balls during practice.

The way the Cardinals pounded the Browns' pitchers for their second straight victory of the series was not soothing to Hornsby. Buck Newsom, regarded as a prize rookie, was routed early, and his successors fared no better. Score:

TOTAL CHICAGO BLUNDERS NOW 17 IN 16 INNINGS

Bonura Gets 2 Hits to Prolong String.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Tulsa, Okla., April 12.—The Pittsburgh Pirates this afternoon made it three severe beatings in a row for the White Sox with a 10 to 4 thumping which hinged largely on the fact that the fumbling Chicagoans made five errors in the second and third innings. This lavish series of misplays gave the Sox a total of 17 errors in a span of 16 innings, which probably is a record for an interval so near the opening of a championship season.

The game was played in a high wind which made work difficult for all hands, and the errors were called by the scorers with these unfavorable conditions in mind. None of the eight errors in the game was chalked as a result of difficulties in handling flies, but purely on inefficiency in handling ground balls and on infield throws and catching failures.

At Terre Haute Today.

The day's outcome gave the Pirates an eight to five edge in the spring series with one to play at Terre Haute, Ind., tomorrow afternoon. The Sox then will go to Chicago for their week-end series with the Cubs, while the Pirates go to Pittsburgh to play the Washington Senators Saturday. The Pirates will move west to Louisville for a Sunday game, thence to St. Louis for their National league opener Tuesday.

In the game today the Sox employed two young men who are not expected to play a vital part in the American league race—Lee Stine and John Pomorski. But even so, neither was so bad, considering the quality of the support and the nature of the weather. The amazing blunders of the Sox defense these last three days would break the heart of a much better established workman than Stine or Pomorski.

Bonura Keeps Going.

Zeke Bonura, as on several of the days in which the Sox have led with their chins, furnished a beam of satisfaction. Today Zeke made a triple and a double to keep intact his chain of accomplishment, which has seen him hit safely in all of the Sox' 23 exhibition contests.

Otherwise details of today's affair are rather boresome, we suspect. It is perhaps sufficent to relate that the Pirates made five runs in the second inning on singles by Vaughan and Suhr, Bonura's failure to hold onto a perfect twelve foot toss from Kress, a walk, L. Waner's double, which cleared loaded bases, an error by Uhalt, and P. Waner's double.

More Sox Comedy.

The Pirates' third inning got under way with a fumble by Kress, followed by a double by Suhr [one of Gus' four hits], a single by Lavagetto, an error by Bordagaray on Lavagetto's hit, a single by Finney, Dykes' wide throw, and a single by L. Waner.

A homer by Vaughan in the fourth gave the National leaguers their ninth run and they added their tenth in the eighth inning on a walk to Young, an infield out, and Suhr's single.

The Sox scored in the second inning on singles by Dykes and Shea and the first of Vaughan's three errors; again in the third on Bonura's triple and a fly ball; in the fifth on Appling's homer, and in the ninth on Bocek's single and Bonura's double.

Simmons Plays One Inning.

Al Simmons played in the first inning only and contributed a double as his day's work. Al was sick abed with a stomachache during the night and remained in bed until just before game time. He insisted upon starting the game, having been widely advertised here along with those native Oklahomans, the Waner brothers. He expects to play throughout the two games against the Cubs.

Owner Lou Comiskey revealed that he had come to Oklahoma to inform some of his players, especially certain pitchers, that his policy will not provide hayrides for lazy athletes.

HIGH GOAL POLO PLAYERS VIE FOR PLACES ON TEAM

Game Tomorrow Decides Western Lineup.

Two picked teams of high goal poloists will meet tomorrow night to determine who will represent the west against the east in the national indoor championship series. The game will be played at the 124th Field Artillery armory, 52d street and Cottage Grove avenue. The senior and open class western teams will be selected from the players who take part in the trial game.

In the evening's opener, the 124th Field Artillery Cardinals will meet the low goal Cleveland Riding club trio in a semi-final of the class for teams under 7 goals.

High Goal Men to Play.

The feature game will bring into action Bill Nicholls Jr., rated at 7 goals; Capt. C. A. Wilkinson, 5 goals; Lieut. Larry G. Smith, 4 goals; Maj. R. G. Hunter, Prentice Porter, and Jim Hannah, who are in the handicap books at 3 goals apiece.

Added to these, Herb Lorber is a possibility. Lorber, who carries a 5 goal rating, is recovering from an injury received two months ago when his pony tripped and threw him, dislocating his left shoulder and breaking his collar bone. He said he feels fit to go at least two chukkers in the engagement tomorrow.

Capt. Maxwell Corpening has been called out of the city and is not expected to be available to compete in the nationals.

The west can put a 17 goal team on the field, with Nicholls, Capt. Wilkinson, and Lorber in the lineup. The maximum for the senior class is 18 goals, while the open class in the nationals is limited to 20 goals.

Lieut. Smith is considered certain to displace one of the higher rated stars. His defensive and offensive performance this season has been the most colorful and effective shown by any back in the armory.

Teams Evenly Rated.

The Cardinals-Cleveland game will bring together two teams equally rated in goal strength, with each player on both sides handicapped at 2 goals. The Cleveland camp has named the combination of Cliff Radcliff, Charley Calhoun, and A. B. Phillips.

Capt. Bill Everett of the Cardinals will be supported by Lieut. H. D. Reed and Lieut. Romeo Mura.

Announcement was made that as an added feature of the nationals the crack drill squad of the Shattuck Military academy, Faribault, Minn., will perform their maneuvers. These youngsters go through their varied and complicated drills without the aid of music or verbal commands.

SPORT CARNIVAL WILL BE HELD AT LOYOLA TONIGHT

Champions in seven events will be crowned tonight when the Loyola university intramural association holds its third annual carnival at the Loyola gymnasium.

The program will consist of finals in bowling, wrestling, boxing, ping-pong, basketball, billiards, and handball tournaments conducted by the intramural board this winter. The greatest rivalry centers in the basketball finals which bring together the dental school freshmen and the Alpha Delts, arts social fraternity. Wrestling teams from the professional schools and the arts campus are expected to furnish the most amusement.

Council Gets Proposal for Tax on Sports

A proposal to place a 3 per cent tax on the gross receipts at all professional sport events in Chicago was submitted to the city council yesterday by Ald. James B. Bowler [25th]. The matter was referred to the committee on recreation and aviation.

Ald. Bowler urged serious consideration of the suggestion on the basis that it would be more equitable than the system now in operation. At present, both the Cubs and Sox pay a flat license fee of $4,000 per baseball season. The Blackhawks pay the same amount for their shorter hocky season. The "flat" basis does not take into consideration what sometimes amounts to large differences in receipts and ability to pay, he said.

The question will be decided at public hearings, which will be held by the committee. Ald. Thomas A. Doyle [11th] is chairman of the recreation and aviation committee.

Ald. Bowler presented his suggestion after the city council had approved a refund of $11,516 to the Blackhawks for fees, held by the corporation counsel to be illegal and discriminatory.

DE PAUL BEGINS SPRING FOOTBALL PRACTICE TODAY

De Paul university's football squad, undefeated last season, will begin spring training this afternoon, Athletic Director Jim Kelly announced yesterday.

The team will be wrecked by graduation, but a large turnout of new candidates is expected. Kelly and Line Coach Ben Connor will face the task of replacing 16 regulars. Those who will be lost from the line include Jim Gorsky and Bert Lannon, centers; John Sexton and Ray Schuster, guards; Phil Clancy, Pete Barskis, John Pionke, and Ed Walters, tackles; and John Delaney, end.

The back field will miss Capt. Marty Stadler and Eddie O'Brien, half backs; Vin Flood, quarter; and Jim Condon and Ray Covington, full backs.

Jewish Athletes Prepare to Open Wrestling Meet

Irving Sax of Hammond, Ind., last night worked out at the Jewish Peoples' institute in preparation for the Jewish Organized Youth wrestling tournament. The meet will open Monday night at the Douglas Park gymnasium in Douglas Park, with preliminary bouts in the grammar school division.

Sax, the prep champion of Hammond, will wrestle in the 135 pound division during the senior preliminaries which are to be held at the American Boys' Commonwealth, 3415 West 13th place, Wednesday night. The intermediates, boys under 18, will go through their eliminations Thursday at the Doborah Boys' club, 2441 West Division street. All final bouts will be held in the People's playhouse of the Jewish People's institute a week from Saturday night.

Even wrestling will have its kingfish and one, Jerry Gordon, a senior representing the J. P. I. in the heavyweight class, has been drilling by throwing headlocks around halibuts. He is proppriotor of a fish store.

SCARLET FEVER HITS TRACK TEAM AT MARQUETTE

Milwaukee, Wis., April 12.—(AP)—Capt. Ralph Metcalfe, sprint star, and other Negro members of the Marquette university track team tonight were under surveillance by health authorities following a tentative scarlet fever quarantine of Calvin Beckett, Negro half miler. Metcalfe, Paul Phillips, sprinter, and Bob Campbell, half miler, have been inoculated against the disease. The four live together. Beckett was removed to an isolation hospital today for observation.

Freshmen Beat Nebraska Varsity Football Team

Lincoln, Neb., April 12.—(AP)—Nebraska closed its spring football practice season this afternoon when a team composed mostly of freshmen defeated a team made up almost entirely of lettermen. The freshmen, aided by the passing of Henry Bauer, defeated the veterans, 6 to 0.

Trotters Open Workouts for Memorial Day

Bright sunshine and a fast track coaxed several members of the new Chicago Trotting and Riding club out to their new racing grounds at River road and North avenue, where they gave their trotters and pacers brisk workouts yesterday.

Spinning around the half mile course in the sulkies were Thomas Hogan, Henry Knight, Charles Livingston, and several other members of the new racing organization, which will open the season with a series of matinée events on the afternoon of Memorial day.

Knight is the owner of Reynolds, which is one of the heavily backed future book favorites to win the Hambletonian stakes in Goshen, N. Y., on Aug. 15. Another Chicago horse which is well regarded in the Hambletonian is Muscletone, owned by C. B. Shaffer. He has a mark of 2:03¾.

More than 100 trotters and pacers, most of them owned by Chicagoans, are training over the River road trotting course and four hundred of them will be here by the time the first events are run off.

Alekhine Beats Bogoljubow to Lead Title Chess Match

Villingen, Germany, April 12.—(AP)—The fourth game of the chess match for the championship of the world between Dr. Alexander Alekhine, Paris, and E. D. Bogoljubow, Triberg, adjourned from last night, resulted in a victory for Dr. Alekhine after 61 moves tonight. The score to date: Dr. Alekhine, 2; Bogoljubow, 0; drawn, 2.

Bush and Schwartz to Lunch at Covenant Club

Guy Bush and Marchmont Schwartz will be guests at the Covenant club's annual father and son luncheon and athletic jamboree tomorrow at 1:30 p. m. Trophies and awards will be made for the boys' sport activities during the winter. A program of father and son events will be held in the gymnasium after the luncheon.

RUMOR GORMAN TO LEAVE HAWKS NEWS TO GORMAN

It's Also a Surprise to Owner McLaughlin.

Maj. Frederic McLaughlin, owner of the Chicago Blackhawks, who won the world's hocky championship Sunday night, and Tommy Gorman, manager of the team for the last two years, yesterday body checked rumors that the latter would positively not return to pilot the Hawks next year.

Maj. McLaughlin, recovering from the effects of a severe cold at his Lake Forest home, yesterday denied that he had discussed next year's campaign with Gorman, who reaffirmed his employer's denial later in the day.

Takes Return for Granted.

"Gorman and I haven't discussed anything about his leaving the team which he led to a championship, and any rumors along those lines are news to me," Maj. McLaughlin said. "I have taken it for granted that he will be back with us, and if he has other plans, he hasn't spoken of them to me."

Gorman, who will leave for Ottawa this morning to confer upon his approaching duties as secretary of the Quebec Racing association, said last night that his plans for the next season were not definitly settled yet, and further denied any rumors that he would be replaced. He pointed out that his affairs are contingent upon the racing association, from which he has obtained leave of absence during the last two years to manage the Hawks.

He concluded with high praise for Maj. McLaughlin and other Hawk officials for their coöperation during the two seasons in which he brought the Chicagoans from last place in the National Hocky league to the Stanley cup and the world's title.

Rumors Start in Detroit.

The first rumors of the possibility of Gorman's leaving came to light while the Hawks were playing the first two games of the Stanley cup finals at Detroit. Before they had subsided Gorman had offers from other National league clubs for next season. One of these proposed to install Gorman as manager of the Ottawa club in St. Louis if the Ottawa franchise is transferred there.

The Ottawa club's owners, however, have not decided yet as to whether to transfer the franchise, because of expected opposition to such a movement by the American association.

Henry Rothier Defeats Young Terry in 8 Rounds

Davenport, Ia., April 12.—[Special.]—Henry Rothier defeated Young Terry in a fast eight round bout here tonight. Rothier gave Terry a body beating, having him in distress in the last round.

Johny Phagan of Chicago stopped Eddie Gray of Muskogee, Okla., in three rounds.

Duffy Florals to Start Workouts Next Sunday

President John Duffy of the Duffy Floral baseball club has called a workout for his team for Sunday afternoon at Shewbridge field, 74th and Aberdeen streets. Players desiring tryouts are invited to be present. With some of last year's stars signed by minor league clubs, several positions are open.

Ogren to Fight Stuhley in Windup at White City Tonight

Professional boxing shows will be held tonight at White City, 63d street and South Park, and the Rainbo Fronton, Clark street and Lawrence avenue.

Karl Ogren, north side middleweight, will meet Young Stuhley of Kewanee, Ill., in place of Solly Dukelsky in the eight round windup bout at White City. Ogren had signed to box Dukelsky and the latter refused to step out of the picture until yesterday, when Chairman Joe Triner of the Illinois Athletic commission settled the dispute. Ogren and Dukelsky signed new contracts for a meeting at White City May 4.

Gene Salvatore, La Salle, Ill., lightweight, is matched with Lou Terry of St. Louis, Mo., in a five round semi-final. Other matches:

Danny Neenan vs. Hank Bucker [5], 140.
Jim Cummings vs. Einar Hedquist [4], 158.
Willie Ross vs. Harry Booker [4], 133.
Davey White vs. Johnny Reba [4], 135.

Eddie Chinski, Kankakee, Ill., junior welterweight, opposes Jackie McCarten of Atlanta, Ga., in the eight round main event at Rainbo Fronton. George Haberski will attempt to avenge a recent knockout by Sammy Wallace in a five round supporting match. The rest of the program:

Lou Vine and Al Schiarato [4], 133.
Joey Bozak and Jimmy Richards [4], 129.
Eddie Smith and Don Buck [4], 135.
Al Woznica and John Holda [wrestling].

Eddie Shea, veteran south side featherweight, began workouts yesterday at the Coulon gymnasium for his 10 round match with Leo Rodak at White City roller rink April 23 . . . He will begin sparring today against Willie Ross. . . . Rodak has added Lou Vine to his staf of boxing partners. . . . He is to open drills with Vine at C. Y. O. center Monday. . . . Harry Dublinsky, welterweight, entrains today for New Orleans, La., where he fights Ritchie Mack Monday.

Tommy Corbett, Omaha, Neb., lightweight, has been signed to meet Frank Sigilio in the feature match at Cicero Stadium on April 27 . . . Corbett plans to leave for Chicago immediately after a 10 round battle with Joey Alcanter at Kansas City, Mo., next Wednesday.

The eight round encounter between Mickey Joy and Dick Sisk, Brighton Park 145 pound rivals, at Midway arena Monday is creating considerable interest. Preliminary contests include:

SOUTH CHICAGO PLACES 5 IN 'Y' BOXING FINALS

South Chicago won major honors in the semi-finals of the all city Y. M. C. A. boxing tourney at the Central gym last night. The winners of last night's bouts will meet April 21 at the 132d Regiment armory to determine the city titles. The bouts will be a feature of the all Y Chicago sports carnival to be held on that date.

The boys from the steel district qualified five men, making a clean sweep in the 112 pound division and furnishing finalists in the 126, 147, and 175 pound classes. The Wilson Avenue and Englewood branches qualified two men each. Other branches to qualify men were Lincoln-Belmont, Duncan, Hyde Park, 111th street, and Lawson Y. The finalists are:

112 pounds—Gribbon, South Chicago, and Stockton, South Chicago.
118 pounds—Rutt, Englewood, and Marcus, Wilson.
126 pounds—Evans, Lincoln-Belmont, and McGregor, South Chicago.
135 pounds—Lake, Englewood, and Irwin, Lincoln-Belmont.
147 pounds—Finn, South Chicago, and Terricano, Duncan.
160 pounds—Ziegler, Wilson, and Rivklind, Hyde Park.
175 pounds—Dunn, South Chicago, and Asp, 111th street.
Heavyweights—Carroll, Lawson, and Leugaud, 111th street.

Sammy Slaughter Beats Matthews in 10 Rounds

Quincy, Ill., April 12.—(AP)—Sammy [Kid] Slaughter, Terre Haute, Ind., won a split decision from Allen Matthews, St. Louis Negro middleweight, in a ten round bout here tonight. The judges voted for Slaughter, while the referee called it a draw. Slaughter weighed 165 and Matthews 158.

SONJA GOES TO MOVIES TO SEE HERSELF SKATE

Champion to Appear at Stadium Sunday.

Sonja Henie saw herself as others see her last night when Norwegian-American officials arranged for a private showing of a newsreel taken of the pretty blonde world's champion figure skater during her New York exhibition last month.

Since the reel was made Sonja has been hearing about how she looked in the movies. When she expressed curiosity as to how her skating the "Dying Swan" number appeared arrangements were made for a private showing of the film.

Sonja, who will give what she declares will be her final exhibition in this country at the Chicago Stadium Sunday evening, apparently enjoyed the pictures. With the usual big smile—which seems perpetual and matches her personality to perfection—she left the studio, but would make no comment as to what she thought of the film.

Program Offers Variety.

Last night Sonja took a little spin around the Stadium's ice when a final checkup was made of the lighting effects. Then she departed to the Lake Shore Athletic club, where a number of her Olympic friends are competing in the swimming championships.

Many features on the program Sunday will be of the comedy and trick skating variety. Some of the events scheduled will interest the followers of speed skating, while the national amateur figure and fancy skating fans will see Robin Lee, Minneapolis youngster, who holds the junior U. S. title; Eleanor Berger, Northwestern coed; Simpson sisters, western Canada champions; Charles Uksila and Vida, the Bapties of Canada.

McLean to Perform.

Bobby McLean, world's champion professional speed skating champion, does his fox hunt and barrel jumping stunts. The skating donkey will be presented by Henri and Jack Smalley, Minneapolis clown skaters, and David Duffy of Oakland, Cal., will do his impression of an inebriate coming home from a night club on skates.

Lather or Brushless
Which is BETTER?
LET ME ADVISE YOU. I MAKE BOTH
W. G. Mennen

DON'T be fooled by all the ballyhoo: there's no such thing as one best shave for all faces. Whether you should use Lather or Brushless depends on your individual type of beard and your type of skin. That's why I make both—Mennen Lather Shave and Mennen Brushless. Both wilt wiriest whiskers. But only your own skin can decide which is best for you. For oily skin I recommend Mennen Lather Shave. It flushes out oily pore-deposits, cleanses the skin. For dry skin I recommend Mennen Brushless Shave. It's a cream, not a grease, good for a dry skin. If your skin is normal, then it's just a question of whether or not you like to use a brush!

"YOU'RE RIGHT— I'VE BEEN USING MOBILGAS ALL WINTER!"

SUN SHINING . . . warm breezes blowing . . . wouldn't it be grand if Spring were here always? But your motor knows better. Chilly nights follow hot noons. Rainy Mondays come after bright Sundays.

That's the point about Mobilgas. Changes in temperature, humidity have little effect on its performance.

Mobilgas is the only gasoline you can buy that's preadjusted at the refinery for quick changes in weather. Try Mobilgas these next few changeable weeks. See how Climatic Control makes your car a star performer.

We think you'll like its power—its pick-up—its freedom from knocking. We know you'll like the ease of getting it—for Mobilgas is sold wherever you see the Mobilgas sign. Vacuum Oil Company, Inc.—a Socony-Vacuum company.

200 WATCH CUB REGULARS BEAT GRAY NINE, 4-3

Tinning Loses, but Hurls Well.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Before a throng estimated at 200 the Cubs and Cubs reeled off another of those refrigerated preview games yesterday at Wrigley field. Happily for those who were present because duty called, the entire affair consumed only 76 minutes, which was long enough for the Cub Regulars, or Whites, to prove themselves better Eskimos than the Irregulars, or Grays. The Regulars won a 4 to 3 decision and most of the runs resulted from the boys' proving by bad baseball that they were in no mood to exhibit themselves.

Tinning Hurls Well.

Bud Tinning did all the throwing against the Regulars and while not supposed to be in condition turned out a fairly neat job, considering the frigid atmosphere. A couple of the men supposed to be supporting him threw him down in two innings and this was the cause of the runs charged against him. On the other hand, Roy Joiner, the southpaw who is figured on for part time work this season, did nothing of a sensational nature against the Irregulars. They hit him hard most of the time.

Babe Herman stepped up to bat in the second inning with his left hand encased in a woolen mitten. This may have been responsible for the single he whacked into left. Grimm followed with a bounder to short, but young Glossop didn't concern himself on the play, so the manager collected a bargain double. Jurges' fly sent Babe Herman home. Grimm moved to third on Hack's boot of Tate's grounder and scored on Joiner's single to left. English rolled into a double play to complete the inning.

Glossop Helps Whites.

Young Glossop encountered more fielding difficulties in the fourth and this assisted the Whites to another pair of runs. Grimm opened with a roller to short and Glossop fumbled, which wasn't surprising. Jurges then beat out a hit that the semi-pro phenom couldn't handle. Tate singled to left, scoring Grimm and putting Jurges on third. Tate figured it would be safe to go to second, but Stephenson crossed him up with a throw to Hack that nailed him. Grimm scampered home while Hack was throwing out Joiner.

Joiner's skill in dodging trouble vanished in the seventh, but better support might have saved him some of the trouble. Glossop led off with a pop to short center, but Cuyler didn't feel like breaking his neck, so the ball dropped for a double. Phelps fouled out and Tinning tripled to left center, Glossop scoring. Galan sailed a three base drive over Cuyler, who was in no particular hurry and Tinning went across the plate. Hack, after three straight strikeouts, unbuckled a clean single to left to score Galan with the third and last run of the inning.

Nelson Back on Sick List.

Lynn Nelson, one of the pitchers Grimm had figured might be available for regular work later on, went back on the sick list yesterday. His ailment is a recurrence of the ear trouble which put him in a Los Angeles hospital several weeks ago. He did practically no work during the training trip, but even without exercise, shed twelve pounds of his weight.

The so called preview series will be concluded this afternoon and it is Grimm's intention to give a couple of his regular pitchers a workout. Lon Warneke will work against the regulars, but will pitch for only a few innings. It will be his last warmup prior to appearing in the season's opener at Cincinnati next Tuesday. Guy Bush will pitch a few innings against the Grays.

Jack Dempsey in Hospital with 'Touch of Ptomaine'

Dallas, Tex., April 12.—(AP)—Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight boxing champion, was in Baylor hospital here tonight undergoing treatment for what was described as a "touch of ptomaine poisoning." His condition was not serious, hospital attendants said.

Brethren of Izaak Walton Long for May

BY BOB BECKER.

It was Izaak Walton, the patron saint of angling, who expressed the inward longing of all trout fishermen during the month of April when he said:

"But I shall long for the month of May, for then I hope to enjoy your beloved company, at the appointed time and place."

Every fisherman will appreciate those phrases, "beloved company, at the appointed time and place," because April is the time when anglers make their dates to go with old pals to favorite fishing streams. We doubt if there is any other kind of fishing or any other season opening which brings together fishing pals like trout fishing. Year after year the fly fishermen meet on the same stream just as Walton said, "at the appointed time and place."

It's a Ritual.

There is a ritual about opening day on the trout stream that one has fished for many years. You'll hear the question, "Where are you going for the opening?" And the veteran trout fisherman will answer, "Oh, the same old spot up on the Pine," or whatever the name of the stream may be. There is nothing dull about going back to the same stream year after year—not to the trout fisherman.

Of course, "beloved company" to the trout fisherman also means the old pair of waders that has had many a gallon of icy cold trout water slip past them early in May; a battered, dirty creel, rod, reel, and line, the old fishing jacket that smells of citronella and pine tar mosquito dopes, the book of flies, the leader box and other gadgets which trout fishermen must have on the stream.

Nothing Quite Like It.

But beside these things that term "beloved company" which Walton spoke of means the flowers, trees, birds which the trout fishermen will see along his favorite stream during May. The lingering fragrance of arbutus, gorgeous yellow marsh marigolds that dot the margin of the stream, dark, rich, green cedars that hang over the bank of the creek, and the spring songs of the red winged blackbirds in the marshes. The opening of the bass season when the northland is deep in June is a beautiful time of the year, but nothing is quite like May when the trout fisherman meets his pals "at the appointed time and place."

Lamon Methodist Team Wins Girls' Church Game

Mildred Anderson's defensive play and her seven points helped the Lamon Avenue Methodist Episcopal church defeat St. John the Baptist, 17 to 12, last night in the Cook County Church Girls' basketball tournament at Mount Carmel High school gym. In other games Bethany downed Austint Congregational, 16 to 11, and St. Hilary won from St. Clara, 14 to 13. Tonight's schedule:

7:30, Presentation vs. St. Columbanus; 8:30, Immaculate Conception vs. Redeemer Lutheran; 9:30, St. Philip Neri vs. Sacred Heart.

Stoefen Revives Chances for U. S. Davis Cup Victory

New York, April 12.—(AP)—The performance of Lester Stoefen of California during winter tennis tournaments has revived American hopes of taking the Davis cup from England this summer.

The seriousness with which this prospect now is being regarded, after a new low last year, is indicated by the cautious step taken to keep Stoefen from going stale. The Californian's withdrawal from the Pinehurst tournament, on telegraphed advice from Holcombe Ward, chairman of the Davis cup committee, marks the beginning of organized measures.

On the basis of recent form Stoefen is considered more formidable than either Frank Shields, top ranking American amateur of 1933, or Sidney B. Wood, the players heretofore figured as the most likely singles choices.

It is considered probable that the doubles team will consist of George Lott and Wilmer Allison.

Stoefen's improvement is only one of several factors affecting this year's Davis cup outlook. The death of Jiro Satoh eliminates Japan as a serious threat and Australia's chances appear lessened by Jack Crawford's slump, which started when he lost to Fred Perry in the American singles final at Forest Hills last year. The result is that America now appears to be the one challenger with a chance to overthrow the Britons.

ILLINOIS LOSES FROSH FOOTBALL STAR; INELIGIBLE

Champaign, Ill., April 12.—[Special.]—Sam Knox, captain of the University of Illinois freshman football team last fall, was regarded as one of the leading candidates for tackle on the varsity next season, but developments today indicated Coach Bob Zuppke will have to get along without him.

Knox, it was learned by athletic authorities, had competed on the University of New Hampshire football team before maltriculating at Illinois last September. The loss of Knox followed that of Art Franks, Harrisburg, another outstanding tackle candidate, who withdrew from the university to study for entrance examinations to the United States Naval academy.

PRICES REDUCED FOR CINCINNATI BASEBALL GAMES

Cincinnati, O., April 12.—(AP)—It will cost from five to 55 cents less to watch the Cincinnati Reds of the National league in action this year.

Larry MacPhail, business manager of the Reds, announced today that a reduction in seat prices will become effective next week-end when the Detroit Tigers play here. Week day prices will range from 60 cents to $1.50 and top price in the holiday scale will be $2.

MacPhail said he made the reductions after receiving word from Powel Crosley Jr., president of the club, to "give Cincinnati fans better baseball for the lowest possible price."

Northwestern, Bradley Open Series Today

Peoria, Ill, April 12.—[Special.]—Bradley will attempt to continue its baseball victory string over Northwestern university tomorrow and Saturday afternoons when the two nines meet on Tech field. Last year Bradley team won 16 to 10 and 2 to 1.

Dale Daugherty, veteran right hander, who pitched one of the games against the Wildcats last season, will be Coach A. J. Robertson's choice tomorrow. Gene Handley will pitch Saturday, and Harold Lints will catch. More than 500 visiting high school seniors, attending a conference at Bradley, will witness the first Northwestern game.

MAROONS PLAY LAKE FOREST.

Lake Forest will open its baseball season with the University of Chicago in Lake Forest this afternoon. Coach Ralph Jones has had to build practically a new Lake Forest team as only four of last year's squad will return.

Schmeling-Uzcudun Bout Rescheduled for May 13

CUNNINGHAM TO RUN MILE RACE AT KANSAS RELAYS

Lawrence, Kas., April 12.—(AP)—The management of the Kansas relays carnival, which will be held April 21, announced today that Glenn Cunningham and three or four other middle distance stars will compete in a special invitation mile race and not the 1,500 meter event, also on the program. Besides Cunningham, University of Kansas ace, the entrants in the mile are Gene Venzke of Pennsylvania, Ray Sears of Butler university, and Harold Manning, Wichita Athletic club.

Men who know the cigar say
KRO CIGARS

Right on the chin, Althburt! And that's where most men take it when their little women fall for "bargain counter" brands of coffee. But there's a tried and tested way to restore coffee goodness on the table and maintain peace and quiet in the family. Try this, Mister, if you're tired of wishing for a delicious cup of coffee once again: Tell your wife that the high standards of Hills Bros.' quality also insure her economy. Hills Bros. Coffee is so rich in flavor, so much greater in strength, that compared—cup for cup—with "bargain counter" coffees, Hills Bros. Coffee does go farther.

JUDGE SCHILLING WINS BY LENGTH AT BOWIE TRACK

Jacobs Is Suspended for Rough Riding.

Bowie, Md., April 12.—[Special.]—Judge Schilling won the Mayor Jackson trophy race, feature of the Bowie program today. Jocky Earl Porter rode the nine year old plater to a length victory over Volta Maid. The Heathen, owned by the B. B. stable, finished third.

Judge Schilling ran the six furlongs in 1:13 2-5 and paid $5.10 for $2 straight tickets. Mayor Howard W. Jackson of Baltimore presented the trophy to Fred Kraft, owner of Judge Schilling.

Heathen Takes Lead.

The Heathen jumped into an early lead, but was soon caught by Judge Schilling. The Heathen, making his first start in six months, tired badly at the head of the stretch and was passed easily by Volta Maid.

Immediately after the first race stewards at the track announced the suspension of Joe Jacobs, New Orleans jocky, who with Porter is at the top for 1934 riding honors. He was banned for rough riding and his case referred to the Maryland Racing commission. Jacobs won the race aboard Cheka for his 84th victory of the year.

Jacobs' contract was bought by Mrs. Payne Whitney from Mose Goldblatt yesterday. He rode his 85th winner, Butter Beans, in the sixth race today.

TERRIER IS VICTOR.

Arlington Downs, Tex., April 12.—[Special.]—Terrier, owned by Mrs. A. M. Creech, won the feature event at the Arlington Downs race track today. Terrier finished a length in front of Coya. Martin Barton was third. Terrier covered the Waggoner course, 50 yards less than six furlongs, in 1:09, which was two-fifths of a second slower than the track record.

PRINCE HEATHER WINS.

San Bruno, Cal., April 12.—(AP)—Prince Heather, the favorite, won today's feature race at Tanforan over six furlongs. The J. W. Marchbank entry won handily by three lengths. The time was 1:14.

Aloching was second and Johnnie D. third. Jocky Herb Simmons held his mount off the early pace, but opened up in the stretch drive to run away from the field.

Bonsall set the early pace, but wilted on the far turn, where Johnnie D. went into the lead. Aloching finished strong for second, but had no chance to catch the leader.

Prince Heather paid $7.20, $4.00, and $2.60. Aloching returned $3.40 and $2.60, and Johnnie D., $3.00.

TOPPING, LESTER MEET IN MASON AND DIXON GOLF

White and Sulphur Springs, W. Va., April 12.—[Special.]—D. R. Topping, Greenwich, Conn., will meet Robert Lester, Baltusrol, N. J., in the finals of the 14th annual Mason and Dixon golf tournament on the old White course tomorrow. Topping and Lester each scored easy victories in the semi-final round today.

Topping triumphed over Arthur Lynch, Hamaroneck, N. Y., co-medalist, 7 and 6, while Lester eliminated Robert Stranahan, Toledo, O., 5 and 4. Stranahan was in the traps frequently and won only three of the 14 holes played.

SOCCER FANS TO HONOR GOALIE HJULIAN SUNDAY

Sunday will be Julius Hjulian day at De Paul field, Sheffield and Webster avenues, where employés of the Wieboldt stores will pay tribute to the only Chicago soccer player ever picked to represent the United States in an international tournament.

Hjulian, chunky Swedish goalie, will play for the United States in the international tournament, and will be between the sticks for the Wieboldt Wonderbolts against the all star team from the International league at De Paul field.

The Maccabees All Stars and British Legion will play a major league game at 19th street and Keeler avenue, tomorrow.

CHILE PRESENTS PROSPEROUS AIR; DEBTS IGNORED

Home Trade Good; Foreign Commerce Small.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

SANTIAGO, Chile, April 12.—Economic analysis of Chile's present and future, bank reports, statistics of imports and exports make depressing reading, giving only a modest hope that this country will be able to pay its debts, give dividends to its investors and take its place as an important factor in world trade. But life itself seems thrilling and opulent here. That is the first contradiction presented to the observer.

Chileans, who are called the Yankees of South America, refuse to live up to this dark picture of debt and disaster. There is no city on this continent, with the exception of the City of Mexico, where the song of industry is higher. The builders' hammers sound on a summer night. There is a northern rush and tearing and pounding going on. Old walls are falling to the wrecker and handsome new offices, called skyscrapers, and modern efficiency apartments are going up in this old valley of Santiago. It is a city of 800,000, soon to celebrate its 400th anniversary, and houses are hard to buy or rent. There is faith here, if not abroad. Life is bigger than a banksheet.

Population Dominantly White.

We have a racial base here and a physical setting that is different from anything else in South America. It is dominantly white. It extends from the rainless tropical deserts of the north to the polar regions of the south, embracing 2,700 miles of seacoast, wheat lands, forest areas, lakes and fjords and islands of surpassing beauty and great potential value as tourist and agricultural centers. A frontier of undeveloped land remains in the intermediate country, a temperate land where Germans and English dominate.

All this may have something to do with the Chilean attitude toward the so-called depression, which hit their country the hardest in this part of the world, according to international balances, but which seems difficult to find. The agricultural workers have never improved their lot much since colonial days. But the skilled workers, the professional men, the merchants and the landowners, although laboring under wierd exchange conditions, with uncertain money and little tangible income from abroad, have not been bowed down.

City Appears Prosperous.

Here are crowded theaters, hotels, bars, much window shopping, at least, along streets of smart shops, plenty of food in sight, all fruits and vegetables, comparatively little unemployment, factories increasing their output, agriculture taking on new diversity and with profit to the farmers.

Where is this depression? It exists in the foreign trade sheets and in the budget and the unpaid debts, it is true, but where people do not admit it into their hearts, where they continue to work and play, it cannot last. Chile's imports have been reduced to necessities until recently, when automobiles and other luxuries have begun to come down from the sea.

Much of this may be considered, however, at the expense of foreign creditors, for in its 1934 budget there is no mention of resumption of debt service, the interest on which now amounts to an average of $28,773,000 a year. In a sense, Chile may be said to be still cheerfully living from the loans that the New York bankers induced her to take in the boom years. The investors will have to whistle for their money for some years.

People Awake to Taxation.

For the first time in more than 50 years the revenue derived from the nitrate industry is excluded from the budget, and the people are finding out what it means to support a government by taxation. Much of the impetus in new building comes from the fact that taxes are remitted for ten years on all buildings completed before 1935. The Chileans are not likely to support a high tax government for the benefit of foreign creditors, American exporters or investors.

War in the far east, however, or in Europe, would send Chile's nitrate industry booming and settle its economic troubles. That is one possibility. The other is much more remote and slow, arising from the development of agriculture and the finding of new markets. In the meantime, however, Chile is living off its own industry, in very good style indeed.

MEMBER BANKS' RESERVES RISE TO RECORD HIGH

Reach 3½ Billion Due to U. S. Account.

Reserves of member banks of the federal reserve system rose $110,000,000 to a new high of $3,500,000,000 in the week ended last Wednesday, it was revealed in the weekly federal reserve statements issued yesterday. This gain lifted member bank excess reserves back to about their recent high of around $1,500,000,000, it was estimated, and possibly to a new high.

The gain in member bank reserves was the result principally of treasury disbursements, which were again financed by the deposit of gold certificates with the federal reserve banks. The treasury credited the reserve banks with $77,262,000 of gold certificates, which was over $48,000,000 in excess of the $29,000,000 gain in monetary gold stocks during the week. Treasury cash and deposits with the federal reserve banks were drawn down $84,000,000, while treasury and national bank currency went up $12,000,000.

Draw 31 Million in Chicago, N. Y.

In addition to the $84,000,000 reduction in treasury cash and deposits with the federal reserve banks the treasury withdrew an additional 31 million dollars from member banks in New York and Chicago.

The additions to member bank reserves resulting from these movements were augmented by a retirement of $24,000,000 of money from circulation and by the week's gain in gold. An offsetting factor was provided by a $17,000,000 reduction in outstanding federal reserve bank credit, the product of a reduction of $5,000,000 in member bank discounts, a fall of $9,000,000 in federal reserve bill holdings and a retirement of $4,000,000 of other reserve bank credit.

A further offset came from the shifting of funds from member bank account to nonmember bank account, indicated by a rise of $23,000,000 in nonmember deposits and other federal reserve accounts.

Reserve Notes Withdrawn.

Of the week's fall in total money in circulation $6,204,000 was provided by the retirement of federal reserve notes, while there was a net reduction of $18,216,000 in the net obligation of the reserve banks for circulation of federal reserve bank notes. The nongold secured currency authorized last year which has been undergoing rapid retirement in recent weeks.

Due to the increased gold certificate reserves of the system the reserve ratio improved in the week to 68.7 per cent against 68.2 per cent despite a gain of $80,950,000 in deposit liabilities.

The report of the New York Federal Reserve bank showed a fall of $70,179,000 in gold certificate reserves, apparently reflecting the movement of funds out of this center. Discounts fell $1,717,000, while bill holdings were virtually unchanged and holdings of United States government securities were the same as a week ago.

LIBBY-M'NEILL EARNINGS EQUAL $1.34 PER SHARE

Higher prices and increased volume helped Libby, McNeill & Libby to report a profit of $2,206,342, or $1.34 per common share, for the year ended March 3, 1934, against loss of $6,248,478 for the preceding fiscal year. Results in the last fiscal year included $401,427 profit on foreign exchange and $77,444 profit on retirement of funded debt.

"The change in conditions during the early summer months of 1933," said Edward G. McDougall, president, "not only halted the decline in prices of agricultural products purchased, but brought an upturn, carrying prices beyond the levels of the preceding year."

Profitable operations and higher prices helped current position. On March 3, 1934, current assets were $26,513,555 and current liabilities were $9,428,000, a ratio of 2.81 to 1. Working capital was $17,085,075, against $14,278,700 last year. In addition, funded debt was reduced $312,000.

EXCHANGE SEAT SELLS AT $140,000, $40,000 HIGHER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 12.—Arrangements were completed today for the sale of a New York Stock exchange membership at $140,000, an advance of $40,000 above the immediately preceding sale on March 29.

This sharp recovery was attributed in some quarters to the news from Washington which suggested that some of the sharper teeth have been taken from the stock exchange regulation legislation.

Prices for big board seats dropped rapidly last month when it appeared that the legislation was going to be enacted into law with only slight changes in the severe measures it contained.

Report Auto Sales Highest in Four Years

Reports made yesterday by a number of leading automobile manufacturers continue the story of improvement in general conditions which has resulted in the best motor car business in four seasons. Companies telling of recent gains in their sales included Chevrolet, Chrysler, and Hudson.

W. E. HOLLER.

William E. Holler, general sales manager of Chevrolet, reported that retail deliveries by dealers during March totaled 97,194 units, the largest monthly total since March, 1930. In March, 1933, the total was 41,093 units. Inclusion of the March sales brought the total of Chevrolet deliveries to 177,271 units for the first quarter of this year, compared with 124,674 in the like period of last year.

More Commercial Units Sold.

Retail deliveries of Chevrolet commercial cars and trucks in March total 25,974, more than three times those of March a year ago. The total for the first quarter was 59,312. First quarter sales this year were more than double those of the like period in 1933 and established a first quarter record unequaled in five years.

Retail deliveries by Chrysler dealers during the week ended April 7 totaled 4,355 Chrysler and Plymouth cars, setting a new high for the year. The increase amounted to 11.8 per cent over the preceding week and 176.7 per cent over the corresponding week of last year.

Hudson Sales Show Increases.

Shipments of Hudson and Terraplane cars are reported running at a higher rate than at any time since the early part of 1930. For the first week in April 4,562 cars were produced and shipped, compared with 725 in the corresponding week in 1933. In the period from Jan. 1 to April 7 production totaled over 34,000 automobiles, which was almost five times the number turned out in the like period of last year.

The White Motor company announced yesterday that it will increase the price of its light duty trucks slightly more than 9 per cent, effective April 16.

MIDLAND FIRMS DELAY MEETINGS; DATA NOT READY

The annual meetings of the Midland United Company and the Midland Utilities company, a subsidiary, were postponed yesterday until May 31 at the request of John N. Shannahan, president of both companies. Both companies were links in the erstwhile Insull utility empire and Mr. Shannahan was brought here from Omaha, where he was president of the Omaha and Council Bluffs Street Railway company, in December, 1932, to head the properties following the Insull crash.

Mr. Shannahan explained at the Midland United meeting that the management desired more time in the preparation of the annual report because of the difficulty of determining the amount of reserve that should be set up against some of the traction companies in the system. He said that some of the companies shortly after the first of the year began to show signs of life, a factor which complicated the work of estimating the amount of the traction line losses that should be written off.

Mr. Shannahan explained at the Midland Utilities meeting that the management was attempting some sort of reorganization which would best preserve the interests of the stockholders and other interested parties. In his discussion of the improvement in the traction business Mr. Shannahan said that sharp reductions in fares had resulted in an improvement in business which proved quite surprising.

SHELL LAUNCHES BIG NEWSPAPER 'AD' CAMPAIGN

Believing that business is definitly on the upgrade, the Shell Petroleum corporation will launch the largest advertising campaign in its history today, Paul Ryan, manager of the sales promotion advertising department, stated yesterday at a meeting at the Palmer house. More than 330 newspapers throughout twenty-six states, largely in the middle west, will participate in the campaign.

"When we have news to pass on to the public we believe that we can best do it in newspapers," Mr. Ryan stated. "We believe that the new type of gasoline we are offering is real news. Further, we feel that the present time is propitious for going after business. People have more money to spend now and they will spend it. Everywhere we find conditions are better."

Mr. Ryan also addressed 1,000 Shell service station representatives at a banquet last night to outline the company's plans to expand its business. J. G. Sinclair, manager of the company's northern division, with headquarters here, was in charge of the night meeting.

George A. Neesham Elected Head of Purchasing Agents

George A. Neesham of the Wykoof Drawn Steel company, was elected president of the Purchasing Agents association of Chicago at its annual meeting last night in the Great Northern hotel. George Birkenstein of S. Birkenstein & Sons, Inc., was elected first vice president; and John H. Mohr of John Mohr & Sons, second vice president.

British Ford Motors Shows Profit Against 1932 Loss

LONDON, April 12.—Ford Motors company, Ltd., reports trading profit of £943,069 for the year ended Dec. 31, 1933, against a trading loss of £160,638 in 1932.

Liberty Bond Conversion Is Ended by U. S.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., April 12.—The treasury department's 2 billion dollar Liberty bond conversion came to the close of its second and final phase tonight, accomplishing a reduction of approximately $18,000,000 in the government's annual interest charges.

Out of 1 billion 875 million dollars' worth of Fourth Liberty loan bonds called last Oct. 15, more than 1 billion 600 million dollars' worth have been exchanged by their owners for new treasury bonds running 10 to 12 years, according to reports made public tonight by Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. The remaining 275 million dollar's worth or less of the called Liberty bonds will be paid off in cash on April 15 by the treasury. Interest on all the called bonds, whether refinanced or withheld, ceases on April 15.

Calls Operation a Success.

Secretary Morgenthau late today called the conversion attempt, the treasury's first in recent years, highly successful. He was unable, however, to say exactly how many of the called bonds had been turned in. Banks, swamped under the refunding task, were behind in their reports, and the treasury was unable to compile final figures. The conversion offer, however, closed tonight.

The treasury's conversion move started last October, when the Liberty bonds were called. At that time the treasury offered to refund the Libertys into new 4¼-3¼ per cent ten-twelve year treasury bonds. Approximately 875 million dollars' worth of the called bonds were refunded at that time.

Conversion Offer Renewed.

About 10 days ago Secretary Morgenthau offered to refund the remaining called bonds into new 3¼ per cent ten-twelve year treasury bonds. He also offered these new bonds in exchange for 244 million dollars' worth of treasury notes maturing May 2. The dead line for the exchange was set for tonight.

Although 965 million dollars' worth of the called bonds and maturing notes out of a possible total of 1 billion 244 million dollars' worth had been refunded into the new bonds, according to the last available reports tonight. How much of this 965 million dollar total was called bonds and how much notes, the treasury was unable to say.

CHICAGOANS TRADE BONDS.

A considerable number of owners of Fourth Liberty bonds, called by the treasury, crowded the downtown banks yesterday in a last minute rush to convert their bonds into the new obligations offered in exchange by the treasury. Most of yesterday's crowds were holders of medium amounts of bonds, the larger holders having turned in their bonds several days ago.

DOLLAR STEADY AGAINST POUND; FRANC IS FIRMER

New York, April 12.—(AP)—Foreign exchange markets were extremely quiet and orderly yesterday as trading simmered down to routine transactions.

The dollar barely moved in the London market, closing one-fourth of a cent lower at 5.16⅝ to the pound sterling, while the British unit ended unchanged in New York several hours later at $5.16½.

In Paris the dollar was steady and narrow, closing at an equivalent of 6.63 cents to the franc. In New York francs finished a minor fraction of a cent higher at 6.60¼ cents. Based on the franc at its final New York rate, the dollar was valued at approximately 59.34 per cent of its former parity compared with 59.36 per cent yesterday.

The New York Federal Reserve bank reported no gold imports today for the first time in nearly two months.

COMMODITY PRICES SAG AGAIN; INDEX OFF 0.7 PER CENT IN MONTH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washihngton, D. C., April 12.—Wholesale commodity prices last week continued their decline of recent weeks, dropping one-tenth of 1 per cent, Commissioner Lubin of the bureau of labor statistics of the labor department announced today.

The prices at the end of last week were 73.3 per cent of the 1926 average of 100, as compared with 73.4 per cent for the week ended March 31; 73.5 per cent for March 24, 73.7 per cent on March 17, and 73.8 per cent on March 10. The net drop during the four weeks was seven-tenths of 1 per cent.

As compared with the index of 60.1 for the corresponding week of last year, the index last week was up by 22 per cent. It was 11½ per cent above the level for the same week of two years ago, when the index was 65.7. It was 3½ per cent above the first week of January, approximately 2 per cent above the high point reached during 1933 [Nov. 18], when the index stood at 71.7, and 23 per cent above the low point of last year [March 4], when the index was 59.6. As compared with the average for 1929, the index was down by 23 per cent.

The price decline last week was primarily attributable to changes in four of ten major groups of commodities, namely, farm products, foods, textile products, and chemicals and drugs.

MARCH BUILDING TOTAL SHOWS BIG GAIN IN ILLINOIS

March building figures for Illinois, made public last night by the Illinois department of labor, show an increase over the same month last year as well as over the preceding month. During March, 1934, there were 686 building projects, estimated to cost $1,454,591, authorized by permits issued in sixty-five cities. This represents an increase of 99.4 per cent in the number of projects planned and 169 per cent in estimated expenditure over February, 1934. Compared with March, 1933, the total estimated expenditure authorized in March of this year increased 92.5 per cent.

The February-March increase this year was more pronounced than the usual gain for that period. Based on records for the last thirteen years the average increase for this period of the year is approximately 40 per cent.

In Chicago the February-March increase in estimated expenditures of 141.4 per cent was considerably sharper than seasonal factors alone would warant. Every major building classification contributed to these gains. New residential permit expenditures increased from $16,000 to $31,700, or 98.1 per cent. New nonresidential advanced from $40,875 to $129,175 or 216 per cent.

FIRST EQUIPMENT TRUSTS OFFERED SINCE '29 SLUMP

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 12.—The first public offering of equipment trust certificates since the depression closed the market to this form of financing and also since the passage of the national securities law was announced today by Freeman & Co. The offering comprises $2,706,000 of Southern railway 4½ per cent series CC certificates, maturing 1937 to 1944.

In recent months the railroads have sold many issues of 4 per cent equipment trust certificates to the public works administration under the government's plan for stimulating the heavy industries.

The Southern's certificates are secured by deposit with the trustee of title to 1,000 40-ton box cars and 1,500 55-ton hopper cars that cost $4,640,000. Dated originally Dec. 5, 1929, their issuance was authorized by the interstate commerce commission, but their public sale was prevented by the market slump.

Urge Changes in Security Act to Create Jobs

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 12.—[Special.]—The durable goods industry committee which was set up under the auspices of the NRA and claims to represent employers of more than 50 per cent of all labor engaged in manufacturing in this country, today addressed a letter to all code authorities and code committees asking modification of the securities act. The act, it asserts, has interfered with the free flow of private savings into industrial enterprise.

Among those on the committee are George H. Houston, president of the Baldwin Locomotive works; C. R. Messinger, president of Chain Belt company; George P. Torrance, president Link Belt company; Lewis H. Brown, president Johns Manville corporation; Harry S. Kimball, president Fabricated Metal Products industry; Walter J. Kohler, plumbing manufacturer, and F. A. Lorenz Jr., general manager industrial division, American Steel Foundries.

Could Reëmploy Millions.

Saying that heavy industry could reëmploy 5,000,000 or 6,000,000 of those now out of work under proper conditions.

The letter gives as requirements for "even partial recovery" in these industries, the restoration of confidence in the government's future policies, the opening of channels for the free flow of private savings into normal investments, and the "breaking open" of the frozen mortgage situation with the creation of new forms of real estate financing.

The letter says that since 1930 "a constantly increasing proportion of the national income and national savings has been distributed through governmental channels while industry, into which it claims $4,000,000,000 was poured annually in the decade between 1920 and 1930, received only $60,000,000 in 1933 which is only 4 per cent for the making of durable goods, as compared to 54 per cent in Great Britain.

Federal Power Described.

The letter states that a "scientific" investigation by the committee has developed, among the "startling by-products of the federal program," that the federal government now owns one-fourth of the preferred stock of all banks, that through relief organizations the United States government will soon hold the majority of mortgages on farms and homes, and that pending legislation in both houses of congress indicates that all communications will be controled by a federal commission.

"The conclusion is clear," says the letter, "that, perhaps without conscious intent, we are gradually enforcing the nationalization of productive wealth. Increasing amounts of money in productive enterprise must inevitably result in an increasing degree of direction, regulation, control and operation by federal agencies."

APPROVE 50% TAX ON COTTON ABOVE 10 MILLION BALES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 12.—In an agreement which meant victory for the house, conferees on the Bankhead cotton control bill decided late this afternoon to impose a 50 per cent tax on all cotton sold above ten million bales of the 1934-'35 crop.

This was the most important feature of the conference agreement which will be reported to the senate early next week. It was an acceptance of the tax placed by the house and a rejection of the 75 per cent levy which the senate inserted in the bill March 29.

Conferees also agreed to strike out of the bill the senate amendment to eliminate from the operation an exemption for farmers who raised six bales or less.

SENATE, HOUSE SPLIT ON STOCK CONTROL BILL

Margin Rule Chief Point of Dispute.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 12.—The senate committee on banking and currency and the house committee on interstate commerce, having in charge the pending Fletcher-Rayburn stock exchange regulation bill, are in sharp disagreement as to the form the legislation shall take, particularly in the case of the marginal and other controversial sections.

The senate committee voted yesterday to leave the problem of margins to the discretion of a commission of three members so far as transactions on the exchanges are concerned, and to leave to the federal reserve board control of marginal transactions by member banks of the federal reserve system.

House Group Revises Margins.

A subcommittee of the house committee today agreed on a revised marginal provision fixing the loan limit in marginal transactions at 55 per cent, which means a margin requirement of 45 per cent, instead of a loan limit of 40 and a margin requirement of 60 per cent, as written into the revised bill by the experts of the treasury department, the federal reserve board and the federal trade commission.

The committee also approved amendments which give the federal reserve board much greater authority than was given in the redrafted bill, and the board would be empowered to lower margins when necessary, instead of in "an emergency," as was provided in the redraft.

A new subsection written into the margin sections gives the board additional discretionary powers to lower or raise margin requirements under certain conditions, these powers to be exercised notwithstanding the provisions of the subsection fixing loan and margin requirements at 55 per cent and 45 per cent respectively.

Reserve Board Given Control.

Summed up, the rewritten provision, if approved by the full committee and enacted, will mean that the federal reserve board will be the controling credit agency under the bill. The action also indicates that Chairman Rayburn of the house committee and those supporting him will make a fight to retain the federal reserve board as the credit agency under the provisions of the bill and forecasts a battle in conference if the senate approves the Glass amendment creating an administrative and credit agency of three members to be named by the President.

The house sub-committee also voted to modify the so-called "reporting sections" of the bill. Under the bill as now written the federal trade commission is vested with wide powers to set up rules and regulations to govern reports of corporations whose stock issues are listed on the principal exchange. The amended provision eliminates all subject matter which requires the federal trade commission to set up forms for corporate reports and makes less rigorous also the accounting requirements of the bill.

Other Parts of Bill Revised.

While the house committee was proceeding with its revision of the bill a subcommittee of the senate committee on banking and currency was busy redrafting various clauses in the corporate sections for submission to the full committee, probably tomorrow or Saturday. The section under scrutiny are those dealing with registration of securities, corporate reports, proxies, liabilities of directors and stockholders, and the giving of misleading information.

The senate sub-committee is also seeking a way to restore a simplified section 2 to the bill. The original section, which was called "a stump speech" by Samuel Untermyer, was over 700 words long and declared the proposed law to be of an "emergency" nature. This was done in an effort to safeguard the constitutionality of the law in the event it was tested in the courts. The entire section was eliminated on a motion by Senator Adams.

Just when the bills will be reported to the two houses remains in doubt. Both committees are hoping they can report out the bills next week.

Union Pacific Shows Best March Income Since 1930

Net operating income of the Union Pacific railroad system for March was indicated yesterday as about $1,500,000, the largest for the month since 1930. Earnings, said Carl R. Gray, ran at about the same rate of increase over the corresponding period of last year as in the first two months of this year. February's net operating income was $863,390, and that of March, 1933, $665,592.

Fair Store on Profit Basis; Sales Expand

Enjoying an improvement in business, The Fair returned to profitable operations in the year ended Jan. 31, 1934, after the first net loss in 57 years had been incurred in the preceding fiscal year. Net earnings for the year ended Jan. 31, 1934, after provision for federal income tax and all other charges, were $250,571, compared with a net loss of $667,946 for the year ended Jan. 31, 1933, according to the pamphlet report released yesterday.

D. F. KELLY.

"With the opening in May, 1933, of A Century of Progress sales showed an increase over the preceding year, and comparable increases in all succeeding months," comments D. F. Kelly, president and general manager, and S. S. Kresge, chairman of the board, in their statement to the stockholders.

Predict Further Gain This Year.

"We have reason to believe that because of a continuation of A Century of Progress during this year business will undoubtedly be benefited again."

Net sales for the year amounted to $16,574,129, compared with $15,922,279 in the preceding period. Among the operating charges provision for federal, state, and local taxes totaled $490,546, showing an increase of about $104,000 over those of the preceding year. The margin, according to the statement by the officers, is entirely attributable to the 2 per cent occupational tax imposed by the state of Illinois since July, 1933, and absorbed by the company.

Provision for depreciation and amortization amounted to $243,690, or $147,401 less than in the preceding year. Total expenses for the year were reduced $146,618.

Surplus Is Increased.

The earned surplus balance at the beginning of the fiscal year was $1,153,065, and at the end of the year $1,439,089 after the addition of the net profit and the discount on preferred stock bought for retirement.

The balance sheet shows that the company had on Jan. 31, 1934, current assets of $6,037,594, compared with $5,354,425 the year before. While cash decreased from $762,612 to $564,222, investments in tax anticipation warants increased from $133,852 to $427,755 and inventories from $2,562,343 to $3,057,038. Current liabilities on Jan. 31, 1934, totaled $1,570,647, against $1,246,970 at the close of the preceding fiscal year. The Fair had no indebtedness to banks on Jan. 31, 1934.

"During the year many additional employés were engaged due to the shortening of weekly working periods," the statement declares. "Wages have been increased in conformity with the provisions of the national recovery act."

BANK CLEARING GAIN LARGEST SINCE EARLY 1932

New York, April 12.—(AP)—Bank clearings in the principal cities of the United States during the week ended April 11 totaled $5,719,649,000, a gain of 74.1 per cent over the $3,284,999,000 in the same week last year, according to Dun & Bradstreet. This was the largest increase since January, 1932.

Clearings in New York City totaled $4,253,594,000 against $2,278,178,000 in the corresponding week in 1933, an increase of 86.7 per cent.

Clearings were much higher at almost every city reporting, including Omaha which reported an increase of 66.1 per cent with clearings of $27,449,000 against $16,521,000, and Cleveland with $54,158,000 contrasted with $33,163,000, an increase of 63.3 per cent.

ARMOUR'S NEW FINANCE PLAN UP TOMORROW

Will Be Fair to All, Says F. H. Prince.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

New York, April 12.—A plan of reorganization for Armour & Co. will be presented at a meeting of the board in Chicago Saturday, F. H. Prince, chairman of the executive committee, said tonight. He said the details of the plan were reached at a meeting here today of company officials who, however, did not assemble at a regular board meeting.

"The plan will be fair to all shareholders," said Mr. Prince. He declined to amplify this statement, saying that that information would be forthcoming after the Chicago meeting.

It was reported that T. G. Lee, president, and Philip A. Reed, first vice president, were among the officials who conferred with Mr. Prince, although he did not disclose their names. He was asked if the plan conformed to his views and he replied that it was "very nearly complete."

May End Long Fight.

In financial circles here tonight it was said that if the proposed recapitalization plan becomes effective, it is believed that the long and bitter struggle to eliminate the top heavy financial structure of the company will be ended.

Last summer efforts were made by the management to effect a reorganization, but the move at that time was opposed by Prince as well as others and the plan failed.

Since then Prince has won a stronger position in the organization and only last January was elected chairman of the powerful finance committee.

Prior to his election to this post he effected a peaceful settlement of his differences with the management and in the proxy fight that ended in the stockholders' meeting last January had the support of A. Watson Armour, director, and T. G. Lee, president, as well as others prominent in the organization. This union won a clean cut majority on the new board of directors.

Dividend Situation a Factor.

Failure of the company to pay a dividend on the preferred shares last year despite the fact that earnings covered such a payment was responsible for much of the opposition of stockholders to the efforts to reorganize. At the last stockholders' meeting President Lee explained that a legal question was involved in the declaration of a dividend as net assets of the company were not regarded as equal to the stated capital. For that reason a revamping of the financial structure was sought.

Also there was widespread opposition to the so-called "banker dictation" of the company and to the large salaries paid certain banker members of the finance committee. These objections were overcome in the new lineup of the directorate and finance committee.

ST. LOUIS GETS NO CORN, FIRST TIME IN 40 YEARS

St. Louis, Mo., April 12.—(AP)—For the first time in at least 40 years, veteran members said, no corn was shipped into St. Louis today for sale at the merchants exchange.

Ten carloads a day is the usual average during the corn movement season from Dec. 1 to June 1.

The situation was attributed to the federal government's loans of 45 cents a bushel to farmers. At the prevailing market price the farmer is 11 cents a bushel to the good by letting the government hold the grain.

STOCK TRADERS CAUTIOUS, CUT THEIR HOLDINGS

Declines Exceed Gains by Small Margin.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 12.—Stock market airways were a little bumpy today. With President Roosevelt on his way back to Washington, the speculative community was inclined to take over some of its erstwhile misgivings on such matters as security exchange regulation, silver legislation and the like and to wonder if too much hadn't been taken for granted on the more recent outlook on these questions.

Before the President went away on his fishing trip it was recalled, he came out aggressively for a control bill with "teeth in it." In his absence, however, the congressional dental surgeons have been at work on the measure and some of the most prominent teeth have been drawn. Now the question is: What is the President going to do about the "modifications"?

Lighten Their Holdings.

Many traders who couldn't quite reassure themselves on the point took the side of caution and proceeded to lighten their stock holdings during the late hours of today's market session.

Likewise a growing fear by silver speculators that the homecoming chief magistrate of the nation might throw his weight against silver legislation now pending in the senate brought more than a dribble of selling into the shares of companies producing that white metal.

The selling was far from being of a wholesale character, however, and losses among the leaders were generally limited to a point or less. Declines exceeded advances by a small margin.

A setback in grain and other commodity prices was a further drag on speculative enthusiasm. All the so-called farm stocks finished moderately lower.

Spurt in Rubber Dies Out.

Rumors from London on a restriction agreement in the rubber industry brought a flurry of buying into rubber stocks in the forenoon, but the enthusiasm here cooled off when the market turned down in the afternoon.

Preferred stocks, particularly those of the second and third caste, were active and inclined to strengthen.

Sugar and packing issues were also mildly higher. Automobile and steel stocks continued sluggish and generally easier awaiting the outcome of the fresh labor difficulties beclouding the outlook for the motor industry.

EGGS UP THOUGH HEDGING IS HEAVY; BUTTER HIGHER

New buying developed in egg futures on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday and the close was ⅛ to ¼ cent higher. Butter gained ⅛ to ¼ cent.

While the four markets reported 14,000 cases more eggs into storage than last year, receipts were lighter.

The butter surplus was increased 322,000 pounds, the four markets reporting an inward movement, while last year the movement was outward. However, light buying developed at higher prices. Sales: Butter, 3 cars; eggs, 90 cars. Deliveries: Eggs, 8 cars. Prices:

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

New York, April 12.—A strong market for long term United States government issues, irregularly higher prices for domestic corporation issues and an irregularly lower trend in leading foreign loans characterized dealings in listed bonds today. Trading continued in increasing volume, totaling $18,447,000, about the same as in the preceding session.

United States government bonds were marked up 1-32d to 6-32ds point on the news of the general success of the treasury's conversion of the called fourth liberty loan 4¼s. The called 4¼s, which were sold only for cash today to qualify under the conversion offer before midnight, closed unchanged at 101 14-32ds.

Industrial Showing Best.

Industrial bonds showed the best average strength in the domestic corporation group today, some moving up 1 to 6 points on the day. As it was a number of railroad bonds scored gains of a point or more.

Brokers said there was no special news to influence the rise. Strike threats in the automobile field were offset by further encouraging business reports. In some quarters it was said that the principal market stimulus was the large amount of idle money seeking relatively safe employment.

Profit Selling Later.

Many of the leading gainers fell back from their top quotations on late realizing sales. At the close there were some losses but these were not particularly heavy.

In the foreign group German issues moved irregularly lower in quiet dealings. United Kingdom issues were fractionally easier and French government loans and commonwealth of Australia issues fractionally higher, the latter being actively traded. Latin American loans were dull and little changed.

Radio Corporation of America.

Investors' Guide: I would like to purchase 100 shares of Radio corporation. Will you please give me information on same?—H. S.

Answer: Radio Corporation of America is the largest unit in the radio industry. Wholly owned subsidiaries participate in virtually every field of radio—research, tube and radio manufacturing, wireless and radio communications, broadcasting, sound recording and reproducing for motion pictures, and the motion picture exhibition field [through control of Radio-Keith-Orpheum, in receivership].

The radio industry is struggling to attain a sound operating basis in the face of tremendous excess manufacturing capacity. Operating economies and a loosening of the purse strings by the general public were in large part responsible for improved showing in 1933, but this improvement was partly offset by increased expenses as a result of the national recovery act.

The four year record of earnings follows:

	Gross inc.	Net loss.	Loss per com. Share.
1933	$ 62,333,000	$ 582,000	$ .01
1932	66,169,000	1,134,000	.49
1931	100,125,000	*760,000	.34
1930	132,362,000	*5,526,000	*.02

*Net profit.

Although gross in 1933 was down 7½ per cent from 1932 net loss was cut 50 per cent. The company emerged into the black in the final quarter of 1933 with a profit from operations of $1,211,000.

The consent decree with the United States government in 1932 was a bill of divorcement from Westinghouse Electric and General Electric, which formerly controled Radio corporation. The settlement of $18,000,000 indebtedness due those two companies greatly improved current position. On Dec. 31, 1933, current assets of $25,253,000 were almost six times total current liabilities.

Funded debt aggregates $7,953,000. There are outstanding 495,597 shares of $50 par A preferred; 767,275 shares of $5 no par B preferred and 13,130,690 shares of no par common. Nothing has been paid on the A stock since April 15, 1932, or on the B stock since Oct. 1, 1931.

Research has been actively pursued. The management refuses to make any comments concerning when television will be offered to the public, but reports definite progress. Plans have been laid for transmission of private land messages. Success of the communications department is always subject to governmental interference.

GRAINS LOWER; MAY CONTRACTS ARE LIQUIDATED

Selling Gains Force with Support Lacking.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Liquidation by holders of May grain contracts developed increased momentum yesterday. Corn, oats, rye, and barley dropped around 2 cents from Wednesday's finish at the extreme, while wheat was off around 1½ cents. May corn touched 47 cents, a new low since Nov. 1, while May oats at 30⅝ cents were in new ground since Oct. 17 and within 1½ cents of the lowest figure of the season. May barley sold at 40½ cents, a new low for the season.

There was a noticeable lack of aggressive support on the way down and each dip uncovered a fresh lot of stop loss orders. Brokers said there was less buying on resting orders than for some time. May wheat, however, failed to get out of the 2⅛ cent range in which it has held since March 28.

Rallies Not Impressive.

Rallies from the lowest figures of the day were not impressive and were generally attributed to evening up on the part of the pit element. Wheat closed with net losses of 1⅛ to 1⅜ cents, corn was off 1⅜ to 1¾ cents, oats lost 1¼ to 1½ cents, rye dropped 1¼ to 1¾ cents, barley was off 1⅞ to 2⅛ cents.

There was nothing in the general run of the news to account for the selling movement, although there was some uncertainty based on the proposed commodity exchange regulation bill. There is normally a period of liquidation of May contracts during the latter part of April by speculative holders.

This season the open interest in the May grain futures was regarded as unusually large in comparison with the trade in the distant futures.

In some quarters the belief prevails that increased margin requirements necessitated by the adoption of the national grain exchange code has been a factor in helping along the decline.

May Hedges Switched.

Cash grain interests were steady buyers of the May futures in the leading grains and sold July and September, presumably changing over hedges into the distant deliveries. The bulk of the changing between May and July corn was at 2⅛ cents premium for the latter, while in oats it was ⅝ cent.

Weather and crop reports attracted no attention. Winnipeg wheat finished ⅞ to 1 cent lower with export demand limited, while Liverpool was ⅛ to ⅜ cent higher.

Purchase of 180,000 bushels of foreign rye, presumably Russian, was made by a Chicago cash grain handler Wednesday and was hedged by sales of futures that day. The grain was said to have been obtained at Rotterdam and is expected to arrive some time during May. Polish rye is understood to have been offered at equal to 40¼ cents a bushel at Albany, N. Y., to which would have to be added the duty of 15 cents a bushel.

WHEAT EXPERTS AGREE ON PLAN TO FIX PRICES

ROME, April 12.—(AP)—An agreement on a way to establish minimum export prices for wheat and thus inject new vigor into a depressed world wheat situation was reached tonight by eight experts.

They did not announce the details of their plan, but said "there is a feeling of optimism that it will be supported by the world wheat advisory commission," to whom the subcommittee will submit it tomorrow.

Previous indications have been that the 15 governments represented on the commission will be asked to refrain from dealings which might adversely affect the project, to supervise wheat products in a manner similar to that employed on wheat and grain exports, and to set flour prices on a percentage basis with reference to corresponding types of wheat.

More 1932 Tax Warants Are Called for Payment

The following Chicago tax anticipation warrants, levy of 1932, were called for payment yesterday by R. B. Upham, city controler; corporates, 43A56 to 53A96; municipal tuberculosis sanitorium, 400 to 471, and bonds and interest, F430 to 845.

SILVER FUTURES

Silver futures were on the upgrade for a while yesterday as the result of Washington reports to the effect that the passage of some legislation favorable to the metal was very probable during the current session of congress, but the upturn was mostly not maintained. Final trades were unchanged to .05c higher, with sales of 147 lots or 3,675,000 ounces. Foreign bar silver was ⅛c lower at 46⅛c. May closed at 46.55@46.60c; July, 46.91c; September, 47.26c, and December, 47.90c.

CATTLE ATTAIN NEW HIGH LEVEL; FEWER ON FEED

Some Rise 25 Cents; Hogs Rally from Decline.

Cattle prices yesterday continued their rise to new high levels, propelled by a department of agriculture report showing 12 per cent less cattle on feed for market in the eleven corn belt states than at this time last year. Members of the trade feel assured that marketings, which have been among the largest on record for months, have at last reached a peak.

The government report indicated a decrease of 170,000 head being made ready for the market. Compared with two years ago, however, there still is an increase of 82,000. The decrease was general over the entire corn belt, except in Nebraska. The movement of stockers and feeders into the feed lots from the leading markets during the first three months of 1934 was 14 per cent smaller than for the same period last year, the report stated.

Plainer Grades Rise Most.

Plainer classes of cattle, which have been lagging the last few days, got the big end of yesterday's price advance, closing 10 to 25 cents above the preceding session. No steers comparable to the kinds sold at $7.75 on Wednesday were offered, the best on sale consisting of 1,514 pound averages at $7.65, a new top for such weights.

Many of the cattle feeders on the market with steers report substantial gains over the costs of their feeders, but the biggest profits are invariably in the short-feds which were bought a few weeks ago at attractively low prices. One shipment that sold this week reveals a gain of 235 per cent over the original costs of the feeders after having been on feed for only 80 days. Butcher stock sold steady to a shade higher yesterday. Calves also shared in a small part of the gain.

Hogs Rally from Early Decline.

Better action marked the hog trade after a slow and steady to 10 cents lower opening. Late orders on local account brought on a buying wave that cleaned up practically everything.

Because of the lower start, the general average price for the day at $3.95 showed 5 cents decline compared with Wednesday, and the top sale at $4.10 was 5 cents under the highest mark on the preceding day.

Lambs, too, slipped after a steady opening and closed as much as 10 to 15 cents above the average of Wednesday. Demand centered in the freshly shorn lambs at the close and some of these sold up to $7.75, the highest point of the week. Others cashed at $7.60 to $7.70. Full wooled lambs were bought at $9.35 and $9.40. Native springers were quoted at $10 to $10.50, while top old ewes sold at $5.

LARD DECLINES ON HEDGING PLUS DROP IN HOGS, GRAIN

Lard was sold by tired holders yesterday due to the weakness in hog prices and at the close futures were 2½ cents lower.

Cash trade was moderate and prices unchanged. Regular was $5.95, and loose and leaf, $5.87½. Liverpool lard was unchanged for spot and 3d lower on futures.

Bellies trading was slow and prices were unchanged with exception of September, which advanced 2½ cents. Prices:

COTTON MARKET WEAKENS LATE IN DAY; TRADE SMALL

Trade in cotton yesterday was not large. The market weakened late and the close was around the lowest of the day. Net losses on futures at Chicago ranged up to 5 points, while other markets were off 3 to 7 points. In the spot trade there was fair business, with prices 5 points lower, New York and New Orleans being 12.10 cents and Houston and Galveston 12.05 cents. Liverpool closed 3 to 5 points lower. BRITISH EMPIRE EXPORT PACT STRIKES SNAGS

Trade Gain Is Under Expectations.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, April 12.—The British empire "honeymoon" which was begun at Ottawa two years ago is coming to an end. Already there are signs of trouble in the family and the senior member, Great Britain, is being blamed by the dominions for failing to carry out promises to buy agricultural products and raw materials from empire countries while Britain is annoyed at the trifling increase in trade in its manufactures obtained from the dominions.

Australia, Canada and New Zealand, which are the three great suppliers of agricultural goods, are preparing for a showdown when the time comes to revise the preliminary agreements next June.

Studying Next Move.

Stanley Melbourne Bruce, Australian high commissioner in London, who headed his country's delegation at Ottawa, now is in Australia consulting about what is to be done, while the New Zealand government has already asked the dominions office for a statement of what can be done to improve trade with the mother country.

Trouble has arisen over Britain's new protective policy for agriculture and its policy of reciprocal agreements with other countries for exchange of goods under quota. Vast quantities of meat, dairy products, etc., were bought from Denmark, the Baltic countries, and Argentina in exchange for British manufactured goods and the dominions believe this market belongs to them.

Their Opinions Differ.

Apparently, however, they wish to eat their cake and have it too by protecting their own manufactures while dumping their meat and butter on Britain.

In the British cabinet there is said to be a slight difference of opinion between Walter Runciman, president of the board of trade, and Maj. Walter Elliot, minister of agriculture.

Runciman would like to find some way to sell more goods to the dominions, which means taking more of their produce, while Elliot insists it is his duty to protect the British farmer.

BEFORE BORROWING
Get the Facts About
HOUSEHOLD'S
REDUCED RATE
ON $300 LOANS

On amounts below $300 down to $100 Household's charge is below the maximum rate permitted by the State Small Loan Law.

We believe we do the largest business in the Chicago area because:

1. We offer good service at reasonable cost.
2. We only make loans that are helpful to the customer.
3. We do not "high pressure" people into borrowing.
4. If wanted, we give free, authentic information on managing people's incomes.
5. If desired we give free, authentic information on buying economically.

HOW LOANS ARE MADE.

Household makes loans only to families, that is to husband and wife on their signatures. They can be repaid in monthly installments over 20 months, or sooner. Loans are made on the basis of the information furnished by husband and wife. We do not question your employer, your neighbors, your relatives, or the people with whom you do business. All of our offices are equipped so that your business can be handled in a private consultation room.

COST OF HOUSEHOLD LOANS.

Last July we reduced the cost of all loans of over $100 below the maximum permitted under the Small Loan Law. Thousands of families have since borrowed from Household at our reduced rate at a substantial saving to them.

Household invites earnest families to investigate the Household Loan Plan.

TAKE ADVANTAGE OF LOCAL'S SERVICE
It Will Satisfy You
Phone Your Request and immediately thereafter call at the office and obtain the money.

Service

Local was organized to make loans—in small or large amounts—to serve the needs of wage earners and salaried men and women. It is our aim to render this service quickly to every one who requests a loan. At all of our branches, transactions are conducted in private offices by courteous employés.

Methods

We make loans on salary, ON YOUR SIGNATURE ONLY, without endorsers. Also on FURNITURE, AUTOS, or other PERSONAL PROPERTY. All transactions are confidential. Loans granted without notice to employer, friends or relatives.

Rates

Local's rates on large furniture loans are less than the legal rate. All small loans at the regular legal rate. Charges are computed monthly on the unpaid balance.

Amounts—Terms

You can borrow any amount from $25 to $300; small loans receive the same courteous attention as larger loans. You make your own terms, 10 to 20 months, more or less. Regardless of the agreement you have the privilege to repay any day, week or month to reduce the cost.

LEGAL NOTICES.

SOUTH PARK COMMISSIONERS.
Sealed proposals will be received by the South Park Commissioners, 57th-st. and Cottage Grove-av., Chicago, Illinois, until 12 o'clock noon APRIL 25, 1934, for furnishing and delivering as required, one year's supply of concrete lamp posts, Boulevard stop and safety island posts.
Bids from only those of record in the office of the South Park Commissioners as having received specifications will be considered.
All specifications, including bidding sheets, must be identified by the stamp of the Secretary of the South Park Commissioners thereon. No bid will be considered which is not submitted on a bidding sheet received from the South Park Commissioners and identified as above described.
Bidding blanks to be used will be found in the specifications. A deposit to the amount of 5 per cent [5%] of the aggregate amount of the highest proposal named in the submitted bid, either in currency or certified check, payable to the South Park Commissioners, must accompany such proposal as a guarantee of the good faith of the bidder.
The successful bidder will be required to enter into a contract and give a surety bond for 25% of the amount of his contract.
All proposals must be placed in a sealed envelope, plainly marked "Proposal for concrete posts," and delivered to the Secretary of the South Park Commissioners, at 57th-st. and Cottage Grove-av., before the time limit stated above.
The South Park Commissioners reserve the right to accept any bid or any part of any bid and to reject any or all bids.
M. E. Connelly, Secretary.
